Hi, I is Marcus, Patti and Ray's Baybee. Dat's write, avter onlee 1 meating I gotted the same skillz in spellins and grammars dat the Lode writerz has. Before my abilities go away, I wanted to write an article telling everybody what they may have forgot. Just how much being a baby kicks ass.

Daipers: Az a baybee, you git to ware daipers. Dis may seem liek dis is a bad ting, but tink about urrying dat goes with it. Number one, it's one of da two times you can poop yourself, and sum one ELSE has to cleen it up for you. Do you even 'member how kewl that is, I didn't tink so. Numba two, it's liek having a pillow, but on your azz, now URVRYTING is a couch.

Annual Big Wheel Race A Rousing Success

By Nathan 'Invincible' Miller ~ Daily Bull

Hood County's 9th annual Big Wheel Centennial Series drew record crowds this year, according to organizers who were extremely pleased with the turnout. People of all ages took place in the multi-faceted event, with very few injuries marring the festivities. This year's All-Around Champion was Billy Sue Joeson, whose record score of 108 would solidify him in the Big Wheel history books.

With nearly 17,000 people in attendance, the 2009 Centennial Series proved to be the most popular thus far. Featuring over a dozen cotton candy varieties, sausage stuffed sausages, and the world's only persimmon bobbing stand, not a single soul was disappointed. Even the Knowltons, who for the past seven years have proclaimed the Big Wheeler gathering a 'total waste of time, money, and perfectly good overalls.'

But it wasn't the huge number of side-shows and rare eateries that attracted the droves of raving fans – it was the Big Wheels. Ranging in size from tiny, tyke-sized models, to Jesse James inspired Mother Wheels, everyone knew that 2009 was going to be a very special year for the budding sport. Almost all of the 200+ racers came from the local area, although some as far as Oklahoma made the trip to Fischer-Price® Field to take part in the action. With the pits overflowing with some of the most technologically advanced Big Wheels yet, it was clear the stakes were high and the mud was about to start flying.

And fly it did. Taking to the strip first was the Under-7 age bracket, many of whom had pacifiers installed to protect their baby teeth from the bone-crunching blows of their opponents. Zooming around the track at near walking speed, it was obvious right from the starting gun that 4-year-old Dillon Baker was going to take top honors. But just as he was coming around lap three he suffered a catastrophic loss of attention, getting off

...Zoomin' Big Wheels from front his Big Wheel and dawdling away to play on the infield grass. Stealing the checkered flag was Ron Diamond, of Montessori Preschool, for his second U-7 win to date.

While the 8-16 age division was not as highly contested as the U-7 bracket, there were a few minor spills that left Carol Queens and George Stone, both from Granbury, with more than a few bruises. Jockeying for first place, George's untied shoelaces became entangled in Carol's pedals, sending him head over heels in a scene reminiscent of Ben Hur's epic chariot race. Dustin Fredrick eventually grabbed the first place trophy after race crews cleared away the crash debris.

With the races in full swing, only the final and most anticipated event remained: the All-Around Championship Race. Pitting each bracket's top three racers against one another, this year's favorites included the now on-track Dillon Baker, racing veteran Billy Sue Joeson, Steve Connors, and the strange Russian Oleg Drubich. Judged on speed, agility, style, and bravery, the contestants had to navigate a course of obstacles, pit traps, jumps, and the always-exciting Fire Run, where racers had to charge at full throttle through a pipe before the flames caught up with them.

With his titanium Big Wheel chassis and independent rear suspension, Billy Sue managed to beat out the competition with a high score of 108 points, almost 15 ahead of surprise second place finisher Ben Owen. Ben's heroics saving young Dillon from the Fire Run certainly boosted his score, barely nudging out Steve, who had to settle for his first top-five finish since his wife's accident on the track 8 years prior.

With the close of the 9th Annual Big Wheel Centennial Series, we can only look forward to what is in store for next year. Will Billy Sue Joeson match his stellar 2009 performance? And could the rookie Dillon Baker have something up his sleeve as he continues to dominate the U-7 racing scene? Only time will tell. In the meantime, the racers will work on their machines, creating the perfect Big Wheel to ride on to glory. ☺

NEWS IN BRIEFS

New Show Promises Debauchery Galore

by Liz Fujita ~ Daily Bull

In efforts to set a new Guinness World Record for most lewd, crude, naked, fakéd broadcast of broads, MTV and VH1 teamed up to form what they hope will become the biggest, most obscene sensation of the century. Set to debut next Tuesday, Made: Big Brother's Next Top Bachelorette Model Gone Wild in the Real World, with Tila Tequila promises "single wannabe strippers-turned-models recorded at all hours, competing in clothesless elimination challenges for the chance at a date with their fellow sleaze."

Auditions were held at the Hard Rock Café in Las Vegas – contestants were required to demonstrate their skill by dancing on a pole the diameter of a large tree, dressed only in bottle caps. Sixteen girls were selected from the twenty that auditioned. The denied four did not pass the mandatory "adult adventure" examination, which had both written vocabulary and practical demonstration portions.

Guinness employees will be stationed at MTV's production center on the day of debut. Bachelorette Model Gone Wild will air on HBO, which in a press release revealed that it was the only station on the planet that would even consider airing the episodes. So far, the only competition for the Guinness title has been an independent Paris Hilton production; TV analysts predict failure, however, based on the grounds that Hilton "has caused the public enough suffering as it is." ☺
