Some Looooong College Nights

By Liz ~ Daily Bull

Some nights I stay up
Cramming with my calc book
Some nights I use CAD to draw

Some nights I wish that my
Hands could type an essay
Some nights I wish they'd just fall off

But I still wake up
I still fail your tests
Oh Prof, I'm still not sure
What I try for, ohhh
What do I try for?
What do I try for?
Most nights I don't know...
Anymore!

This is Tech, guys, this is WAR
Why don't they fairly score?
Why don't we break the curve already?
I was never one to believe the hype --
Study through both day and night --
I try twice as hard and I'm half
as wise

Michigan Tech Suffering from Infestation of Gremlins.

By Jon "Big O" Mahan ~ Daily Bull

Michigan Technological University is suffering from an infestation of small imaginary creatures. Normally easy to deal with, infestations of small creatures are solved by various methods including fumigation, traps, or poison left out to catch them. Even at Tech you can sometimes find poison ant food traps left out, near doors and the like. However, such traps and methods are ineffectual against imaginary creatures, the Daily Bull Reports. Meanwhile, gremlins have been invading all sorts of places, causing problems with machines, people, workers, and equipment. It's unknown how to stop them and they seem to thrive in higher tech environment.

According the National Invasive Species Council, the Gremlin poses the largest threat to America right now. Even more than those bastardized African honey bees that were supposed to be more docile African bees, and instead ended up as way fucking more bat-shit insanely aggressive honey bees. It is hoped that disaster can be averted by eliminating the gremlins before they are allowed to spread, especially via air travel.

Right now the TSA and FAA are recommending to all airline flights that they check their bags, engines, and other material for the gremlins or their relatives. They've listed on their website how to

On the bright side, it's not this bad yet!

Fill the grid with the digits 1-8 so as not to repeat a digit in any row or column so the digits within each heavily outlined box or boxes (cage) will produce the target number shown in that cage by using the operation (addition, subtraction, multiplication, or division) shown by the symbol after the numeral. For example, the notation 6+ means that the numerals in the cage should add up to 6 and the notation 48x means that by multiplying the numbers in the cage you will get 48.

OPEN HOUSE TOURS

Monday, Nov. 12

5:00 p.m. - 8:00 p.m.

224 BLANCHE ST

Beautiful 8 bedroom, 2.5 bath house only 1 block from MTU Library. BONUS: There's a garage! This is new to the market and will not last long. The last time I gave tours 13 groups were vying for it! Available mid-May.

Rented to the Winning Bid!!

And here comes finals week to jack my style.

But that's alright
I got a broomball game to play tonight
Stops my bones from wondering
Just who I am, who I am, who I am
Oh, who am I? Mmm...

Well, some nights I wish
That the work would end
'Cos I could use some sleep for a change
And some nights I'm scared
I'll forget all this chem
Some nights I always win (I never win)

But I still wake up
I still fail your tests
Oh Prof, I'm still not sure what I try for, ohhh
What do I try for?
What do I try for?
Most nights I don't know... anymore!

So this is it? I sold my soul for this?
Washed my life of fun for this?

I put myself in debt for this?
No. When I read labs, when I read...
When I read labs, that's all they are.
When I get grades,
They fail one by one
So come on... oh, come on...
Oh come on.... OH COME ON!

Well, that is class, Tech, this is all

Five minutes in and I'm bored again
Ten semester of this,
I'm not sure if anybody understands...
This place is not for the faint of heart -
Study in groups, dude, you have to start...
Who the f*ck wants to cram alone
All holed up in the campus labs?

My heart is breaking for the Chem E's
And the con they call "design"
When I look into my housemate's eyes
Man, you wouldn't believe
The most explosive things
They can come from... some terrible
LiiiiiiiiEEEEEEEEE[autotune]
EEEEess...

The other night, you wouldn't believe
The dream I had about being free
I went to bed, and we'd both agree
It's for the best we skip this lecture
It's for the best we get our sleep in,
oh... ☺

Comp. Editor's Note: applauding this parody during lecture is totally legit and will give you +1 chillness for the day.

Get to Know the Bullstaff!...Next Week

By Cameron Long ~ Daily Bull

My Get to Know the Bullstaff series will return next Tuesday. Many apologies for promising one this week and not following through, but I have many good reasons for it, like....swag...internet cats...and yolo? Anyway, I've realized that I need some new interview questions to ask my fellow writers. With over a dozen staffers left to go, the same 25-or-so questions will get very old very quickly.

That's where you guys, our loyal readers, come in! I need more questions to ask! What do you want to know about our staff? Let me know at bull@mtu.edu and I'll work the good ones into the rotation.

Now that I've gotten through the business, here are some tips for first years heading toward their first finals season:

1. Keep staying up til 2am or later. The stress on your body totally isn't setting you up to crash.
2. You don't need to worry about that 0% attendance/participation grade.
3. Drink loads of Monster. A good chemical addiction to caffeine will help you focus. Good luck! ☺

check for such shenanigans that may give away the presence of a gremlin. Thus far there have been no fatalities or plane crashes as a result of gremlins, but that doesn't mean that the FAA isn't worried. The gremlin alert level is red, the highest it's been in since the alert level was instituted in 1984, and we're just waiting for the first story to break about gremlin caused accidents beginning to occur.

It seems the infestation is currently spreading south as the north is getting too cold for the creatures. Due to the sparsity of civilization up here, they're not expected to return for some time, but could easily do so at a later date when the weather has warmed up. The NISC is expecting there to be a large explosion of population once the gremlins hit larger population centers like Minneapolis, Milwaukee, or Chicago, before moving south to Texas, Alabama, and other summer states.

Be vigilant readers, and keep an eye out for this dangerous, fuzzy little creature. If you see one, please kill it, check for any damage to surrounding equipment, and then report it to the authorities. They will make sure to file it with the proper agencies, to try and take out the Gremlin before it can spread (hopefully). ☺
