

DAILY BULL

The Daily Bull is probably not suitable for those under age 18 and should not be taken seriously... like the sun!

Thursday, February 21, 2008

"It is a very sad thing that nowadays there is so little useless information."

~Oscar Wilde

How To: Not Suck at Life

By David Klemens ~ Daily Bull

Too many people go about their normal everyday life not knowing the truth: they suck at life. Yes, Mr. I-Wear-My-Baseball-Hat-Backwards and Ms. I-Talk-on-the-Cellphone-in Public-for-20-Minutes-Straight, Mr. I-Want-to-Be-Black and Ms. Mattress. You all suck at life. In the hopes of making society a better place I offer you these tips.

Guys

- Don't hit on anything that moves. If you do, you won't get any.

- Being able to chug 5 beers in under a minute doesn't make you cool; it just makes you a belligerent drunk.

- If you're white, don't act black. You're white...and a loser.

- Don't wear your pants half off your ass. It's just stupid;

...see How To on back

Propaganda Bowl XLII

By Nathan "Invincible" Miller ~ Daily Bull

Minutes after extricating myself from something very seductive and comfortable (my couch), I finally realized what just happened: the Giants just beat the Patriots 17-14 in a stunning finale. While the outcome wasn't especially surprising, the same cannot be said for the commercials.

Here's my analysis of Super Bowl 42's not-so-perfect propaganda, which was the real reason I wasted all my time that Sunday evening.

Music: This year had some great music, from Haddaway's "What is Love" to Frankie Valli singing "Can't Take My Eyes Off You." In particular, Sobe's lizards dancing to "Thriller" and the Budweiser Clydesdale training to "Gonna Fly Now" shone brighter than the rest. Although it would've been great if the Clydesdale run up the steps of the Philly Art Museum like Rocky did. I give these commercials a solid A.

Sex Appeal: Hardly a turnout whatsoever. Victoria's Secret tried to pull something off towards the end of the game, but it failed worse than their usual commercials do. Even GoDaddy.com was a rip off, making me go to their site to watch their banned ad (which I did, but it wasn't that great). D for showing up.

Celebrities: It's always pleasing to see celebrities in ads, because for once they are in positions that the everyman can understand. Seeing Justin Timberlake smash his crotch on a mailbox made me feel happy inside, as did Richard Simmons almost getting run over by a truck. But possibly the greatest celebrity trick of all was enjoying ridiculous XXXL size Shaq ride a horse. AB this year.

Violence: There was very little violence this year, aside from the occasional Fedex pigeon destroying the city or a giant Doritos craving mouse beat some dude up. The potential for violence (in things about to be run over) does not outweigh real violence. C for lack of formulaic violence, my favorite kind.

Woodland Creatures: As usual, there were a dozen ads with animals in them, enticing young children to buy goods like Bud Light, Bridgestone Tires, Toyota Camrys or to log on to Salesgenie.com and get sales quotes. I for one did not fall for these, though I would rather have Doritos chips over the alternative (no Doritos chips). BC for some laughs,

...see Propaganda on back

The Steaming Pile

Straight from you-know-where!

What's in my pocket?

My hand	A barrel of oil
A blue ball	Google stock
A wet weasel	Cucumber
DIY colonoscopy kit	Another pair of pants
Mousetrap keyring	Condoms
Ray gun	A veto
Instructions for "The Game" (I lost)	Game Boy with Barbie "Mystery Adventure" cartridge
Your hand	Snow
72 Virginians	Entire cast of Evita
Barack Obama	Bibles (for throwing)
A bug-free copy of Vista (HA! j/k)	A gerbil
Funds from the stimulus package	...wait, I don't have pockets!

America's Favorite Pizza

(906) 482 - 0978

Student Deal

$2 off any Large Pizza

$1 off any Medium Pizza

Sunday - Thursday
11:00AM - 10:30 PM
Friday - Saturday
11:00AM - 11:00PM

Claymation Satan brings life to all around him.

...Propaganda from front but not jolly ones.

Lameness: There were a lot of lame commercials this year, which brought down scores greatly. Not to name anything specific but Hyundai, Gatorade, NASCAR, Salesgenie.com, Ab-Lounge, and every single local company who advertised all wasted their money and took away from my experience of the game. Thanks a lot, you get an F.

Cars: There were bunches of commercials featuring cars, though none were as good as the second good commercial of the game. How would you like to wake up with a car head in your bed? Rousing laughter! The rest of the car commercials were only good if someone was about to be run over, which I already explained is not funny unless there is some sort of smashing. BC.

Humor: For some strange reason, all

Daily Bull

EDITOR IN CHIEF Tim Kotula	COMPOSITION EDITOR Nick Nelson	ADVERTISING MANAGER Mark Cruth
FACULTY ADVISOR David Olson	MAKES A MOON SOUND The Moon	BUSINESS MANAGER Alyse Heikkinen

Mark Cruth, Sarah Cruth, John Earnest, Alyse Heikkinen, Mary Kennedy, David Klemens, Tim Kotula, Elizabeth Masters, Nathan Miller, Simon Mused, Nick Nelson, Scott Nelson, John Pastore, Katherine Sheets, Heather Vingsness, and bees.

©2008 by the Daily Bull, a non-profit organization. All rights reserved. Articles may be freely distributed electronically or on late night talk shows provided credit is given, and that this notice is included. The Daily Bull reserves the right to refuse any advertisements or guest articles without reason. All opinionated letters sent to the editor (on paper or to bull@mtu.edu) will be treated as material to be published unless expressly stated otherwise by the sender. Original works printed in the Daily Bull remain the property of the creator, however the Daily Bull reserves the right to reprint any submissions in future issues unless specifically asked not to do so by the creator. If you keep reading this small text, you'll catch rabies.

The Daily Bull would like to thank the Daily Bull for buying our own damn printer that this publication is printed on. We would also like to thank the Student Activity Fee for helping to pay for our paper and toner costs.

Advertising inquiries should be directed to bullads@mtu.edu.

Questions, comments & concerns should be directed to bull@mtu.edu.

the best commercials are the really hilarious ones. Funny how that works. And what a coincidence, the majority of the best commercials are beer commercials. Beer. Are you seeing what I'm seeing? You should go buy more beer. Even if you probably ingested more than your fair share over Winter Carnival. A for effort.

Employing the use of illogical averages that had nothing to do with my final verdict, I would give this year's batch of Stupor Bowl commercials a paltry BC. Maybe next year things will pick back up again. One where watching commercials is as satisfying as watching the game. 🐝

...How To from front

- buy a belt.
- Don't listen to emo and wear girl pants. Also needless to say don't wear eyeliner and paint your nails black. If you want to be emo, here's a razor blade.
- Don't have your parents pay for everything. Rich boy, you only have friends because you have money.

-Don't play DDR. We all know the only people that are actually good at DDR are Asians, so unless you have an Asian heritage save yourself the embarrassment and jump off a bridge instead.

Girls

- Don't talk on your cellphone in public. It is just rude to everyone around you. No one wants to hear you talk about what you're going to do later, what you are wearing, blah, blah, blah.

- Don't dress like a slut. If you do guys will just want to bang you then joke about how bad you were behind your back.

- Don't be a ditz. Ditzes are just annoying. Slap yourself and shut up when you want to say something.

- If you are here for your M.R.S. degree, drop out and go work at McDonalds. If you expect your husband to pay for everything you want you need to get back to reality.

- Don't assume people are going to do things for you because you're a girl. If you don't do what you're supposed to someone isn't going to do it for you.

General

- Don't make obscure references that only you and your friends recognize.
- Don't think that you're better than everyone else. You aren't, in fact you're lower than everyone because you think so much about yourself and you're the only one.

- Don't waste your money on every little thing you see. Next time you do smack your head against a table and repeat, "Don't buy stupid shit."

- Don't be an ass. No one likes assholes. People are only around you because you think they are your friends.

- Don't do stupid stuff: Jumping off a roof, doing "The Milk Challenge", crushing stuff with your head. It doesn't make you cool; it makes you a dumbass. 🐝

Confessions of a Part-Time Feminist

By Kyle Thornton ~ Guest Writer

Dear "Mary,"

Your guidance at the beginning of the year on an issue now close to my heart has motivated me to speak out in support of my sisters in the human kind.

Over Winter Carnival, there were shirts sold by SWE that said in playful lettering, "I (heart symbol) boobs". Well, gosh darn it, I found this to be very offensive. As you may recall when the nasty, obviously sexist Sitcom Club put up flyers that read "Sex Boobs, now that we have your attention watch Colledge at colledge-sitcom.com" Affirmative Action and Student Affairs, led by the wise Rob Bishop, were quick to alert the Sitcom Club as to how insensitive they were.

Well now the small woman I found inside myself screams out with indignation. I don't know what SWE stands for (probably Single White Engineers), but these SWE 'ers need to understand how sexist they are being. Their dangerous words could lead to people loving boobs all over campus. Just as the sitcom's flyers could have lead to people thinking about how much they love sex and boobs and associated that positive feeling with the show.

I can only hope that your worthwhile department will correct SWE in the same manner of understanding that you did with the sitcom.

Sincerely,
Kyle Thornton

PS – If you don't do anything about this, such as say apologizing to the Sitcom Club, then that would make you a sexist. In this overly politically correct society that's a bad thing.

PPS – We have a new episode up, and we love boobies. 🐝

Space Ghost and friends support the movement for more pizza. Wednesdays, 9:15 PM, Walker 109 (or whatever's unlocked)