The Daily Bull is probably not suitable for those under age 18 and should not be taken seriously... like Global warming in the U.P.!

Nalgenes of DEATH!

By The Propaganda Minister
~ Daily Bull ~

Just before the close of the Spring 2008 semester here at Tech, it was revealed to the country that everybody's favorite water bottle, the invincible Nalgene, gives off hazardous chemicals that apparently cause cancer. Not all of them, just the lexan ones that are the only ones people use. Because of this, Nalgene is going to start phasing out the good kind and likely replace it with a sub-par version. To this, I have one thing to say:

What. The. Hell.

Seriously, who's in charge of making Nalgenes around here, the Nalgene Company or the state of California, where everything from breast milk to stinky shoes is outlawed? I'd like to think companies can make whatever they want, no matter

The Daily Bull: A Brief Intro

By Nathan "Invincible" Miller ~ Daily Bull

The Daily Bull is a group of people who write (or draw) funny stuff and print it on this here single sheet of paper which we distribute all over campus for the entertainment of our fellow students who greatly appreciate our help in keeping them awake during their classes the end.

Now, for the extended version. If you do not have the attention span to read through the rest of this or the other article printed here, proceed to enjoy the pictures I have provided for your pleasure. Hopefully it won't come to that, and you will continue to enjoy the rest of this fine entertainment, and even be wooed into joining yourself.

Basically the Daily Bull started out sometime in pre-history when wearing corsets and wooden shoes were still popular. At least this is what we are forced to believe, because there is no history of the Daily Bull. Sure, the Lode will claim that they have been around for so and so long, but we can claim whatever we want. Because, for all intents and purposes, our history books were all burned by the retreating Nazis during WWII. We'll never know.

Ever since our turbulent beginning, we have been trying to entertain you, the masses, through your horribly dull days of learning and drudgery. Often times we succeeded. I have found fossils of the Daily Bull dating all the way back to the 90s (a long time ago, I know), which I read and was thrown into fits of laughter. This led me to believe we were always really cool, and possibly even cooler than we are now. I mean, they even told you the weather.

While we may not tell you the weather, actual news, relevant information, or anything even remotely important, we Whew, what a scorcher! 90 degrees?

Outrageous, and still no bikinis! (On Campus).

Note: This is not blatant advertising for the Bull. We would never ever do that. This is blatant advertising for Nathan Invincible. Sorry for the confusion.

10% STUDENT DISCOUNT!
But you gotta ask for it & show us your Tech ID as you pay, because we won't remember.
Discount only on pizza and no extra discount on specials or with coupon.
Oh yeah, no discounts if you piss us off!

...Now You Know from front will try our best to do as good of a job as we can muster making you break out laughing in your classes. It doesn't happen that often, but when it does, everyone feels like a winner.

Now, who writes for the Bull? you may be wondering. Well, there's the trouble. Really the only person who writes regularly for the Bull anymore is me, Nathan Invincible Miller. In fact, I wrote this article just yesterday morning when I was putting all the Bull together! Ha! You may call it procrastination, but I prefer to call it "desperation."

Desperate for more writers to help the cause, that is. You see, anyone and everyone can write for the Daily Bull, regardless of your race, color, creed, or writing ability. Anything you want, just so long as it's entertaining or funny. Both is even better. So that means you, Mr. I'm-a-Civil-Engineer-and-I-Have-No-Writing-Skills-But-Am-

Still-A-Funny-Guy guy. Or even you, Ms. I-Have-A-Political-Opinion-And-Want-To-Convert-The-World girl. You are all welcome to join.

How do you join? Come to the meetings, which happen to be tonight, in Walker (the big building with those round corners across from Wads), somewhere on the first floor at 9:15 PM. We'll have somebody by the door to direct you to where you need to go. Cause we're cool like that.

And, as a bonus, even if you don't sign up for an article or have anything you want to print, you can still come hang out. We're a really good Wednesday night pick-me-upper, what with all our funny jokes, hilarious banter, and free pizza. That's right, FREE. And it's delicious, too.

So come on down. I promise there will be no anthrax scares this time. ☺

...Cancer! from front

how dangerous or unhealthy. So, if Nalgene is going to bow under the pressure of one rotten scientific study, I'm going to conduct some science of my own, Nathan Invincible style.

Bleach. Every time you put bleach in with your clothes, you are running the risk of killing yourself. Haven't you ever stopped to think that by putting bleach on your clothes, it's like putting bleach on yourself? And kid you not, bleach hurts.

Air. Air is probably the number one killer in the history of the world. Everyone who has breathed has died of cancer, heart disease, AIDS, Spanish Inquisitions, or cannibalism. Those few who have tried to not breathe to avoid these fates have also died.

Therefore, air is just as bad as Nalgenes.

Work. Working causes stress, and stress makes bad things happen to the body, like depression and the desire to shoot your coworkers. This shaves years off your life. Maybe we should all quit working to save our health for when we're all happily on welfare.

Lunchmeat. Salami, bologna, mequite smoked turkey, you name it, it's deadly. Just ask anyone who has choked on a sandwich – oh wait, you can't. They're dead. Supermarket deli clerks ought to be put behind bars for spreading such dangerous food around.

Airplanes. Thousands of people have used the same airplane you just rode in. Chances are they're all going to die at some point. Unfortunately for you, death is contagious and now you're going to die too. Sorry for the late warning.

Computers. Not only do they make you fat and more prone to catching cancer from a Nalgene, they give off a million billion harmful waves that will bake your brain before you can say, "OMG I <3 lolkitteh =3."

The Sun. Before you were even conscious, the sun gave you cancer. Probably every kind, too. You can blame your parents for bringing you out into the harsh UV rays when you were still a baby. Now you'll die a premature death.

Food, fire breathers, sidewalks, skyscrapers, albatrosses, German sports cars, Venetian gondoliers, hamsters, Mt. Everest, Vladamir Putin, clock radios, mirrors, air conditioners, the late Douglas Adams, Alpha Centauri, that lady from the supermarket, car keys, Texas, Nazi Germany, and the pillow you sleep on at night. All of these will give you cancer.

Last but not least, the bacteria infesting your Nalgene will also give you cancer, and there's absolutely nothing you can do about those unless you drink anti-bacterial soap. So toughen up, you weaking! If you can't stand having a little bit of chemicals leaching into your body, I suggest you quit at life and go live in the center of the Earth. At least you won't find any Nalgenes there – they melt at much lower temperatures, so you're safe.

We're not actually sure who our staffers are. Currently, the only people I (Nathan Invincible) can remember who are positively going to write for us or show up regularly to the meetings are myself, Tim Kotula, John Earnest, and Simon Mused, all of which are stunning chaps for the most part but on the whole, total slackers. It you want to be a slacker too, you should come to the meetings and get your free laughs. Pizza is included if we sell enough ads.
