Finlandia Sells Souls for Snow Day

by Simon Mused ~ Weather Analyst

The student government at Finlandia University, a Lutheran Finnish college, has unanimously agreed to sell the souls of the entire student body to Satan in exchange for a snow day yesterday. Most student polls indicate that the decision to have their soul bound to an eternity of torture and hellfire was for the best and made sense over the alternative.

The reason they didn't save the soul-selling for a much more disheartening, soul-selling day that will no doubt appear very soon was that their years of spiritual growth advertised on their promotional material has built up a sizable reserve of souls, according to a spokesperson from FU. If the supply is almost depleted, they merely increase enrollment and "give a shout out to the big man every now and then." The President of FU added that they also make course work easier, so that individual soul-selling on a microeconomic scale occurs less often.

Michigan Tech could not participate in the deal, as there are people at this University who are still enrolled after the legendary snow days of 2007 and 2008, a back-to-back phenomenon never before seen in Tech history, where in its 127 years of operation you could count the snow days on just two hands. A soul exchange of that magnitude completely drained our soul reserve, resulting in a bitter

Library Attendance at All-Time High Due to Wikipedia Blackout

University Takes Notice, Advantage

by Alex Dinsmoor ~ Library Squatter

Houghton, MI - Michigan Technological University officials have reported that on the day of January 18th, 2011, attendance at the J. R. Van Pelt Library was at an all time high, significantly surpassing any single day previously, including days leading up to exam week.

"It was a miracle," one librarian stated, "I have never seen so many students in this establishment actively working! It was like a dream I once had; droves of students were seated at tables, all with their noses in books, actively absorbing information like plants absorb sunlight!"

Colorful comments aside, Michigan Tech's administration are shocked that something as simple as shutting down a single website for such a short amount of time had so much intellectual effect on the student population. Even Glenn Mroz was startled by the recent attendance at the library. When reached for comment, Mroz said the following.

Chillerama, aka WHAT THE HELL?

by Steve Whittaker ~ Movie Man

Well it is Friday and if you have nothing to do, then I have a treat for you! This will be a review for the movie I have to say is one of the most over-the-top and offensively awesome movies I have seen in a long, long time. It is called Chillerama. Chillerama is a movie that is essentially made up of four different movies and one short movie clip each more and more offensive than the last.

A quick overview before I begin to discuss the details of each movie. The movie is set in a drive-in where 3 of the movies are shown, the fourth movie is actually what happens in the drive in and it's pretty intense all the same.

The first movie is a spoof of 1950's monster movies and its does a tastefully offensive job of doing so. The main character of the movie suffers from an incredibly low sperm count. To alleviate this, his doctor friend gives him an untested drug designed to increase sperm count. However what it actually does is cause the user's sperm to grow and become ferocious. After "releasing" one these sperms it grows to epic proportions and terrorizes New York eventually accosting the statue of liberty.

I Was a Teenage Werebear

This movie chronicles the life of a teenage boy in the 1950's/60's who is clearly unsure of his sexuality. After refusing to have sex with his then girlfriend he finds and indifferent student body and faculty unable to regain excess liveliness.

With only some meager souls to barter, mostly from bright-eyed first year students in the basic calc and chemistry courses, most of our souls go towards turning in that almost-late homework assignment or getting a 71% on that Statics final. Meanwhile, Michigan Tech students will continue to endure -25°F wind chill to get to class while Finlandia takes the easy way out. At least until Tech gets rid of the entire chemical engineering department.

“On Wednesday, after swimming in my golden pool filled with money, I decided to take a stroll through the library, since it’s normally so empty this time of the week. To my surprise there were droves of stressed students all reading books! I knew as soon as I saw this that I had to do something about this!”

In a press conference Thursday morning, Mroz stated that the University will take the controversial stand of permanently blacking out Wikipedia in all Michigan Tech networks. “Due to the decreasing attendance at the library and the recent events on the internet, the university knew the only way to increase library attendance. At a board of directors meeting, we knew the only two realistic ways to get rid of Wikipedia was to support SOPA or to just block it on our networks. In order to maintain its stance with the students, Michigan Tech University decided to block Wikipedia on Michigan Tech networks.”

Students have been up in arms all day, as their grades have been vastly impacted in their history classes due to their main resource source being blocked. With their grades steadily dropping every minute Wikipedia is not accessible, they have decided to enact an “Occupy” movement in order to protest the banning.

The future is unclear for Wikipedia at MTU and the Daily Bull will keep the student population up to date on the Wikilssue.

himself being attracted more and more to a group of greasers. After one encounter in the boys’ locker room with the greasers (who turn out to be homosexual werebears), that upon transforming are dressed in leather, chains, and other S&M gear, bite him in the ass and he too becomes a gay werebear.

The Diary of Anne Frankenstein

Ann Frank finds out her family name was originally Frankenstein and that her grandfather kept a diary of his experiments reanimating a corpse. After she finds the diary and begins to read it who should happen to bust in but Adolf Hitler himself. Well, he ends up killing the whole family including one of the soldiers he brought with him. Then he uses the diary to create the ultimate killing machine.

Deathication

This movie was actually a short clip leading into the last part of the film. I won’t say much other than according the movie: deathication “is an excremental explosion of bad taste” and “is like being raped by your own feces .”

Zom B movie

The final film is actually the occurring at the drive in, a zombified STD is spread through the drive in via popcorn after the original infected person uses the butter stash to soothe his dick that had been bitten by a zombie. Once the infection began to spread all hell broke loose and the zombies began to eat and fuck everything in their path. To quote the movie, “When there is no more room in hell, the dead shall rape the earth!”

Now go watch this movie, if you dare! 🙄
