You've Got Questions, He's Got Answers

With B. Smoove

B. Smoove,
How do I overcome test anxiety? I have been struggling with it since I was in elementary school and every time I take an exam I don't perform as well as I should. Help!
Signed, Stressed Out!!

Stressed Out!!,
Here's what I did to prepare for a test all through college: First I would open a bottle of Twin Brothers Winery chardonnay and pour two glasses. After doing that I would turn on the turntable and play some proper waltzing music and dance until the wine was gone. That's why I always recommend having a bottle of Twin Brothers Winery chardonnay around. You never know when

Business Major Earns 4.0 in Differential Equations

By Liz 'Riz' Fujita ~ Daily Bull

BREAKING NEWS! In all the history of Michigan Technological University, it has only happened twice. But, just the other day, math department representatives tipped off the press that a business major actually pulled off an A in differential equations. It didn't take bribery, begging, or last-second extra credit – it actually happened.

How finance majors imagine Diff Eq

"We're still double-checking all of his homework assignments and exam scores to make sure there was no foul play," chuckled professor and Daily Bull advisor David "The Incinerator" Olson. "You never know when the solutions guides are going to leak out onto the internet, after all. But, it looks like from our preliminary scores that he actually... understood it."

The student, a third year from Charlevoix, MI, said that he has never had anything against math. "I actually had to lie about that on my application to Tech," said the student, "because they have a requirement in the SBE that you hate math and want to never take a math class again."

Once admitted to Tech, however, he snuck out on a torrid affair with the math department. At first, it was just a once-in-a-while thing; booty calls, if you will. "I just took calc I for my STEM requirement in my degree. But... something happened. I think I started falling in love with it – I know that's crazy!"

Fourth-year finance major Lam'ron Kong verified that most SBE students who take math are shunned and forcibly invited to switch majors to something like "biochemical geology" or "mechanical metaphysics" or "whatever it is other people do." But love is blind, and it doesn't care if you take the left or the right Reimann sum, according to only the third business student to succumb to the sexiness of cosine curves.

Michigan Tech plans to verify of the 4.0 before reporting it to the National Business People's Professional Suit-Wearing Society. Once authorized, the student will be invited to speak at the NBPPSWS conference on his breakthrough. He will probably also be heavily experimented upon for science, as researchers still don't understand how someone could be so smart yet defect to the dark side of earning a BS degree in BS. 🍷 those stressful days may come.

Consume carefully, B. Smoove

B. Smoove,

How can I increase my muscle mass without exercising more? What's the secret to unlocking my body's full potential?

Signed, Bigger Muscles

Bigger Muscles,

I know I owe thanks to Twin Brothers Winery port for its smooth flavor and affordable price. It's a "fortified" wine. Meaning you are fortified for whatever work you may have to do. Remember, replace water with wine and everything's fine.

Drink responsibly, B. Smoove

B. Smoove,

I really like this girl but I'm a total nerd. How do I get her to notice me?

Signed, Wanna B. Touched

Wanna B. Touched,

It's clear that you are a man of taste and as a fellow man of taste allow me to share with you. Do you know of a little secret called Twin Brothers Winery? They've got a wine for every romantic occasion from the baseball diamond to the bedroom. Just invite her in a low tone over to your place for some giggles and wine. I think I have some giggling of myself to do. Remember that alcohol impairs judgment.

Enjoy responsibly, B. Smoove. 🍷

Michigan Tech Word Ladder

By Liz 'Riz' Fujita 2.0 ~ Daily Bull

Here's how it works: you work your way down the ladder changing one letter at a time to form the answer to the next clue.

For example, "I _____ my new jeans today." WORE. "But then I _____ them on the fence." TORE. Each answer is four letters. Go!

The tallest building on campus is the _____.
 In the dorms, you can _____ a lot of people.
 Pasties come with both vegetarian and _____ fillings.
 Walking home from Hancock while drunk is quite a _____.
 Be sure to attend Bridge-_____ and Keweenawesome _____!
 Tech's Pep Band is the "second _____ feeling in the world!"
 Pi, pi, radical, mu! _____ 'em, _____ 'em, MTU!
 While camping in the Copper Country, I hope I never meet a _____.
 _____ Jessica, this is a reminder about your FAFSA!
 I hit a _____ while driving on the Seney Stretch...
 ...so when I got to town I had a _____ (or three).
 In the summer, there are a terrifying number of _____.
 Lucky is the student who _____ the northern lights.
 Tech was the 6th _____ team in the WCHA final five!
 Whether it's a snowmobile or dog-driven, I love a good _____.
 I _____ down McNair hill this morning... ow!
 We learned about the double-_____ experiment in physics today.
 Who could forget the O-Week Facebook safety _____?
