Aliens Invade MTU, Take in Local Culture

By Benjamin Loucks
~ Daily Bull ~

In a startling twist of Shyamalan-esque proportions, a large group of aliens have descended upon Michigan Technological University today. These white-skinned aliens in white-and-clear spaceships of various shapes and sizes have apparently come to take in the entire experience of Winter Carnival, an epic event of proportions beyond all realm of imagination. These strange aliens, whom I have seen with my own eyes, have ships which now dot the landscape of our fine campus.

The ships, which are the most obvious signs of our alien infestation, have popped up seemingly overnight across campus. It is rumored that many more are to follow tonight. These strange ships seem to be made of a chilled, powdery

Women and Pies

By Jake Apps. ~ Daily Bull

On a recent trip to Perkins, I couldn't help but to gaze and drool at the pies in the glass case while paying for my meal. In that glass case I saw the pie I wanted to spend the rest of my life with. The whipped topping was placed so delicately on the top in a some what intricate pattern. It was as intricate as cool whip could get to say the least. And there were five delectable peanut butter cups on the top, placed perfectly apart from each other, not too close, but not too far. It's like the baker calculated how far apart they should be using pi to the eleventh decimal place. I glanced at her nametag, "Peanut Butter Cup Brownie Pie". MMMM. It was like we were meant for each other.

Then reality set in. This is Perkins. I mean, come on. How good can a pie in a glass case really be? I don't see any awards on the wall that say "Perkins, World Class Pie" or "#1 Pie" or "Our Pies are Really Really Good So You Should Eat One before You Die So You Can Get to Heaven". There jingle isn't "HEY HEY!! Our Pies are Really Awesome!" (Sung to the tune of "Cat Scratch Fever"). Then I realized, pies are kind of like chicks. Most of them seem good on the outside, but sometimes, you just need to have a slice.

First of all, they each may not appear to be what they really are. A pie can be obscured by intricate patterns or a fancy topping design. But when you finally sink your teeth in, you go to hold back the gag and choke down that one bite. Accordingly, women often portray one message when you see them, but you and me both know, that is not always what you're going to get. They both go good with a little cool whip. There's nothing like sitting down with a nice piece of pie/woman, covering your pie/woman in cool whip, and then licking all the cool whip off your pie/woman. You can also eat both. And get pleasure from both. I won't get into that. Just making a statement.

There are also benefits to each party.

...Pie vs. Girls... hmmm... from front

Pies can't talk. Sometimes, chicks don't know when to shut up. Pies do. With pies, its kind of one-time thing, a one-meal-stand if you will. A little less of a commitment. You can have one slice of a pie, and not ever have that pie again. Nobody cares. But if you like that pie, you can eat it as much as you want! Pies also don't bleed on a regular basis. With women, if you decide you don't like either flavor anymore and decide to break up, the emotions, anger crying and all that other crap. Women can scratch your back. That's a really big factor when it comes down to it all. Ever had to wash meringue off your back? Didn't think so. Trust me, its hard. BOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOBs. Pies don't have them. What is there to play with on a pie? The crust? The whipped cream? Meh... boobs are a heck of a lot better.

To all the men out there, hear what I say. You may be looking in a glass case somewhere and see the pie of your dreams. You order that pie and you think it's going to be the best day of your life. You know in your heart that you will never eat another pie again. Just remember, there are a lot of pies out there. Different shapes, sizes, colors, and flavors. If you ask me right now, I'd have to say I'd take a woman over a pie. But who knows, ask me tomorrow and it may be a pie. 🐾 material, which apparently is capable of spaceflight. Many of the aliens thus far seem to have found ways to blend in with humanity, but a few have apparently retained their white, humanesque forms around their ships, perhaps in a sleep-state as they do not appear to move. Further investigation reveals that these strange beings are made up of a similar material as their spaceships, leading to believe a symbiotic relationship is occurring. In an attempt at an interview, one of the sleeping aliens refused to make any sort of comment, leading to believe that they are very heavy sleepers. It is likely they will come out of their short-term hibernation during the all-Meltman here.

Yeah I know. The weather has been totally sucking lately. Now you know how I feel. Every. Single. Day. It's no walk in the park, lemme tell ya.

nighter, to sample the beer exquisite culture that Winter Carnival brings.

Because many MTU students are not familiar with alien etiquette, I have provided a simple guide to interacting with our visiting friends. Please be advised that these aliens may appear fairly harmless but in fact may get sour intentions when drunk. Be cautious; I highly suggest carrying some sort of personal protection device such as a chemical flamethrower (because killing it with fire always solves problems), a zombie-killing-approved shotgun in case alcohol kills and reanimates them, or Richard Simmons. Be careful, as the last one may cause innocent MTU students to flee in terror as well, and we certainly don't want that.

Another piece of etiquette to follow is that simple words here may trigger an interstellar war, such as "no tea" or
