Sunshine's Sports Corner

By Jeremy 'Mr. Sunshine' Loucks ~ Daily Bull

Lots of fun news going around in all kinds of sports! Let's start with our local Huskies. The Michigan Tech Hockey team has FINALLY won a game! Last weekend they defeated the #4 ranked Denver Tardnuggets, er, Pioneers, 3-2, scoring two shorthanded goals. The next night Denver got revenge, but it didn't matter, because the streak is over! There was an entirely disappointing amount of rioting in the streets, smashed snow statues, and burned cars in Houghton. So, I guess the team needs to win again this weekend against the Minnesota Groundhogs or Gophers, or whatever they call themselves, to really get the locals excited about hockey again.

In Tech Basketball, the men's team has had two heart-

Guide to charming the ladies Vol. 1

By Steve Whittaker ~ Daily Bull

Have you been a lonely guy at Tech? Wondering how you can increase the number of ladies chasing after you? Well you are in luck! Here is the first edition of the guide to charming the ladies.

To start, you need to find that special someone and observe them from afar for a short period to see what information you can gather. This can include their name, their address, their parent's names, their birthday, or where they eat on Tuesday afternoons; you know, the important stuff. If you are having trouble finding out what their name is you can always use the class listing on BlackBoard in conjunction with Facebook. Then using stalk...er, I mean the MTU online directory. There you may be able find out their phone number and email address.

Or, if you're as gifted as Eugene Fitzherbert, you could just try giving them this look.

Once you have found out all their personal information, it is time to contact them. This can be done in several ways. Ask them to meet you via email for a "tutoring session" – or, you could wait til after the end of a class and follow them to where ever they are going... then see if you can find an opening to talk to them. Once you get the conversation started its time to move in; ask them where they live, and if they don't tell you

For a 5x5 puzzle, fill in with the numbers 1-5. Do not repeat a number in any row or column. The numbers in each heavily outlined set of squares, called cages, must combine (in any order) to produce the target number in the top corner of the cage using the mathematical operation indicated. Cages with just one box should be filled in with the target number in the top corner. A number can be repeated within a cage as long as it is not in the same row or column.

stopping comeback wins in the last week, beating Ashland 63-60 after having trailed literally the entire game but the last 32 seconds. Talk about your now or never moments. They also came back against a surprisingly hot-shooting Lake Erie team, winning that one 71-68. Winning this week against Northwood and Saginaw should cement the team to making the GLIAC playoffs. In women's action, the team continues to steamroll opponents, stifling Ashland 68-50 and pounding Lake Erie 89-49 (which would have been much worse had not coach Cameron put in the backups for almost all of the second half). The 7th ranked Lady Huskies are not only hosting the GLIAC tournament, they're in a strong position to host the NCAA Regional tournament for the second consecutive year.

In NFL action, not much is going on. Something about owners wanting more money, and players wanting more money, and some folks getting cut/signed/retiring. Oh, and a pending labor lockout due to the above issues. While unlikely, it is entirely and unfortunately possible that we could go without professional football in the fall (gasp!).

Major League Baseball is gearing up for another season, as spring training camps have started. Tigers slugger Miguel Cabrera is busted for drinking in his car on the side of the road and the media is up in arms about it! Apparently doing something like that automatically makes you an alcoholic instead of just an idiot. If that's true, 95% of Tech students are alcoholics... oh wait. Anyway, not much going on there either.

Ahh yes. Sharks Vs. Wings. This is when a certain Daily Bull member runs and hides in a corner until it's over, hoping the Red Wings fans don't kill him when the Sharks beat them...

The NBA just had their all-star game and a slam-dunk contest that involved Blake Griffin dunking over a car. Yes, a car. Would have probably been more impressive if it was a monster truck, but he'll get style points regardless. The Pistons still suck, and the Heat are dominating. A series of big trades have also occurred recently. Carmelo Anthony and Chauncey Billups are headed to the Knicks while Deron Williams is headed to the Nets. Seems like a few big names are really starting to gravitate to the East after years of westward expansion. John Candy would be proud (bonus points for the first person to email me this reference.)

In the NHL, the season grinds on. The Wings had a 5 game winning streak snapped by the Sharks, who are also heating up. Todd Bertuzzi recently played his 1000th game, pretty impressive for hockey, and especially for a guy that will forever be remembered for recreating one of the better fight scenes from "Slapshot" using Steve Moore's head as a punching bag. The West continues to be a clusterfuck, with NINE points separating teams 3-12 in the standings.

The East is a bit more stratified, but is really wide open past the Philly Flyers. In miscellaneous news: A ton of racers wrecked at the Indy 500, which allowed a rookie unknown to win it. Teams are getting upset like crazy in NCAA Men's hoops action, with the top four teams losing this week. And FINALLY, Finally, the ROCK has returned to the WWE. And Carrie Underwood was banned from a radio station after her husband was traded. 🐉 keep asking until they do. This lets them know you mean business and that you are seriously interested in them.

Here are some other ways to start the conversation. You could just "happen" to run into them in an elevator. There is no excuse for them to not talk to you now and you have at least 15-30 seconds to make your move. Another viable option: sit next to them in class every day until a conversation finally pops up. Afterall, it's bound to happen, right?

To help you move along in your quest it might be helpful to introduce alcohol. Find out what their favorite adult beverage is, get plenty of it, and then invite them over for movies. Facebook can be really helpful for this if you don't know them well. Just find their Facebook (if they have one) and chat with them every time you see them online. If you can obtain their phone number through various methods start texting them ASAP. If they ask where you got their number just say "so and so gave it to me a while back"

Now that you have a few new techniques for bagging the ladies, it's time to go out and creep... er, I mean find some ladies and show them a good time.

Oh and remember the golden rule, no means... well, you know how it goes! Good luck to you all in your women based escapades, and keep a watch out for the next edition of Guide to Charming the Ladies. 🐉

If all else fails, just get a Frankenstein costume and a bad Beatles wig, and run around yelling "paper." That's sure enough to attract the girl of your dreams, no doubt! Just dont let the Scooby Crew get to you!
