Wal-Mart: Here When You Need Us

By Cameron Long ~ Daily Bull

"Psst! Hey buddy, c'mere! Whatcha need? Need some stuff? I got your stuff, check this out. You got dead relatives? Don't know how to afford a funeral? Check out my supply of bargain caskets. Hey, don't worry where I got 'em, they just fell off a truck, you dig? Need to bury your grandma? I got you covered. Got a great-aunt lying around? I'm there. I got whatchu need, dog. Hey, where you going! These are quality! Fine, I didn't want to sell to you anyway!"

This sort of thing happens every day, in every city in America. If you want to avoid conversations like these, get to an internet near you and visit Wal-Mart's website. With the skyrocketing cost of funerals, we want to help everyday people like you say good-bye to your loved ones with dignity.

Suck it up!

By Jodhbir Singh ~ Daily Bull

The Obama administration has put strict regulations for American industries to bring efficiency and encourage innovation in their businesses. This has compelled companies to do brainstorming sessions using the bailout money. One of the companies in milk production industry-Kilbert-has come up with a very innovative idea.

According to them, a huge amount of processing of milk cost them $40 a day. "No, it is not small cost compared to rising prices in toppings in pizza industry," said someone walking outside their building. Kilbert produces 20,222.567 gallons of milk every day in four categories- whole, chocolate, skim, and 2%.

There idea is quite simple. Instead of milking cows and processing milk for each category, why not grow cows which give milk for each type of milk. So, they have now four kinds of cows- whole cow, chocolate cow, skim cow, and 2% cow. Each cow is grown with a different procedure.

A whole cow is a regular same old cow with no changes in it. To grow a chocolate cow, they feed whole cow Swiss chocolates and make it run 2 miles every day. Why make it run? You know it is usually written on chocolate milk bottle-shake well before use. ... see Milk it for what it's worth on back

Boy, there seem to be a lot of riots going on recently. Can we riot about the riots?

We offer a full line of caskets for all budgets, starting at under $1,000. These include the Mom Remembered and Dad

Remembered caskets. We're not sure what they remembered- you know, they won't remember anything anymore, but it sounded like a good idea, ok? Get off my back. Also in the under $1,000 category is the beautiful Lady de Guadalupe casket. This is for the person who... well...look, there's a market for it, alright?

Who says you can't take style to the grave? At least if you get in an accident, you're already in your casket...

The next caskets up, in the $1,000 - $1,500 range, are absolutely stunning. For the veterans not in your life anymore, we offer the American Patriot model.

Nothing says "thank you" for your service, blood, and life in uniform like a casket from Wal-Mart. Then, there is my personal favorite, the Regal Wide Body. No explanation needed.

A bit higher up is our Executive Privilege casket. This one is designed with those high-powered executives in mind. We here at Wal-Mart want someone who has spent his life in the corporate grind, making money left and right, to go out in the finest possible style. We also have the Pieta and Last Supper model, for those who wish to want to be forever adorned with copies of classical art.

We have the Copper Deluxe and Sienna Bronze caskets as our highest offerings. These premium products are made of non-rusting materials, so you can be sure that they will stay stylish for decades, in the ground.

As you will note, however, that our caskets are, "available for curbside delivery only, and will not be moved into your home or garage." You will have to take care of that. I'm sure your neighbors will help of. Happy trails! 🐾

Apple will be releasing its own casket based product shortly, which will allow your loved ones to call and text from beyond the grave. It is to be called the iAmead.

Burglar, in Hand Cuffs, Steals Police Car

By Jon 'Big-O' Mahan ~ Daily Bull

A man last Wednesday was arrested for stealing something from a small store. However, unlike most stories, this one does not end there. The man was arrested with hand cuffs and put in the cop car. After the cops received another call to check out a non-violent crime, the cops stopped and got out of the car, leaving the burglar to himself inside.

Seeing his chance, the burglar quickly got out of the car, moved into the front seat, sat down, and drove off with the car. It seems the cops had forgotten that they had left the keys in the car. The man got away from the cops, and has been on run from them ever since.

The cops, in the meantime, have been thoroughly embarrassed. It's a rare occasion that someone gets away from a cop, let alone with their own car.

The police officers in question have been put under inspection by the police chief and his board to see if there have been any problems.

The car itself was found abandoned some time later by someone driving through a residential area. It is unknown where the suspect lives or where he is hiding

It is advised that people be on the look out for a man, wearing hand cuffs still most likely, passing himself off as someone who got into a fight with their kinky wife and is running. Do not assist him! 🐾

Interestingly, procedures to grow skim cow are slightly complicated and raised many doubts about it. To raise a skim cow, a whole milk cow is fed nothing for two weeks, and then it is milked when it is asleep. Experts say the procedure makes everything zero in the milk, thus making it skim. Some consumers have expressed their concerns that it tastes like a cow piss. However, no one admitted that they have tasted the actual cow piss. Raising 2% cows is similar to the raising skim cow; the only difference is that the whole cow is fed only 2% of time and milked 99% of it.

Being a vegetarian, this reporter could not stand the plight of a skim cow standing near him and staring at his Snickers bar. He gave it to that skim cow. It was a eureka moment for him when he decided to bring the plight of skim cows in the public domain and pressure Kilbert to feed Snicker bars to its skim cows.

So, the next time you are going to drink milk, think about the chocolate cow which is made to run 2 miles every day, skim cow which is fed nothing, and 2% cow with only 2 legs. They are doing a lot for us, so please don't even leave a drop of milk in your cup. Suck it up! 🐾

There is then of course, the mythical strawberry cow. Nobody is really quite sure where the fuck it comes from. But it can be said it is delicious, to those enjoying strawberries.... mmm.
