Standathon is coming: Can you handle it? -Part Deux

By Ryan Proulx ~ Guest Writer

This is a continuation of the Standathon article from yesterday.

There are also many exciting and not so dangerous things that can be done at Standathon. For instance there is the Velcro Wall. In reality, this wall will give you all of the powers of Spiderman while on the wall. However, you lose them as soon as you leave the wall, don't try to swing off!

The 2nd thing, The Rock Climbing Wall: Exactly like what it says in the name, rocks climb the wall! You pick a pet rock from a group of rocks, and it races other people's rocks up the wall. If your rock wins that round, you get to keep your awesome new pet rock!

3rd: Have you ever wanted to be somewhat of a cyborg? If so, go see the Nail Technicians! They will replace your weak human hands for awesome Robot Hands! Just let them know of the

Gasoline Station Also Will Offer Breast Cancer Screenings

by Benjamin Loucks ~ Daily Bull

Due to the rising cost of gasoline around Houghton and around the USA in general, many locals and students have had to give up a lot of extra luxuries like food and laundry detergent in order to pay for basic necessities, such as WoW subscriptions and Netflix.

Even gas stations are feeling the pain of people buying less gas and many have turned to adding other services to draw customers there. One such station, the Stop n' Slurp in Calumet, has taken a novel approach and will now be offering free breast cancer screenings to females who buy more than $35 in gas during a fill-up.

Native Keweenaw resident Toivo Turtola, the owner of the Calumet Stop n' Slurp, has indicated his faith in this plan in an interview with the Daily Bull. "Well dere, I've been gropin' da boobies for probly about 20 years now, so I figure dat I can put dat dere experience tah use, eh? Already we found about tree womens that need tah see dere doctor, eh. See, I've saved six of da boobies! Dat dere means six more boobies in da world tah squeeze, and dat's what we're here for, eh."

All females ages 18 and up are eligible for the screenings and Toivo recommends that even women under 40 should definitely consider the offer. "Ya tink it's just da old hags dat get da problems wit' da boobies, but ya never know dere, eh. Better safe den sorry, I always say! I'm not ah doctor or dat, but da parole officer, he says I can grope da boobies if its fer ah good cause and da womens give me permissions, eh. It's ah win-win situation dere!"

Toivo also has mentioned that he intends on adding a car wash to his station, as well. "If I add da car wash, I've taut aboot turnin' da name of my place to da 'Grope & Squirt'. I tink it'll bring in all da customers dere, eh." ☺ to make the pact with Physics, all women at this school had to be sacrificed, so I guess that deal is null and void.....

8th: Those shirts available are authentically off the back of a homeless guy! He was wearing so many he couldn't move right, so he was relieved of a few. You might want to wash them first though.

9th: The posters say Change a Life- it means your own! As long as both parties are willing, bodies can be swapped. CAUTION: Quality of life exchange not guaranteed.

Then we get to the prizes. The HIGH PRIZE bracket costs a little bit more, but will do as advertised! All quality items can be won, no "gateway" junk here: Acid, Cocaine, PHB, Meth (The good stuff from guys like off of Breaking Bad), and for those feeling REALLY adventurous, a whole case of NyQuil!

And don't forget the MYSTERY BOX! What do you choose, the boat or the box? You MUST know what's in the box, it could be anything! Even a boat! I have heard rumor that the last Golden Ticket is in there, and that Willy Wonka is cryogenically frozen waiting for the last person (possibly YOU) to arrive!

And lastly, we have the refreshments! All the stops are pulled for this one: PowerThirst is on TAP! (Made with Lightning! REAL LIGHTNING!)

So, now that you have heard of the many wonders of Standathon, I issue a challenge: Go experience it for yourself! Can you figure out the mysticism that surrounds this event and shed light on this strange festival, or will you be entirely taken in by the charms that Standathon has to offer? Only by attending will you know!

(In all reality (no more satire) this event is for a great cause, donating money to Baycliff Health Camp to help kids with disabilities to attend. For a great time, food, drinks, and many different activities to participate in for 12 HOURS for only $10 is a better deal than many other things, so come check it out Friday!) ☺
