The Black Hole: Part IV

By John Pastore ~ Daily Bull

Day 4:
SINGULARITY THROWN OUT OF PLANET: ONLY MASSIVE COLLATERAL DAMAGE!

In a stunning turn of events, by carefully pulsing the Earth's core by dropping provable shorter lived black holes under much greater control, the great Earth-destroying singularity has been thrown clear out of the planet at relativistic velocities. Says one astronomer "Yeah, it's out there. Shrinking all the time, should be gone by late May. We can check the sky for distortions and track it's location by the way light bends, but gosh, it's already pretty far out there. Yeah, I'd say were safe."

The student who previously damned the planet to a horrific sucking doom was the one to successfully implement the world saving plan, and as such has received a full pardon from all governments

MidgetFest to be Held at MTU

By Mark Cruth ~ Daily Bull

The Association of Midget Games (AMG) announced Wednesday that the 3rd annual MidgetFest would be held at the camps of Michigan Technological University in June 4-8 of 2007. MidgetFest, created after it was suggested on the Man Show by Jimmy Kimmel in 2003, has been great success the last two years and it is hoped that the 2007 event will be the best yet.

AMG, created by the midgets who played in such movies as The Wizard of Oz and Willow, was originally called Association of Midget Advocates (ADA) and supported equal rights for all little people. In 2000, ADA realized that there was an untapped market with the potential millions of dollars to be made. This market was midget tossing. Even though ADA condons anything that degrades the "little" people, they were greedy little bastards and decided to adopt the idea of midget tossing for the money. Upon adopting the idea that it is okay to toss midgets for money, one of the key members of ADA, John Small, proposed that ADA shift their focus to only midget tossing. Members agreed with Mr. Small's idea and decided to change the organizations name to the Association of Midget Games. Upon this decision the 1st annual MidgetFest was organized.

To give you an idea of what MidgetFest entails, here is tentative schedule of events for this years event:

Monday: Midget Javelin Toss

During the midget javelin toss, midgets are tied to a loon stick and then thrown into the air by contestants. The person to throw their midget the longest and get their stick to plant in the ground will win the contest.

Tuesday: Midget Bowling

This is one of the favorites of the festival. During midget bowling, 30 pins are set up at the end of a 50 ft. lane. Each contestant can chose the midget of their choice and will then throw that midget down the lane to knock down as many pins as possible. There will be a total of 10 frames played and each contest is allowed up to 2 different midgets to bowl with.

Wednesday – Thursday: Contestant's Choice

Contestant's choice is a new part of the events this year. What this event entails is allowing contestants to come up with their own, unique midget tossing event. Participants will be allowed one midget to test their ideas out with. All ideas will need to be approved by the Midget

Friday: Midget Fighting

Though this not a tossing activity, midget fighting has been a very popular event at MidgetFest. In this event midgets will be street fighting with each other until one gives up or is incapacitated. Onlookers can place bets on which midget they hope will win each round. A total of 12 matches will be played, with one midget fighting king crowned in the end.

The AMG hopes to see everyone at the Michigan Tech Student Development Center on Monday, June 4th at which the games will begin. This event is hoped to bring thousands of people to the MTU campus. This event is being sponsored in part by the MTU student activity fee.

Note: No midgets were harmed in the making of this article.

...Black Hole from front of the world, except for Belgium. A house in Belgium was obliterated when the singularity exited the ground, so while it's government has granted pardon for not destroying the world, it is still demanding repayment for loss of a historic building. "A great composer grew up there, and now it's lost forever. Someone should pay for that, ya know?" Campus officials have declined comment on the matter.

Due to the speed with which the world saving plan was implemented, the populace was able to readjust to life under only the usual specters of doom, including but not limited to nuclear holocaust, genocidal holocaust, biotic holocaust, and nano-robot holocaust. Says one formerly concerned citizen, "I'm just pleased, that's all."

However, this was not enough to save the President of the United States, as millions of angry youth descended upon his Crawford Texas ranch, and enacted a queer ultraviolet sort of vigilante justice upon his whole administration. A reporter from the Hague has relayed that the general opinion is one of great ironic relief, as they themselves had no idea how to go about trying and punishing those "international war criminal sum'bitches."

Most economic systems have returned to a level of stability, as have the political situation, though with a renewed sense of both prosperity and proportion. Says one industrialist, "Well, you know, pollution is great and all, but I guess I really do want to live here some fifty years from now. I mean, we just can't keep expecting our children to be able to take care of themselves without a decent role model now, can we?"

Some christoid groups, seeing a cheap and easy way of bringing about the end times have reportedly been trying to make their own singularity generator, and as such have been branded as terroristic criminals. "The first guy was just an idiot, leaving his machines off. These dorks are downright hostile. Hopefully a heaping dose of science will turn most of them, but frankly, this quantum-gravity stuff is so unreal that it could be twisted into any fatalistic world view."

The "Community Copulation Commission", however, has already received enough donations and go-ahead from public health agencies that they plan on opening a local branch in Houghton next week. Says ones homely student, "Yessssssssss. " ☹

ASSMTU

By Mark Cruth ~ Daily Bull

As most students on the Michigan Tech campus know, a little thing call ASSMTU has been floating around. For the last few years now USG has been trying to put together a plan to make the student government more than just budget hearings each year, which to me seems like the only thing they do. People will probably tell me that I am not educated enough on the matter to make a decision on whether or not ASSMTU is a good thing, but from what I know it pretty much sucks. I thought I would justify my opinion with a couple of points I think are relevant to the matter.

"Associated Students of..."

Everyone who has heard of ASSMTU should know that it stands for Associated Student's of MTU. Over break I was watching the news and found out that there is an ASSMSU for Michigan State University. After noticing this I went looking around on the internet and noticed that they are quite a few schools using the "Associated Student's of..." in their name. I would have thought that in a school like ours we could figure out a unique way to restructure their student government, but I guess I missed that one. From what I see conformity MUST be the key to successfully restructuring our student government.

Size DOES Matter

I guess in a big school, kind of like MSU with their + 25,000 undergrad students, ASSMTU could work out. When you take Michigan Tech on the other hand with our ± 5,000 undergrad students there might be a little itty-bitty difference I would think. For the ASSMTU setup more students are going to need get involved with the student government to make it run the way it's suppose too. Student's go to MTU to become engineers and scientists (or something like that), not run a full-out government. Sure there is that handful that thinks they have what it takes, put most of us just want to work out our Baja racer or build a canoe out of cement. MTU just does not have the number of students needed to successfully pull off ASSMTU. Another fact is that each group will have to have representatives go to meetings, and more meetings, and more meetings, and more meetings... shall I go on. Honestly, I like just having the two meetings a year for budget hearings. I have enough going on right now to have to worry about more and more meetings.

Why fix it if it isn't broken?

A lot of people would probably disagree with me on the fact that I think there is nothing wrong with our student government. If there is anything wrong it is because the students of MTU do not go out and vote on individuals they want to see take office or even run themselves for office. USG may think they could come up with a more efficient way to do the budgeting by instating ASSMTU, but look at how much trouble the state of Michigan has in balancing their budget. There is not necessarily an easy way out of everything. I really think that if we want change in our government we should try and change things from the inside by electing new officers and working the kinks out from there, not scrapping what we have for something new and shiny that really has no use at all (like the plasma TV's in Fisher 138... zinnnnngggggg!)

Well that's my rant. I figured I needed to do it because there are a lot of people out there that don't know anything about ASSMTU. If you go and check out their website that is good, but just remember there is probably a bit of bias there towards their stand so don't just jump on their band wagon. Make sure you research the subject before you make a decision. I already voted and my vote was NO! ASSMTU will be much more trouble than it will ever be worth.

To vote on whether you think ASSMTU should become our new "Government", please go to: usg.students.mtu.edu ☹
