Green Card Lottery

By Tyler Botbyl ~ Daily Bull

I was sitting thinking to myself if we have so many people wanting to come to America, why not let them? What the hell do you want to live here for? Take these things as an example of how terrible it is here:

Get strip searched at the airport, get taxed, get screwed out of your job, no more affirmative action in places, gas prices are sky high, roads are crappy, everything rusts north of the southern-most states, Canadians visit often, the only thing we are good at is sports and war, and that is just a part of the American way.

If you want to live here why even take the chances of swimming, just apply online! Yeah, like buying from QVC. It'd be that simple. Just go to the website- I'd supply it but have the feeling that some of the student body

A Day in the Life of Stephen Hawking

By Nathan "Invincible" Miller ~ Daily Bull

0730- Wake up to find that I cannot move. Ah what is going on.

0745- Remember that I cannot move. Or speak. Or eat. Or go to the bathroom.

0800- Continue waiting for my aid to arrive and lift my 90-kilogram body onto the toilet so I may relieve myself.

0830- Aid arrives and orders me to undress myself. Very funny.

0900- think of my happy place while aid keeps me stable as I drop a log.

0945- Spoon fed whipped peas and tofu paste. My favorite.

1015- I drooled and nobody cleaned it up for me :[

1050- Wheeled out to my study where I have adequate wireless internet access to check my emails.

1100- Ponder the benefits of male enhancement.

1120- Get to work debating quantum physics with my virtual chess game.

1125- There is an itch on my back.

1130- Where is my aid? There is an itch on my back!

1140- Collapse from the effort of trying to scratch the itch. Aid has not checked on me for almost an hour. Lazy good for nothing.

1145- Naptime to rest eye blinking muscles.

1220- Awaken to find that I cannot move. Oh wait I forgot. Damn it.

1230- Adjust head by rocking eyes back and forth. Must... get... comfortable...

1240- Back to work. Today I shall disprove string theory.

1300- A fly has landed on the fake plant in the room. I am allergic to flies. Aid! Assist me.

1315- The fly lands on my hand. I can imagine how terrible it feels. I hope it doesn't land on my face.

1317- Fly lands on my face and begins eating off the drool that caked onto my face. Oh the humanity.

1320- I wish I were in space where there were no flies. Then I could move. Maybe.

1330- Overexert myself trying to move my arm and hit the fly off my face.

1455- Regain consciousness.

1510- Aid arrives with lunch. I am starving.

1515- Oh joy. Slim fast. Do I look like I need to lose weight? Seriously.

1545- Lified onto the toilet so I may do my business. I wish I could hold a newspaper while I sat here.

1630- Wheeled back to the study, but the internet is dead. Naptime.

1745- Aid screams there's a fire and runs off without me.

1750- Aid returns with pictures of the look on my face. "Ha ha it's the same as it is right now!" she says. I hate you.

1810- Think about the odds of a meteor hitting her house during her lifetime.

1845- I am hungry. I wish I could have a snack.

1905- Fly lands in my eye. I hate my life.

1955- Finally manage to blink the fly out of my eye. Where is my aid?

2010- Aid plugs the internet back into the router. Apparently she had been uploading pictures onto the internet. If I could scream I would.

2030- Time to get ready for bed.

2035- Aid texts my computer telling me she went out to dinner and she made something special to help me go to sleep. I wonder.

2100- Nothing is happening. I need someone to brush my teeth.

2130- The lights just went out. Now I am alone. I hope the fly doesn't come back.

2200- Doze off in my wheelchair. This is not my Tempur-Pedic.

0145- Awakened by aid knocking my wheelchair over as she stumbled through the room. Drunks... I am forced to fall asleep on my face.

would continuously click the link on the paper and not find it on the web. While it may take a bit to find, the short cut is to watch the YouTube video and then just write it down.

Now I thought to myself, why a lottery? Why not make people compete, like a green card Olympics. You know the faithful Rio Drowning if you don't swim fast enough, float with no water for a few days raft competition, or the best one: run from the government because you overstayed the visa and joined a frat race.

Good thing we have a lottery to help cut down the amount of people who come to America. You know, otherwise there may be a problem.

Do you see this dog?

This little doggy is both silly and ridiculous. Like us. And he's wearing a toupée. Unlike us. Well I hope unlike us, because most of us aren't balding yet. But! Like most of the little doggies that grace our pages, this one wants something. He wants your kibbles! OK not really. He does, however, want you to sign up for the Daily Bull email list. How do you do that? Simple. Send a blank subject email to majordomo@mtu.edu with the words subscribe mydailybull-I-end in the body of the email. It's that simple! Mission accomplished, the little doggy is happy and disaster was averted. Congratulations.
