

DAILY BULL

The Daily Bull is probably not suitable for those under age 18 and should not be taken seriously... like fixing the world economy by vote!

Wednesday, October 1, 2008

"Sometimes the appropriate response to reality is to go insane."

~Phillip K. Dick

Your Childhood Dreams Destroyed

By Alex Vasquez ~Guest Writer

Destroying people's childhood perceptions of the world is a real hobby of mine. Like reminding you that storks don't have the strength to carry babies and your parents had rough dirty sex in order to create you! But ruining your favorite bits of pop culture from when we were kids with my disturbed adult eyes puts a real smile on my face. Here are some examples of things you may not have noticed, but those smirking execs at children's entertainment knew.

Scooby Doo – Like, wow, Scooby! I'm really hungry. We all loved Scooby Doo when we were growing up, but you know it was a product from the '60s and '70s when a hippie is eating LSD-laced cookies called, "Scooby Snacks", and talking to his dog. What's worse is that the entire

...see SUPER LONG on back

Project 10¹⁰⁰

By DeForrest Warren ~ Daily Bull

Google is trying to make a difference in the world once again. Instead of furthering its complete and crushing hold on the world, it is asking everyday average (and not so average) people for ideas on how to help as many people in the world as possible.

Long time, widely-known Evil Scientist Dr. Patrick Bulnna submitted what appeared to be a very controversial plan on how to help the world. Dr. Bulnna's plan is what is known as the, "Total World Domination" plan. In this plan, he describes the design and creation of a very large mind control device. This device, once activated, would take control of all humans and subsequent babies for the rest of time. It would also only require a one-time activation. This being in case pesky people who somehow manage to not be mind controlled could come and destroy the device, freeing the world.

At first glance of this plan, Google almost immediately decided to trash it and send a warning to the FBI. However, Dr. Bulnna personally showed up at Google headquarters to sell his idea.

Dr. Bulnna explained that with him personally having control of the entire human race, there would be a significant decrease in deaths. There would be no more deaths due to terrorism, religion, or random killings. Aside from the people he really hated and was going to personally kill (mainly his arc-nemesis Mr. Fancy Pants), or when he was really bored and wanted a death cage match, no one would die. He said he would personally make sure to stop world hunger, global warming, and all those other important things that get in the way of running an entire planet. He even went as far to say he would start work on terraforming and colonization of other planets, effectively saving the entire human race when the sun explodes.

Google's whole project was based on, "Looking for ideas that help as many people as possible, in any way, and committing the funding to launch them." The Evil Scientist Dr. Bulnna's plan does just this.

Google's CEO, Eric Schmidt, was quoted saying, "Well he [Dr. Bulnna] does have us there. With his device millions of lives would be saved, no one would kill each other or starve...I mean...don't quote me on this, but this is exactly the kind of thing [taking over the world] we were trying to do on our own,"

...see Google Flex on back

Might this beautiful weather be the start of winter? We can sure hope so. Bring on the snow!

Nathan Wonders: Hats

Brought to you by Nathan "Invincible" Miller

As you now know, I worked at Dominos Pizza over the summer, which was a relatively easy indoors job (I wasn't a driver). Like many other professions, I had to wear a uniform consisting of nice pants, a belt that I typically forgot, my dominos shirt and smock, and, what's this? A hat.

Why wear a hat indoors? It's not like the glare from the fluorescent lights is going to blind my eyes, preventing me from building pizzas and taking phone calls. Nor do I need to keep my head warm, since they never had the A/C less than 72 or so (drats). To me, this seemed like a silly trifle, causing me to often try and wear my hat backwards, upside down, inside out, or with pom-poms attached for Christmas in July. This also often got me in trouble.

At least I didn't work at Chili's...

Hat's indoors. Seriously, what'll they think of next? Mandatory plumber's thongs? Standardized tollbooth operator uniforms? Specially made nightshades for night shift security guards? Designed by NASA lapel pins for orbiting astronauts!? I can only imagine the horrors we'll have to endure as workplace dress code advances even further into craziness.

STUDIO

PIZZA

even better than your mama's pizza

482-5100

10% STUDENT DISCOUNT!
But you gotta ask for it & show us your Tech ID as you pay, because we won't remember.
Discount only on pizza and no extra discount on specials or with coupon.
Oh yeah, no discounts if you piss us off!

...Google Flex from front

Deciding that Dr. Bulnna's plan was the only way to go, Google has decided to ignore the online voting and give the complete ten million dollars to start his plan immediately. The project should be completed on January 17th, 2010, so enjoy your freedom til then. ☹

...SUPER LONG from front

"gang" is trippin' balls too, 'cause they also can hear Scooby talk. Plus you know Fred and Daphne went off together to have sex; they'd split up so Fred could get some. Velma was the odd-ball; she didn't partake in the LSD, and whenever she was with Fred and Daphne she always wanted to join in. Fred didn't want to touch Velma with a 15 foot pole. That's why he'd say, "Dammit Velma, I said no! Now go and find some damn clues! Alright Daph, now put your leg right here and..."

Teletubbies – We all know that one of the Teletubbies was gay, and if you didn't, here's a news update... one of the Teletubbies was gay! What you may not know, is that the producers of the show decided to capitalize on their success – enter Teletubbies pudding. The pudding was laced however, with acid. Not a lethal dose, I mean who wants a kid to O.D. because of pudding. However, the pudding contained just enough acid that when the kids watched the show, they could actually experience it. That's why many adults watched it.

Tickle-Me-Elmo – God, what the hell were these toymakers thinking? This is just practice for a child rapist. That's all I can say for this one.

Furbies – All you need to know is that these furballs were retarded (or 'lacking the quickness of mind', if you want to be politically correct) mogwais. If you've never seen gremlins, then you might not know what a Mogwai is. Essentially it's a Furby, but way cooler, because if you feed a mogwai after midnight it multiplies, and if you put water on it, it turns into a gremlin. All Furbies are possessed – it's true. Don't believe me, go out and get a Furby, dump some rubbing alcohol on it and light it on fire. As it burns it will talk, even after the batteries inside explode. Creepy? I think so. So the gist of the story, Furbies = Retarded, possessed Mogwais.

Sesame Street – We have all seen Sesame Street, and we all know that only Big Bird could see Snuffleupagus (I don't care if that's correct or not), Oscar lived in a trash can, and Burt and Ernie were the resident gay couple. However in recent years, Sesame Street has developed some political correctness. Big Bird now has all of Sesame Street smoking pot so that everyone on the street can see his woolly mammoth. Oscar the Grouch has moved up in the world, just like The Jeffersons, to a deluxe apartment in the sky. He no longer lives in his trash can, because apparently it represented life in the ghetto. Everybody visited him in his can; now, all the ghettos I've heard of ain't nobody visits them. Finally, Burt and Ernie, ah who could forget these two guys. Whether Ernie was looking for his rubber duckie (Burt's pet name for Ernie's member), or they were living in the same house doing all sorts of stuff.

Jynx (Pokemon) – We all know that the Japanese are a little odd with their customs, and that they have contributed a lot to the world. In anime that is, they have created some of the greatest cartoons from my childhood (Dragonball, Dragonball Z, Gundam Wing, Outlaw Star, etc.), but probably the most successful show to come out of Japan was Pokemon. In the case of Jynx, he's a Pokemon who looks very similar to a transvestite hooker standing on the corner. One of the Japanese executives went and found a hooker, he/she blackmailed him into creating a Pokemon just for... uh it, and we now have Jynx, the tranny Pokemon. Not to mention it's in black-face; racism I say!

Peppermint Patty and Marcie – All of us have read Peanuts, as one of the best characters of all time has come from that series – Snoopy. However, when Schultz introduced Patty and Marcie, he crossed the line. Even though they are only about 8, it seems like they have been a couple for 20 years. Patty tries to deny it by hitting on Charlie Brown all the time, but it's Marcie that gives it all away by calling Patty, "Sir". I guess it's safe to

Realize Your Future

The Product Realization Company

It's time to realize your future. At Plexus Corp., you will work in an environment that fosters creativity, resourcefulness and teamwork. You will use leading edge technology and have the opportunity to see your ideas become reality. Work closely with employees throughout the world as you team to provide quality products and services to many Fortune 500 companies. These customers turn to Plexus for product design, state-of-the-art prototyping, testing through volume manufacturing and higher-level assembly - the very services that make us unique. Whether our customers require one service or all of them, we are driven to make every idea a reality. Realize your future by visiting our website at www.plexus.com today!

Realize your future and apply at www.plexus.com today!
Plexus is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer.

assume that Patty wears the pants in that relationship.

winkle Smurf? Nobody wants one of those.

Smurfs – Ah, the Smurfs. I remember watching the Smurfs on Cartoon Network when they actually played good shows. If you don't know who or what the Smurfs are, and you are age 17 and above, you should be hit upside the head repeatedly. Basically the Smurfs are a group of blue gnomes or troll-like things living in the forest. There is one problem that I had with the Smurfs, and that was Smurfette. She was the one girl Smurf in the entire population, which got me thinking as I got older – how the hell did they reproduce? Did all the Smurfs get to have a turn with Smurfette? If that's the case, then the Smurf population would be in trouble a couple of years down the road mainly because of the inbreeding that would occur. Instead of blue Smurfs, we'd end up with...oh, I don't know, a baby blue or peri-

Childhood was a time of innocence, but we all must grow up and see the world for what it really is, filled with sex, drugs, and Satan. So hopefully you appreciate me exposing these observations of our disturbing childhood, and you'll think twice about letting your kid watch Spongebob Squarepants. ☹

Whatever happened to the 8 Hours System? Damn it school, ruining our lives! Add some more recreation to your life: write for the Daily Bull. Or hang with Nathan Invincible. Word.

Daily Bull

EDITOR IN CHIEF Tim Kotula	CONPOSITION EDITOR Nathan "Invincible" Miller	HAS TOO MUCH TIME ON THEIR HANDS Styx
FACULTY ADVISOR David Olson! Wow! You'll catch the plague.	YOU BETTER WATCH OUT OR Caitlyn Pierce	BUSINESS MANAGER

Nathan "Invincible" Miller, Tim Kotula, John Earnest, Caitlyn Pierce, Liz Fujita, Jeremy Mr. Sunshine Loucks, Simon Mused, John Pastore, DeForest Warren, Ivan Lyenko, Zach Simpson, Brett Jenkins, Madelyn Hilly, Ryan Richards, Zach Simpson, Matt Villa, Mark Cruth, Mary Kennedy, Elizabeth Masters, Heather Virgness, and a million things that are slowly eating your sanity. Take a chill pill for god's sake!

©2008 by the Daily Bull, a non-profit organization. All rights reserved. Articles may be freely distributed electronically or on late night talk shows provided credit is given, and that this notice is included. The Daily Bull reserves the right to refuse any advertisements or guest articles without reason. All opinionated letters sent to the editor (on paper or to bull@mtu.edu) will be treated as material to be published unless expressly stated otherwise by the sender. Original works printed in the Daily Bull remain the property of the creator, however the Daily Bull reserves the right to reprint any submissions in future issues unless specifically asked not to do so by the creator. If you keep reading this small text, you learn that you can't kill yourself if you overdose on chill pills. Sorry to disappoint.

The Daily Bull would like to thank the Daily Bull for buying our own damn printer that this publication is printed on. We would also like to thank the Student Activity Fee for helping to pay for our paper and toner costs.

Advertising inquiries should be directed to ads@dailybull.net, questions & comments should be directed to dailybull@gmail.com