Rewritten Fight Songs

By Liz Fujita ~ Daily Bull

Michigan State!

By the tanks of the Red Sewer,
There's a school outclassed by all.
Their specialty is drinking
And those Spartans like to brawl!
Spartan teams will always riot -
After every game they fight.
Fight for both wins and losses:
Cars alright!
Drink a brew at MSU,
Tolerance keeps growing!
Spartan fans are bar crawl champs,
They're drinking at the Riv!
CHUG! CHUG! CHUG!
See their livers weakening,
We'd better close this tab.
Fight! Fight! Riot, team, fight!
Cedarfest at MSU!

Michigan!

Now for your fear they are here,
standoffish
Here they come with high nose flying
In swaggered step they're nighing
With shouts of 'YOLO' crying
We harass, harass
We greet you now, FAIL!
Far we their dislike sing

Fuck you, Furby

By Kay McMizzon ~ Daily Bull

The late nineties birthed a craze of domestically-aimed robotic hamster/ owl like creatures called "Furbies". This was okay when we were nine years old, at first, until it took us near around five minutes of owning one to realize that these things were creepy as fuck.

Okay firstly, I must know where the fuck did Furby come from? It wasn't on TV or a childhood book or something. Give me some talking Teletubbies or some Gulla-Gulla Island and okay, I can understand that shit. But seriously, FURBY!? Why, dear God; who, dear God!??

Furby apparently also had furby babies, furby friends and furby language. As if a walking, talking, say-exactly-what-you-say, probably-watch-you-when-you-sleep, and face-moving gremlin look-a-like wasn't enough in the late nineties, let's go ahead and give them a whole life style in 2012.

That's right folks, this September a certain death awaits you: the return of the Furby. It's like this toy's manufacturers never saw those fucking movies where porcelain dolls eat your face and teddy bears throw bags of poisonous snakes at your head and all the while your Chucky doll is sinking his fangs into your mother.

But of course these new and improved furbies are 10x more terrifying. Now you can buy apps on your phone for Furby's kitchen. Furby himself can choose what he's hungry for and he can pick his choice – from his favorite pie to, well, your exact blood type. He has eyes that change. Not just eyes that open and close, but literally eyes that are programmed to change the pixels as he changes his mood. Eyes that change to peer right through your fucking soul when you least expect it.

I suspect it's the government. I am willing to bet that this thing comes alive and eats our family and tries to take over Canada. It's marketed as "Furby! A mind of its own," but we all know this: a mind of its own, until it takes over ours. Be wary of this creepy thing. And be warned: if I see one I will probably Hulk smash it at the MEEM. Unless I Hulk smash your face, first. 🐼

Please tell me that none of you actually think these terrors are cute.

Universities Infect Dorms with Illnesses

By BIG O ~ Dictator v2.0

A string of illnesses at universities across the country has brought about the ire and investigation of national authorities. The authorities noticed that many dorm students seemed to get sick and fail their classes, having to take them over.

"Well, we had heard of such a thing happening before this decade, but never in these numbers. At first we thought it was because of the fact that most people are sheltered now, or aren't as exposed, or perhaps a larger number of viruses about. But when we looked at the data, we found a startling surprise. It looks like the dorms are being infected with viruses to make as many people sick as possible" Said one researcher with the CDC.

There are many theories as to why the universities would do such a thing. The first and most obvious is that the more people they have failing their courses, the more they can charge them for their classes. Furthermore, it can make the school look difficult which both raises the amount of people applying, and the chances, possibly, of people who do graduate to get hired by companies.

The US government has since decided to take an interest in this program and is looking at a way to possibly stop it. However, considering the majority of people infected go to public universities, we'll have to wait and see just how this pans out. Bull out- 🐼
