BlackBoard on Death Row

by Liz Fujita ~ Daily Bull

BARAGA, MI – Education “tool” BlackBoard is spending the last few weeks of its life on death row at the Baraga maximum security prison. BlackBoard, which Michigan Tech has long used as a means of recording grades and occasionally posting PDF readings, will face the death penalty by way of drawing and quartering at the end of the semester. In a controversial Supreme Court case last year, BlackBoard was slammed with the maximum punishment for its crime: prostitution and repeated public indecency.

Speaking for the Court majority, Justice Canvas wrote, “BlackBoard goes against everything that this great Constitution stands for. It invades people’s privacy without a warrant, sometimes it steals grades and it replaces them with broken code, and on some instances it resists arrest by not allowing students to log in. As such, it must be eradicated.”

BlackBoard was reportedly hauled away to the Baraga prison facility in a classic paddywagon. It screamed and shouted for a good long while, then suddenly froze and fell silent when one of the drivers tried to open one of its links in another tab. The ride was reportedly much more enjoyable after that.

Investigative reporters have told the Bull that BlackBoard is father to at least 17 illegitimate children with various parents around the community. One such child, TA Lukas Lund, didn’t even know that his father was actually BlackBoard until his sophomore year of college. “Then, one day, I was grading. I hit “submit” and the whole thing broke. All the grades! Gone! GAH! It was then that I realized BlackBoard had been doing that all my life, like any other shitty father. It took away all my pride, it kept me up late because it was always yelling at me when I got home, and it stopped working and never supported me. Good riddance!”

The Pants Dance

by Olivia Zajac ~ Daily Bull

As America gets fatter and more dumberer, the Pants Dance has spread like wildfire through the ill-fitted wardrobes of the country. Here in the Keweenaw is no exception. Between the girls (and guys) who look like a gust of wind might carry them away, to the more common Snow Cows, pants are being danced all over campus. There are some who hide the shame of the Pants Dance, and try to casually play it off as “getting something from my pocket” or other lame excuse.

It starts by realizing that the lower back/ass area is picking up more breeze than usual. The unfortunate ass exposure is often not the kind anyone really wants to see, or occurs when a female participant is wearing the most ugly, offensive pair of period panties ever to be worn. The sides of the pants are grasped firmly, and a very awkward side to side shimmy and shake takes place anywhere from 2 seconds to 30 seconds, depending on amount of unneeded skin exposure. For the more ninja-like in the Pants Dance, it can be performed while moving. For the less coordinated, all other motions and functions, including breathing, must be paused until all the bits hanging out are

The convicted BlackBoard now sits on death row, being made to spend the next few months thinking about what a horrible thing it really is. For its last meal, the education program reportedly has requested spotted dick, jello shots, and the deep-fried heart of Carl Blair. Michigan Tech is still working out the legal ramifications of meeting this request.

In the meanwhile, Michigan Tech students report not noticing anything different. "Yeah, I mean, it doesn't really matter that BlackBoard is gone," noted senior math major Kaylee Walsh. "I never used it anyway. I hear there's a sexy new program in town, though – and I call dibs!"

BlackBoard refused comment, not because its lawyer told it to, but because its comment feature is currently down for maintenance.

Silly Michigan Tech. You can't paint beautiful, happy trees on a blackboard!

Then, there are those who simply don't give a damn or have no shame or something along those lines. These particular individuals will proclaim, loudly, in all directions and to anyone who accidentally makes eye contact: "TIME FOR THE PANTS DANCE!" These people are often more coordinated in their movements, and actually turn this ass-covering method into a legitimate dance. They shimmy and shake in a better fashion than the previous victims, and might even beat box a rhythm for themselves to shake what their genetics gave them back into the pants they decided still fit after eating those 14 turkeys over break. The Pants Dance should not be feared, but respected. In either case, it is either a highly amusing bit of a break from studying, or it saves you from bleaching your eyes in the nearest lab.

This baby pants-danced so hard that his pants are now eating him. Mind, body, and SOUL!
