supported the Almighty EERC Tree (all hail the EERC Tree) in all of its social and political endeavors. His community service repertoire includes feeding the homeless with his mere presence as his awesomeness has been known to take on a warm delicious physical form. He is known for saving orphans along with all their teddy bears from burning buildings and organizing multiple community bake sales, where he would serve those who oppose Michigan Tech to loyal fans in the form of a tasty German Chocolate Rum Cake with complimentary hot cocoa. Yum.

Now, dear reader, you understand the glory that is Blizzard T. Husky. Maybe someday you can also heal the blind and find a cure for the three types of cancer that are still left over after Blizzy got bored one Wednesday evening.

ALL HAIL THE EERC TREE!

House Episodes are running at $1.99 an episode, $2.99 for HD versions. Figure roughly 26 episodes per season, and you're running about 10-12 dollars over the physical copy. Robin Hood: Men in Tights was $5 at Walmart over the weekend, but you look on iTunes and it's $9.99. Seriously, what's the deal with this? They're literally paying us to buy the stuff that costs them money to make.

There is, however, a simple solution to this. Start writing your favorite movie studios and tell them that the movies they sell in stores should come with free digital copies. We bought the movie, why can't we stick it on our various digital devices? I personally like the idea of carrying Iron Man and Hancock with me for those boring office waits or *cough*class*cough*.

Uranus Found!

By Suzanne Brush ~ Guest Writer

Everyone is excited over spring break. Mostly it's because you get days away from class, you can go home and raid your parents fridge for food, and you don't have to worry about anything. I'm excited for another reason, and it happens to be the end of the week. The planet Uranus was discovered on March 13th, 1781. It was by a man by the name of William Herschel. Now, not to be immature or anything but... Herschel sounds a lot like Hershey. And Hershey finding Uranus just kinda seems, odd. Wouldn't it seem that Uranus finds Hershey's and does something about it, often in a violent manner? Anyhow, here are some jokes about Uranus to help celebrate such a great day!

Do you know anything about bicycling on other planets? I was hoping you did since I saw skid marks around Uranus.

Thanks to the astrologist Ben Dover we can all look at Uranus now!

What do the Starship Enterprise and toilet paper have in common? They both circle Uranus in search of Klingons!

Uranus is such a powerful display of great and plentiful gases!

Due to childish jokes, the name of the seventh planet is no longer Uranus. From henceforth it shall be known as "Urectum"

Don't look now, but there are rings around Uranus!

And don't forget ladies, Uranus is four times bigger than earth! ;-D
