

DAILY BULL

The Daily Bull is probably not suitable for those under age 18 and should not be taken seriously... like warm weather!

Thursday, April 1, 2010

"God is dead" -Nietzsche
"Nietzsche is dead" -God

UC's Top 5: Drinks

By Matt 'Undercover Minority'
Villa ~ Daily Bull

So I know what you're thinking, but no, I'm not going to go over my favorite alcoholic beverages. In accordance with last week's article on Sega games from my childhood, I'm going to do this top five about what drinks I enjoyed in my pre-teen years. And no, they weren't alcoholic either; although I'm pretty sure a few of them would go great with some booze nowadays. Anyway, here are my top five Drinks from the past...

#5 Capri Sun. There is no possible way for you to have grown up in America and NOT have heard about Capri Sun. These shitty little drink pouches were pretty much made to torture kids. They were impossible to puncture with the crappy straw they gave you, and after spending your entire childhood trying to open

...see Mana-regen on back

I'm Sorry, You've Got the Wrong Number

By Nathan "Invincible" Miller ~ Daily Bull

ring Hello? "Hi, is Rose there?" Rose? No, I think you've got the wrong number. "Oh, ok. Sorry for the interruption. Goodbye." click

Has that ever happened to you? Wrong numbers happen. Sometimes they can be annoying. What if they don't really believe that you're not who they think you are? Then they keep pestering you. 'Oh brother, what a hassle,' you think as you hang up on them.

STOP! Alright, I'm going to teach you what you should do if you get a wrong number. I have a phone number based in Honolulu, so I get bad calls about once a week or so. At first I didn't even pick it up when I saw it was from Hawaii. But then I realized, what've I got to lose? Here's a guide based on my best experiences with wrong numbers.

Step one: answer the phone and say hi. Don't be stiff, nervous, or anything – you have the advantage. After they say hello in return, say hi again. After all, they called you. Let them start things up, and then go from there. "Hi, is Rose there?" Yeah, I said in my normal voice, let me get her. Pull away from the phone for a moment as if you're getting Rose, then return in as best of old woman voice as you can. This is Rose. "Rose? Huh? Uhhh..." Then they hang up totally confused. Was that really Rose?!

Step two: Start making stuff up. Sometimes you're put on the spot and you're just going to have to come up with a conversation yourself. Try and stay natural – that is key. Don't let your voice crack or you're screwed, and if need be leave your friends. They will break you, as was the case here. Hello? "Hi, this is Steve, your neighbor. You called?" Oh yeah! Yeah, I did. I was calling about your cat. "My cat?" Yeah, I saw him in the street and I was wondering if he was all right... "My cat? I don't have a cat." At that point I couldn't take it anymore because it had gotten too ridiculous.

Another time they asked for someone, I came back as the person in question. Hi this is Thomas at H&R Block I said
...see Is this your mom? on back

Oh lordie! Some jolly ol' chap was found in Hancock laying face down taking a dirt nap! Oh crikey!

Pic o' the Day

United Steaks

Mmm! Tasty! All American beef! Talk about a hunk eh? America, tastiest of the meats countries.

STUDIO PIZZA

even better than your mama's pizza

482-5100

10% STUDENT DISCOUNT!
But you gotta ask for it and show your MIT ID—because we won't remember. Discount only on pizza and no extra discount on specials or with the coupon. And no discounts if you piss us off!

