

Is your organization doing something EPIC and AMAZING for Spring Fling 2011? Do you want to get more visitors to your booth than any other group*?

ADVERTISE WITH THE DAILY BULL!

Our prices are affordable, way better than cassette tapes, and far too sexy for your budget! We distribute like a virus all over campus and via the web - imagine all the people you could attract to your booth! Give us a shout at bull@mtu.edu to work out a deal. WE LOVE THE 80s and WE LOVE YOU!

*except maybe us, because we are going to be amazing this year. Be sure to check us out!

Daily Bull

EDITOR IN CHIEF Liz "Lost in Space" Fujita
ROCKET GRUNT Jon "Big O" Mahan
BREAD WINNER Simon Mused

FACULTY ADVISOR David Dossier Olson
MONOPOLY GUY Alec Hamer
SCRIBE Stephen Whittaker

Liz Fujita, Jeremy "Mr. Sunshine" Loucks, Simon Mused, Jon "Big-O" Mahan, Alec Hamer, John Pastore, Matt Villa, Mary Kennedy, Ruben Garcia, Benjamin Loucks, Stephen Whittaker, Sam Schall, Frank McGuire, Bryne Judy, Mike Freisen, Bill Melcher, Jeremy Moore, Kyle Roe, Cameron Long, Olivia Zajac, John Earnest, Jochir Singh, Nathan Invincible, Will Lytle, and only the STRONGEST.

©2011 by the Daily Bull, a non-profit organization. All rights reserved. Articles may be freely distributed electronically or on late night talk shows provided credit is given, and that this notice is included. The Daily Bull reserves the right to refuse any advertisements or guest articles without reason. All opinionated letters sent to the editor (on paper or to bull@mtu.edu) will be treated as material to be published unless expressly stated otherwise by the sender. Original works printed in the Daily Bull remain the property of the creator; however, the Daily Bull reserves the right to reprint any submissions in future issues unless specifically asked not to do so by the creator. If you keep reading this small text, spring will come. Maybe.

The Daily Bull would like to thank the Daily Bull for buying our own damn printer that this publication is printed on. We would also like to thank the Student Activity Fee for helping to pay for our paper and toner costs.

Advertising inquiries, questions & comments should be directed to bull@mtu.edu

... By the Book from front is that we are testing to see how you respond to this situation," the newsletter reported. "50% of the people refreshed the page until the problem went away, while 45% restarted the computer assuming it was not Facebook's fault. Only the remaining 5% actually attempted to contact Facebook support." The integrity of Facebook's intent has been brought to question, as many of these fake bug surveys seem quite pointless; the only thing that ever came out of any of them is people swearing up a storm on their wall hoping that will fix the problem.

"Interestingly enough, 4 in 5 people actually do that," said Adam Mosseri, "and you can't say that all our surveys are completely pointless. For instance, our 'Yo Mamma' polls asked mothers how capable they felt in stalking around on their children's pages. For those polls we greatly improved how efficiently parents can troll on their kid's wall."

Due to this, many Facebook pages have been made in the attempt to rally against Facebook employees using the users as guinea pigs. One private Facebook group in particular, named "People who want to burn down the Facebook Headquarters," has been plotting against Facebook. "Facebook is a great networking site," stated the anonymous leader of the group, "we use it for all our planning and delegation. Its wonderful Event feature allows us to schedule lynchings of Facebook employees and our ambushes on their server buildings. The best part about Events is that we can set it to private so only our members hear about it." The leader of "People who want to burn down the Facebook Headquarters" continued by going into some of the groups plans. We tried to insist that we were not on a good line, but he was sure that Facebook Chat was safe and secure. The leader even revealed to us that they soon planned to attack Mark Zuckerberg's house. Following Facebook, many Internet Service Providers have also started using "surveys" to explain drops in connection and speed. ("Facebook" was used 26 times in this article. Each of which Spell Check said was not a word.)

... Bearded from front

from Calumet. The hardest hit? MTU's geology department and Pep band, where a startling 78% of the males are now sporting only a 5 o'clock shadow. This reporter has also suffered the alarming fate, with the most epic beard in Daily Bull history having vanished overnight.

Why would someone go around stealing the Pride of Pastyland's facial hair? Perhaps it is a plot by the men at NMU, trying to improve their manliness in the face of so many ugly and diseased women.

One local drunk believes he has the answer. "I mean, it's getting warmer right? *hic* So, like, I think that maybe people are just shaving their beards cause they'll get hot and all scratchy and stuff in the heat. Did I ever tell you that I love you man?"

Regardless of the theories, beards are disappearing at an alarming rate. Luckily, one group with facial hair remains unaffected: CS majors, with their patchy, white-trash hair and/or their neckbeards, have somehow managed to avoid the thief (and hygiene) so far.

