

DAILY BULL

The Daily Bull is probably not suitable for those under age 18 and should not be taken seriously... like grass in January!

Tuesday, January 26, 2010

A hat should be taken off when you greet a lady and left off for the rest of your life. Nothing looks more stupid than a hat.
~ P. J. O'Rourke

MTU Guide to Dear Hunting

By Tyler Botbyl ~ Daily Bull

While preparing for the season, I thought to myself, this is going to be my year. This year I was going for the trophy and I wasn't going to let anything ruin it. I wanted to have it mounted by Spring and looking good at my place. I packed up all that I needed for hunting that morning, my day-pack, proper apparel, and an attitude packed with confidence... I am worried about you, though, so this will be a short tip guide.

You need to set out to find the perfect hunting spot. This is very important, because of the cold weather in the Keweenaw Peninsula, the dear here have to pack on extra weight in preparation for the long winter. Now, these dear are abnormal in that they will consume strange foods that normal dear wont eat; this is ok, be-

...see Fine Creatures on back

ACLU Fights for Rabbit Rights

By Liz Fujita ~ Daily Bull

In a surprising move by the American Civil Liberties Union has decided to take a stance on behalf of a beloved childhood icon. A representative has sworn that the ACLU will do everything it can to rewrite laws and negotiate compensation for the Trix Rabbit after he suffered years of discrimination because of his species.

"We're very excited to be working with Mr. Trix," said Charity Evans, an ACLU member from St. Louis, MO. "It's hard to believe that such blatant anti-[le.....] sentiment was allowed to air on national television!"

The popular commercials, for those who lived under boulders or spent the 90s playing Neopets, featured the Trix Rabbit struggling to taste the delicious cereal he represented. Of course, the children always snatched them away with a cry of, "Silly rabbit! Trix are for kids!" Obviously, there was serious inequality at hand.

"You'd never dream of making a commercial saying, 'Silly Caucasian, sushi is for Japanese!' or 'Silly Mexican, citizenship is for Americans!" noted Evans. "So who has the right to say that cereal is only for homo sapiens sapiens?"

The case arose after Mr. Trix Rabbit was found lying unconscious on the floor of his trailer just before filming a commercial. He had apparently overdosed so severely on carrots that the Vitamin A drove his night vision into hyperdrive; he had visions of ghostly cereal bowls and hallucinated demonic spoons coming to gouge his eyes out. After a premonition of drowning in a tidal wave of milk, he fainted from distress.

Doctors say that the rabbit is in intensive veterinary care at Michigan State University and will make full physical recovery by March. Psychological recovery, however, could take far longer.

Trix itself insists that it didn't mean to stir up trouble - rather, they just wanted

...see FIGHT FOR YOUR RIGHT on back

Do they make turkey tenders?

When Snugglies Take Over

By Samantha "Snuggie" Schall ~ Daily Bull

While preparing for the season, I thought to myself, this is going to be my year. This year I was going for the trophy and I wasn't going to let anything ruin it. I wanted to have it mounted by Spring and looking good at my place. I packed up all that I needed for hunting that morning, my daypack, proper apparel, and an attitude packed with confidence... I am worried about you, though, so this will be a short tip guide.

You need to set out to find the perfect hunting spot. This is very important, because of the cold weather in the Keweenaw Peninsula, the dear here have to pack on extra weight in preparation for the long winter. Now, these dear are abnormal in that they will consume strange foods that normal dear wont eat; this is ok, because it is the only available food to them and they have no choice.

The dear here in the Keweenaw happen to have a few subspecies. This is due to the interactions with other dear herds. There are many of the white tailed species, some black tail dear, and every once in a while there are what you would call

...see Blanket of EVIL on back

STUDIO PIZZA

better pizza... better world.

482-5100

10% STUDENT DISCOUNT!
But you gotta ask for it and show your MTU ID—because we won't remember. Discount only on pizza and no extra discount on specials or with a coupon. And no discounts if you piss us off!

... FIGHT FOR YOUR RIGHT from front

to market the cereal as an exclusive kids' cereal. But activists want to see the rabbit allowed to partake in the same foods, activities, and lifestyle as his commercial co-stars. They ask Trix to supply the rabbit with a lifetime supply of cereal as well as compensation for his health care (totaling nearly $5000, thanks to his lawyer hiring the entirety of MSU's veterinary college).

Meanwhile, PETA has gotten wind of the news and wants to join the fight. The ACLU politely declined their offer, noting that "Once it's anthropomorphized, it's our problem. You lot can go try to argue a case for the Purina cat to have a better dressing room or something."

PETA declined comment, probably due to harsh feelings after the ACLU took over representation of the Geico gecko, Alvin and the Chipmunks, and the Aflac duck. 🐼

Daily Bull

EDITOR IN CHIEF & BOSS MAN
Nathan "Invincible" Miller

LITTLE COMP EDITOR
THAT COULD
Liz Fujita

FACULTY ADVISOR

Dominatrix David Olson

SO STRANGE I CAN'T LOOK AWAY

Lady Gaga in antlers...
in a trash can... on steroids...

Nathan "Invincible" Miller, Liz Fujita, Jeremy "Mr. Sunshine" Loucks, Simon Mused, Ray Martens, John Pastore, Matt Villa, Mary Kennedy, Ruben Garcia, Kiri Kennedy, Mike Lennon, Benjamin Loucks, Tyler Botbyl, Lauren Allen, Jon "Big-O" Mahan, Alec Hamer, Phil Pombor, Stephen Whittaker, Sam Schall, Sandra Custer, Frank McGuire, Mike Cardwell, and a lovely dear you'll care about for a long long time.

©2010 by the Daily Bull, a non-profit organization. All rights reserved. Articles may be freely distributed electronically or on late night talk shows provided credit is given, and that this notice is included. The Daily Bull reserves the right to refuse any advertisements or guest articles without reason. All opinionated letters sent to the editor (on paper or to bull@mtu.edu) will be treated as material to be published unless expressly stated otherwise by the sender. Original works printed in the Daily Bull remain the property of the creator, however the Daily Bull reserves the right to reprint any submissions in future issues unless specifically asked not to do so by the creator. If you keep reading this small text, you'll swear your professor was the Geico caveman.

The Daily Bull would like to thank the Daily Bull for buying our own damn printer that this publication is printed on. We would also like to thank the Student Activity Fee for helping to pay for our paper and toner costs.

Advertising inquiries, questions & comments should be directed to bull@mtu.edu

...Blanket of EVIL from front

piebald (look like panda dear). No one species is easier to hunt than the other, but dear behavior is greatly varying in each. Rack size varies and is up for your digression, there are typical and non-typical, which are both acceptable, but some older dear may have drop tines.

So now that you have your hunting spots and you figure what species you want to hunt, you can begin making sure you got the proper equipment. Now, dear get spooked really easily if they can detect even the slightest foul odor. Cleanliness and cover scent is greatly encouraged and may make all the difference. Preferred scents are those that smell close to a more natural smell or an attractive scent cover like food sources or close to what they may smell like. These scent covers can be found in most stores, normally next to the toothpaste.

Secondly, you must blend in. If you stick out then you are going to get noticed, but you may not like the results. It is better to not be over the top but to instead mask yourself with the surroundings so as not to spook them. Dear are very touchy and spook easily if they see any sudden movements or can see anything out of place. It should seem as though you aren't there in order to get closer to them.

Now baiting is a good idea if you can do it properly. Bait is expensive but if you got dear coming within range and you can use it to attract one that would be a keeper then by all means do so. Remember, bait won't save your ass in most situations but may in fact take some attention off you and distract them to the fact that you may have made a bad move.

In summary, you are never guaranteed anything, but that's the fun in hunting. So remember that safety is your best friend and that you should inspect your dear for any diseases and health conditions that may directly affect you. This sport will continue to grow and there are great new ways to do it. Sometimes you can even hunt over distances with cameras and the internet. Yeah, cool eh? So hopefully you guys out there can bag a good one and keep the tradition alive.

We had a decent number of people correcting us on our math yesterday. Here is a short lecture on how percentages work.

Say I have 4 tanks:

If someone gave me one more, that's 1/4th of my original amount

Therefore I would have 25% more than before.

If, however, I had 5 tanks and someone took one away...

I would lose 1/5th, leaving me with 20% less. This would make me very unhappy.

...Fine Creatures from front cause it is the only available food to them and they have no choice.

The dear here in the Keweenaw happen to have a few subspecies. This is due to the interactions with other dear herds. There are many of the white tailed species, some black tail dear, and every once in a while there are what you would call piebald (look like panda dear). No one species is easier to hunt than the other, but dear behavior is greatly varying in each. Rack size varies and is up for your digression, there are typical and non-typical, which are both acceptable, but some older dear may have drop tines.

So now that you have your hunting spots and you figure what species you want to hunt, you can begin making sure you got the proper equipment. Now, dear get spooked really easily if they can detect even the slightest foul odor. Cleanliness and cover scent is greatly encouraged and may make all the difference. Preferred scents are those that smell close to a more natural smell or an attractive scent cover like food sources or close to what they may smell like. These scent covers can be found in most stores, normally next to the toothpaste.

Seriously Lady Gaga...

Secondly, you must blend in. If you stick out then you are going to get noticed, but you may not like the results. It is better to not be over the top but to instead mask yourself with the surroundings so as not to spook them. Dear are very touchy and spook easily if they see any sudden movements or can see anything out of place. It should seem as though you aren't there in order to get closer to them.

Now baiting is a good idea if you can do it properly. Bait is expensive but if you got dear coming within range and you can use it to attract one that would be a keeper then by all means do so. Remember, bait won't save your ass in most situations but may in fact take some attention off you and distract them to the fact that you may have made a bad move.

In summary, you are never guaranteed anything, but that's the fun in hunting. So remember that safety is your best friend and that you should inspect your dear for any diseases and health conditions that may directly affect you. This sport will continue to grow and there are great new ways to do it. Sometimes you can even hunt over distances with cameras and the internet. Yeah, cool eh? So hopefully you guys out there can bag a good one and keep the tradition alive. 🐼