iPod Features: Round Two

By Ray Martens ~ Daily Bull

Sticking with the theme from my last article, I thought I would bring to light a couple new things I have discovered about the iPod Touch (and the iPhone for those of you with those... lucky bastards) First is a feature of the systems, and the second is an application.

To start off, I would like to say that these little pieces of technology are quite amazing. Nothing makes you realize how utterly dependant you are on technology, and the internet, more than owning something that can leech off any nearby WiFi and let you surf at will. However, one thing I've discovered is that you can actually take screenshots of what you have up on your screen. I haven't tried any testing yet, but it appears that you actually take the entire screen, and not just your browser window or application window you happen to

Boyfriend Won't Stop With Those Kooky War Metaphors

By Nathan "Invincible" Miller ~ Daily Bull

Penn State sophomore Steve Freeman reportedly will not stop using war metaphors for every single little thing, according to his girlfriend of seven months Jeanine Reed. Ever since she got him that damn book on famous war generals, it's been "we're going to Cannae this or watch out for the flank attack that."

"I thought it was pretty neat how he could make practically any situation into a complex-yet-logical metaphor," explains Reed. "It was probably one of the things that really attracted me to him in the first place. Then I got him that war book for his birthday and he went at it like there was no tomorrow. Now hardly a day goes by when he's not in some epic life-or-death struggle over Stalingrad or fighting in the trenches at Ypres."

The book in question details 30 of history's greatest generals and their most famous battles, all of which have a fold out map with battle formations and arrows that represent a variety of offensives in Ron's mind, such as invading the grocery store or falling back to a safer position after a failed exam.

"Yeah, he's pretty all over the place when it comes to that battle stuff," says Ron's roommate Josh Knauer in an interview at his dorm, better known as the 'War Room.'

"Whenever I try having a conversation about something important he goes off on how that's not how Nelson did it at Trafalgar' or 'we should mobilize more howitzers to deal with this threat.' All I wanted to know is whether he wanted to go get a bite to eat with some friends, not whether we're storming the castle. Sheesh."

"He doesn't even use 'guns' to describe his chiseled arms," adds Josh disbelievingly. "He'll only say he's gonna bring out his big guns when he's got some master plan that nobody understands anyway. What's wrong with that guy?"

Hungry!

Some terrorist was eating delicious smelling food in the Student Org. office. This inspired me to look up "hungry" (because I was hungry) on google images. I don't think I'm THAT hungry though... I could, however, go for some Studio pizza. Hmmm...

In addition to his war book, Steve also collects battle knowledge to apply to his everyday life from Wikipedia and popular war movies such as Patton, Dr. Strangelove, and others. Despite nobody knows what he's talking about more than half the time, he still sticks with it, 'risking life and limb as he inches his way into a better position to end this war once and for all.'

"Guys with imaginations are always more interesting, you know? I'd hate to be stuck with somebody who can't let his mind go once in a while," Jeanine grumbles while erasing battle plans scribbled into her notebook. "But Steve just doesn't snap out of it. We're at dinner the one night and he starts telling me how we're gonna show those Commie scum what we're made of, and I was like, 'I don't even know who you're talking about,

I thought the Cold War was over.' He was determined to beat em, whoever they were."

"Things were so great between us before he started this multi-front war of his. Now it's practically World War I all over again. I just hope someone knocks some sense into him before he turns in a historian or something. No chance I'd want to get stuck with someone like that."

Freeman, who was unavailable for comment, has allegedly moved into phase three of his combat strategy, though he's still waiting for recon to return before he launches his all-out assault on the Japanese fleet stationed near Midway. ☹ be in. Which means you'll get all of it, including the address window or whatnot if you aren't smart enough to hide your cheesy porn sources (Yeah, I'm talking to you CS Majors out there). However there are a couple of things that make this particular feature useful, which leads me to my second point...

...The application! It's a little program called Whiteboard, which is currently free on iTunes and the App Downloader. Basically its name says it all, it's just a white screen you get to draw on. However there is a bonus feature to this particular application... You can connect to any wireless network and anyone else who uses this application can link up with you and share the drawing board. This means you can silently "text" your friends in class, by using a thin pen and actually writing your message. You can then just hold the primary button down and tap the power button to take a screenshot of any messages you want to save. They're automatically saved to your pictures folder and let you call them back up at will. NOTE: I do not condone cheating! Just entertaining ways of getting through long boring lectures from certain classes... ☹

Botboyl to the Rescue!

By Tyler Botboyl ~ Daily Bull

Puke and Pine-sol!

This is simply an informative article letting all of those that are recovering from winter carnival. Like me you may have thrown most of the puke soaked clothes of carnival in the snow banks outside your apartment. Well go and fish them out and get you some Pine-sol. Yes, you hung over baboons, Pine-sol. Like a gift from the porcelain god, the power of Pine-sol is the new tide.

Now I didn't think that this was possible but upon trying it, it worked. Also works for shoes, car carpet, bathroom use, floors and counter, and even the girlfriend's hair (if you like them pine-y). I don't recommend trying the last one when she is awake, this may result in pain and loss of function due to blunt force trauma.

Craig's List Hookers

Many of us have used Craig's list. I always wanted to know who Craig was. Is he alive? What did he do to start this list? Does he look at the list? Does he sell stuff on the list? Is he a list pimp? Does he have a pimp gimp? Does he act like a pimp gimp wimp? Who the hell would rhyme those three words? Maybe someone named the list in his honor? Could I have a list? I think that I will start one, no?

Anyway the part you all read this for is dedicated to one of my friends. His name is Ky*e and he is the mast of Craig's list. He has even found friends as far away as Las Vegas! Yes in the exotic section. Listed here are some of his friends, Hookers!!!!!! While visiting one night I found him on the phone with some of his favorite ladies.

Bertha the German machine was first up. While she was very nice, she also put up a stiff bargain. K*le started easy, wanting only to meet. Yeah, well that was 100 dollars so he had to step it up. So next was an all night talking. Well for 100 dollars more! So taking his chances he decided to ask what it would cost to get whipped, she said that would be on the house if she did it with a twizzler. That was not enough for *yle so he decide to go further. He decided to price out a #2 on the chest, what is the going price you ask?, 200 big ones!!!!!! But it could happen. Armed with this info we now feel like we are more prepared to go to Vegas! Just plan on 400 dollars and some twizzlers. Disclaimer: Twizzlers hurt.
