

DAILY TIM

The Daily Bull is probably not suitable for those under age 18 and should not be taken seriously... like happy cows from California!

Wednesday, April 9, 2008

"5-3 and 2-4 are the same diff... wait...I mean, the ABSOLUTE VALUE of 2-4 are the same difference."

~Ryan Wilkerson

Ask That Business Major Guy

By Tim Kotula ~ Daily Bull

Welcome to the first (and possibly last) installment of "Ask That Business Major Guy", an advice column based on the collected wisdom of yours truly.

This week, I received an e-mail from an anonymous student who identified him/herself as a 3rd year BA-Accounting major. He or she writes...

Exactly why is it that everyone here thinks business majors are so dumb?

*Sincerely,
Anonymous*

You go to Tech. Next question...

Oh, you wanted the full answer? Well, OK. As I'm sure
...see SERIOUS BIZNESS on back

Harry Potter: A Giant Conspiracy

By Tim Kotula ~ Daily Bull

So you thought this cute series of children's novels was merely another cliché, innocent-looking work of fantasy? Think again.

"But little Timmy loves reading Harry Potter!" you exclaim. "Surely anything that encourages him to read something other than the Halo 3 Cheats Guide must be a good thing."

While it may be true that anything that steers little Timmy away from the foul pits of Halo addiction seems like a gift from the invisible man in my sock drawer, we must consider a few things:

1. Your child isn't named Timmy, is he?
2. You're a naïve, 19 year-old unwed mother, aren't you?
3. I thought so.

Now that we've cleared that up, let us consider why Harry Potter is actually a dangerous, subversive work of – you guessed it – white supremacist indoctrination. Indeed, wizards brazenly bill themselves as the superior race throughout the entire course of the story.

Ever notice how the wizards within the Harry Potter storyline are all contained within a small world of self-importance, saving the earth from "evil" as if they are the only ones capable of doing so? I mean, seriously. The novels even refer to non-magical people as "Muggles", which clearly teaches readers that the use of racial slurs is perfectly acceptable.

There's also the issue of Voldemort running around proclaiming that all wizards must be 'purebloods'. So again, this notion of a superior race pops up constantly throughout the novels. As much as I admire a guy capable of murdering his way the top, ol' Voldy (and by extension, Rowling) was definitely wrong on this one. To me, it seems that it would only promote inbreeding, and last time I checked, that's a pretty bad idea; just ask the British royal family.

What's more, it turns out that J.K. Rowling's father's best friend's aunt's old college roommate's sister's fiance attended a meeting of the Klan during what he claims was "a difficult, confusing time in my young life." AH-HA! If this evidence doesn't clearly link Ms.

...see It's so Magically title on back

I survived the Rock Wars of 2050. Beat that.

The Steaming Pile

Straight from you-know-where!

Reasons I'm Staying in Houghton For a Third Summer

It's not Detroit

Working on my monitor tan

Beautiful beaches and hot women (Hal!)

I love laughing at stupid tourists

To work on dat dem der Yooper accent, eh?

The voices told me to

Lost a bet with Satan

Cheap bars

Developing my plan to crack the Lode's safe

To go shaft hunting

Constructing a secretive religious compound

Punishment from the Chicago mafia don

I'm an undercover agent (oops)

Field testing new bug sprays for OFF™

Working for Colbert's campaign

Vibrant setting to develop Bull article topics

Filming "Blair Witch 3"

Growing "special hay" on the Back 40

To stalk that special someone <3

Because I'm an idiot

STUDIO PIZZA
even better than your mama's pizza
482-5100
100% STUDENT DISCOUNT!
But you gotta ask for it & show us your M.I.T.I.L. as you pay, because we won't reward those who order pizza and pay extra for specials or with coupon. Oh wait, and no discounts if you do off

...It's so Magical! from front

Rowling with the white supremacist movement, I don't know what does.

Perhaps even more astounding is the author's shocking use of double-entendres throughout the series, in an attempt to instill lust in the hearts of our young children. A quick Google search revealed that someone had apparently done my detective work for me. Let us take the word wand. By simply replacing the 'd' with a 'g' to transform it into the word wang, we can create dialogues at various points throughout the storyline certain to raise eyebrows:

"Yes, yes. I thought I'd be seeing you soon. Harry Potter." It wasn't a question. "You have your mother's eyes. It seems only yesterday she was in here herself, buying her first wang. Ten and a quarter inches long, swishy, made of willow. Nice wang for charm work."

Daily Bull

EDITOR IN CHIEF
Tim Kotula

Propaganda Minister
Nathan "Invincible" Miller

ADVERTISING MANAGER
Mark Cruth

FACULTY ADVISOR
David Olson

GOD
Dave Barry

BUSINESS MANAGER
Alyse Heikkinen

Mark Cruth, Sarah Cruth, John Ernest, Alyse Heikkinen, Mary Kennedy, David Clemens, Tim Kotula, Elizabeth Masters, Nathan Miller, Simon Mused, Nick Nelson, Scott Nelson, John Pastore, Katherine Sheets, Heather Vingsness, and the employees of Jack's Wife-Grabbing Service.

©2008 by the Daily Bull, a non-profit organization. All rights reserved. Articles may be freely distributed electronically or on late night talk shows provided that credit is given to the source. The Daily Bull reserves the right to refuse any advertisement or guest article without reason. All opinionated letters sent to the editor (on paper or to bull@mtu.edu) will be treated as material to be published unless expressly stated otherwise by the sender. Original works printed in the Daily Bull remain the property of the creator, however the Daily Bull reserves the right to reprint any submissions in future issues unless specifically asked not to do so by the creator. If you keep reading this small text, you'll find fucking mousetraps on your feet..

The Daily Bull would like to thank the Daily Bull for buying our own damn printer that this publication is printed on. We would also like to thank the Student Activity Fee for helping to pay for our paper and toner costs.

Advertising inquiries should be directed to bullads@mtu.edu.

Questions, comments & concerns should be directed to bull@mtu.edu.

'Charm work,' huh? To think that J.K. K.K. Rowling thought she could put the wool right over our eyes!! But there's more:

The troll couldn't feel Harry hanging there, but even a troll will notice if you stick a long bit of wood up its nose, and Harry's wang had still been in his hand when he'd jumped - it had gone straight up one of the troll's nostrils.

What's this?! Bestiality?!?! Indeed, Ms. Rowling is a very, very dirty woman playing an incredibly sick joke on us all.

So the next time you see a child pick up a Harry Potter book, I advise you to snatch it from their hands, salt it thoroughly, and burn it at once. Oops, gotta run – my 11 year-old cousin's birthday party starts in an hour. I can't wait to see the look on her face when she opens the copy of Grand Theft Auto III she wanted for her Xbox 360. ☺

... SERIOUS BIZNESS from front

you know, this campus is loaded with snotty, pimply engineers. Now, because a handful of them are capable of doing volumes of useless, purely theoretical mathematics, they seem to think that makes them superior to everyone else. The fact of the matter is, business majors control a company's pocketbook and make the major decisions – he or she who controls the flow of money is the person truly in command.

So be proud that you are a business major! In reality, engineers are just jealous of the fact that we have a surprisingly large number of actual women in our department, whereas the closest most of them will ever come to 'making it' involves simulations with robots or blow-up dolls, if you get my drift.

Another faithful reader from the Forestry department asks...

Being a business major, perhaps you'd be able to define what a company means when they tell you to dress 'business casual'?

*Sincerely,
Tree-Hugger*

Well Tree-Hugger, as I'm sure you and most other people are aware, the definition of 'business casual' attire is pretty loose. In all honesty, it depends on your chosen occupation. So for forestry majors, fig leaf designs which reveal nothing more than 6" above the kneecap are likely acceptable as standard office attire – the only mud that should be visible must be on your hands and feet, and you must wear your standard-issue Forestry Major Hemp Sandals™. As my present occupation is that of a geeky humor columnist, my business casual wardrobe consists primarily of a few Weird Al t-shirts, a number of hoodies featuring witty slogans from Oscar Wilde, and jeans with a couple of tasteful shreds plus a small dab of cafeteria tomato sauce on the left thigh. Naturally, shoes and socks are optional.

Have a question for That Business Major Guy? You'll have to buy something first. ☺

Join the Bull or our amalgamation of mini-bulls will devour you. Every Wednesday, Walker, 9pm. Be there.

CHILDHOOD

Not every memory is a happy one