

DAILY BULL

The Daily Bull is probably not suitable for those under age 18 and should not be taken seriously... like the first days of class!

Wednesday, September 2, 2009

What I look forward to is continued immaturity followed by death.

~Dave Barry

Slight Changes

By Jeremy 'Mr. Sunshine' Loucks ~ Daily Bull

As many of you have probably noticed by now, Tech is a wee bit changed after the summer. The Walker lawn shrank to a shell of its former glory, much like the Colorado Avalanche. Lot 4 (the one behind McNair for those of you who never made it up the hill) is being destroyed worse than your childhood with a Simba/Nala Rule 34. Now where are they going to light off bottle rockets in the middle of the night? The DHH Lot has been cut in half, a feeble attempt to offset the slaughter of the Walker lawn and appease the Broomball gods. The entrance to the Wads parking lot has also been flipped. And finally, there is now a divider strip to further separate the dorms from the campus.

Now, these changes could all be easily rationalized as being ridiculous things like making the crossing safer (pu-lee-ase), more housing (like the Best Western wasn't totally awesome, with a free pool!),

...see Ch-ch-changes! on back

Dear Everyone

By Nathan "Invincible" Miller ~ Daily Bull

Hey! How was your first day of classes? Or the second? Probably not as great as the third. You know why? Look what you're reading! It's a Daily Bull! Woohoo, we're back! Joy to the world and all the little critters that run around getting eaten upon it. Mmmm steak.

Totally though, who'd have guessed we'd limp through another year? I admit, I gave us a little hope last year when more than 5 people showed up to our meetings, but printing an O-Week issue AND printing during the first week of classes? We haven't been that cool since, well, say since none of us were here. Forever, or so.

One of the best parts, of course, is that there have been exponentially fewer Miller Times/Invinci-Bulls over the last year than in previous years. While that means I don't get my message out in such large quantities (tear), it does mean we have more writers trying their darndest to put on a good show. I'd give them a round of applause, but I'm too busy wiping my eyes because I'm so proud of them.

Times are good here at the Bull. We've got a new ultra high fast racecar vroom speed printer, money to burn on a new computer that can run multiple programs simultaneously, and a million other things I can't think up right now but are no less spectacular and glorious. Yes, the Bull may be on the edge of a renaissance and the open road of unlimited opportunities. For the sake of us all, I'll keep the rest of my uplifting metaphors to myself.

Now's the time for you folks to step up. Anyone can write, draw comics, make pictures, or construct jokes that are absolutely worthy of being printed on these hallowed pages, so long as it's A. entertaining, B. not hating on us, and C. can hold my attention for more than two seconds. And believe me, with the amount of candy I eat, that can be pretty hard.

But why write? It's not like you get anything out of it. Wrong my friend, the times, they are a-changin'. We're on the verge of getting shirts that will be available for members (and paying customers if you're interested), and the newly implemented Daily Bull Incentive Program.

...see Welcome! on back

Come join our side, young Padawan. You can be a king or queen of satire and wit!

Different-shoe Wednesdays: you have two different feet, why not try two different shoes?

The Steaming Pile

Stright from You-Know-Where!

Things We Shouldn't Have Brought To Tech

Nukes
Hover-round chair
Used condoms
Live chickens
Boa constrictor
Waldo
Dead babies
High School Girlfriend
NMU T-shirt
Pet rock
Cyanide
Wood chipper
Furby
Chuck Norris
Carmen Sandiego
Litter Box
Backstreet Boys CDs
Elementary School Diploma
Meth
Parents
Herpes
Swine Flu
Textbooks

Clothes
Harry Potter
The Snuggie
The Game (I lost)
Standards
Swimsuit
Shorts
An urge to shop
A taste for foreign food
Expectation of warm weather
Your city friends
Any music aside from country
Hope for meeting women
Barack Obama
Sarah Palin
Baby Seals... or clubs
G-string
Banana Phone
Virus.exe
A Hummer
Cigarette addiction
More than one X chromosome
Nazis and their scalps

FOR A GOOD THYME CALL
482-5100 & OUR HOT, SPICY
PIE WILL BE WAITING 4 U.

STUDIO PIZZA Always 10% Off for Students

...Welcome! from front

Not sure how it works? Neither are we, really. You write a bunch of stuff, send it in, get published, and in return for your services you get a neat prize. Chances are it'll be something useful, like a little slice of plastic with numbers on it that you can trade for things that may or may not be useful to you. The more you write the more numbers you'll win, so get crackin'! There's no time to lose!

We've also got an email list to get the Bull electronically every single day we print, rain or shine, class or not. Never miss a day because the janitors or our critics got to the issues first. Sometimes there'll even be bonus material or contests, so if you're interested in joining send an email to bull@mtu.edu to sign up.

Still think we're something? We've got weekly meetings every Wednesday night in Walker 144, 9:15 PM. Conversely, if you're already a Daily Bull member and you forgot that you sold your soul over to us, this is your reminder. You cannot escape. Stalkernet knows where you sleep. ☹

Daily Bull

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF/BOSS MAN
Nathan "Invincible" Miller

THE LITTLE COMP EDITOR THAT COULD
Liz Fujita

FACULTY ADVISOR
David TREES Olson

ARE MYSTERIOUSLY LAGGING
MathLab computers

BUSINESS GUY
Ray Martens

Nathan "Invincible" Miller, Tim Kotula, John Earnest, Caitlyn Pierce, Liz Fujita, Jeremy Mr. Sunshine Loucks, Simon Musec, John Pastore, DeForrest Warren, Ivan Lysenko, Zach Simpson, Brett Jenkins, Madelyn Hilly, Ryan Richards, Matt Villa, Mark Cruth, Mary Kennedy, Kim Kennedy, Elizabeth Masters, Kayla Herrera, Ray Martens, Mike Lennon, Heather Vingsness, Hylinn Jaggart, Benjamin Loucks, Tyler Botbyl, Lauren Allen, and the ghost of Billy Mays.

©2009 by the Daily Bull, a non-profit organization. All rights reserved. Articles may be freely distributed electronically or on late night talk shows provided credit is given, and that this notice is included. The Daily Bull reserves the right to refuse any advertisements or guest articles without reason. All opinionated letters sent to the editor (on paper or to dailybull@gmail.com) will be treated as material to be published unless expressly stated otherwise by the sender. Original works printed in the Daily Bull remain the property of the creator, however the Daily Bull reserves the right to reprint any submissions in future issues unless specifically asked not to do so by the creator. If you keep reading this small text, you'll go play frisbee on the new DHH field.

The Daily Bull would like to thank the Daily Bull for buying our own damn old printer that this publication is printed on. We would also like to thank the Student Activity Fee for helping to pay for our paper and toner costs.

Advertising inquiries, questions & comments should be directed to dailybull@gmail.com

...Ch-ch-changes! from front

and beautifying the campus. But this reporter dug deep into the bowels of the Administration's evil plot and uncovered the real reason behind all the construction.

So at first, these things seem to make campus better. More green space, safer walkways, etc. But what did they get rid of? THE TREES. That's right. All the majestic trees that lined 41, all gone. Used for vile experiments up at the forestry building no doubt, trying to create a wooden Frankentree. It'll look harmless enough at first, but it'll devour any CS major that walks by even thinking about talking to a girl, thus helping to confine them to their rooms and be productive. See, the university would rather have productive CS majors than have procreating CS majors. I don't blame them, noting numerous case studies of the horrors of CS majors mating...

However, it's more than that. The new apartments behind McNair? Obviously a ploy to relocate students from the amazing accommodations at the Best Western. Consider this: students there last year had access to a pool whenever they wished. Now, some could argue all Tech students have access to the SDC pool. However, they would neglect to mention that instead of a short walk down some stairs, it's a LONG walk up the hill. By the time folks get up there, they are too exhausted to use the pool! This helps cut down on the loss of students.

How you ask? If students don't swim regularly, they'll eventually become afraid of the water and stop using it to exercise. They'll even stop swimming in Superior! The former is important because it'll cut down yet again on CS majors being in shape, thus making it even more difficult to procreate. Brilliant!

Sunshine's Searcher

Brought to you by
Jeremy 'Mr. Sunshine' Loucks

Popular Comic Strips

- | | |
|------------------|----------------|
| ALLEY OOP | FRAZZ |
| ARLO AND JANIS | GARFIELD |
| BIG NATE | GET FUZZY |
| BLONDIE | HEATHCLIFF |
| BOB AND | HERMAN |
| GEORGE | JUMP START |
| BOONDOCKS | KIT N CARLYLE |
| BORN LOSER | MARMADUKE |
| CAD | MARY WORTH |
| CATHY | PEANUTS |
| CYANIDE AND | PENNY ARCADE |
| HAPPINESS | PRINCE VALIANT |
| DILBERT | SPEED BUMP |
| DOONESBURY | THE FAR SIDE |
| FAMILY CIRCLE | WIZARD OF ID |
| FOXTROT | XXCD |
| FRANK AND ERNEST | |

Now, the latter statement is a bit more subtle. Why stop your students from swimming in nature's biggest funland? It's so dubious I almost missed it. They don't want students being caught up in the swift Superior current that sends Curses! I'm late for the Daily Bull meeting again! If only I had read about it sooner. You're slacking on me Avengers!!!

Don't be like Birdman and rely on a bird for assistance. Read the Daily Bull for valuable information instead.

Meetings every Wednesday at 9:15 PM in Walker 144. Caw!

them east. Eventually, these students, not being able to swim out of the current, turn up in places like Northern or even Lake State, thus diminishing the money that Tech receives! The truth is out now!

Now, the most evil, insidious plot of them all hasn't been addressed. With all the construction, parking spots have been trimmed from a low number to an abysmally low number. Anyone who has a car at Tech probably has gotten a parking ticket, since there are never enough spots for all the people who don't feel like walking through the daily blizzards. With even fewer spots, expect far more tickets as people, desperate to get to their exam they almost slept through, park on sidewalks, curbs, and even in trees (since the snow gets that high).

See, Tech WANTS more parking. However, they're afraid to raise the fees any higher (MUB, SDC, labs, etc.) because the students might riot. Tuition is another matter entirely. By lowering available parking, they can rack up thousands, possibly millions in parking tickets. This would allow them to finally build their dream parking garage next to M&M.

So insidious, it astounds the mind.

So as you come back and enjoy all the changes to campus, just remember all the hard work, planning, trickery, and dead Yoopers (36 of them are buried underneath the new patch of lawn) that went into creating it. And if you get a parking ticket for being in a tree, you know who to blame. ☹

Footnote of Doom:

This week's Steaming Pile has been brought to you almost entirely by first-year students from the O-week info session! Holy shit! Really and truly, no one is excluded from our opportunities for GREATNESS- hooray!