No Porn For Assholes

by Sam Schall ~ Daily Bull

A new mandate has passed through under the noses of all in the post election season in light of several states becoming pro same sex marriage. The online porn giants, Redtube and Pornhub, lobbied for this bill and have swept through the online porn community to assure an equal mandate throughout.

The new mandate, nicknamed NPP for "No Porn for Phobes," has passed overwhelmingly, giving way to the new views the young people have on the world and one of the biggest problems around being "homophobic" or the dislike against and misunderstanding of the LGBTQIA community. While there was some opposition against it and there are sure to be sites popping up around the net to undermine the efforts of the bill, the idea is sweeping and evolutionary.

The NPP states that no porn will be accessible to people

A Day In The Life Of A 5th Year

by Olivia Zajac ~ Daily Bull

Fuck, it's snowing? Damn it, now I have to leave like 10 minutes earlier to clear my car off. Stupid snow. At least Houghton is good at keeping the roads clear OH WAIT. Guess it's a good thing my 9am is cancelled because I wasn't planning on going anyways. Shower? Nah. I don't wanna deal with my hair freezing to my head, nor do I want to take the extra five minutes to dry it. Winter hat all day? I think so. Hm. These pants are clean enough. So is this shirt. I can eat breakfast in my 10am. Gotta time this so I juuuust make it to class on time so I can sleep more. Optimization in practice, bitches.

Huh. It's actually kinda cold out with that wind. I need to remember to find my gloves and winter coat. Might be useful now that it's not getting warmer than 27 degrees.

Oh hey, they didn't throw sand on the sidewalks on MacInnes? I'll just walk in the street. Way safer. Hey, what is this Fill the grid with the digits 1-8 so as not to repeat a digit in any row or column so the digits within each heavily outlined box or boxes (cage) will produce the target number shown in that cage by using the operation (addition, subtraction, multiplication, or division) shown by the symbol after the numeral. For example, the notation 6+ means that the numerals in the cage should add up to 6 and the notation 48x means that by multiplying the numbers in the cage you will get 48.

weird, warm thing on my face? Sunlight? Holy shit, I'm awake early enough to see the sun? Today is gonna be a good day.

Fuckgoddamnitcocksucker I fucking wiped out. Glad I didn't crack my skull. That $50,000 education woulda been gone in a flash. Oh, and that whole head trauma thing too. I guess that would be bad. I probably wouldn't be able to drink for awhile if that happened.

Glad I'm so poor that I just bring a can of soup for lunch every day. Still better than dorm food, and way the fuck cheaper than MUB food. Luckily I have set up a nest in the student org office and have a full place setting for myself to use whenever needed. It's needed, since I won't be leaving campus until parking ban for the rest of the semester. Specially since I actually had to register my car this semester, they'll track me down and make me pay those stupid parking tickets. Or my car will get plowed, which is worse.

Class at 3pm? That's cute. NAPTIME. IN CLASS. Suck it professor.

Hm. It's dark out. Whatever. Gotta go spend the next 6 hours in various team meetings, all conveniently located in the basement lab. I think I spend more time there than that apartment I pay rent for. Yup. Time to go harass other classmates for homework answers I haven't figured out, in hopes that they have. Referencing. It's called referencing. Or a trade if you give them food for it. Totally legit.

Oh, those silly freshman, complaining about how much stuff they have to do. It's cute. I remember when I didn't understand how to make Excel my bitch or how to write a memo. Can do that shit while drunk now. That's what a Tech education really gives you. Doing normal student things, whilst intoxicated, and still doing it better than everyone else. Huh. No one else is in the lab? Maybe I should go home... ☹

by BIG O ~ Daily Bull

In a rare as balls event a lightning storm in North Carolina has struck 1000 victims simultaneously this past thursday. The storm itself was a random occurrence, one that the National Weather Service itself had not predicted.

Residents of the area were shocked when thunder and lightning began to strike down all around them. Residents boarded up homes and prepared for the worst.

"We thought the whole world was coming down. God hath wrought the event down upon those sinners who angered Him the most." said one rather nice looking and well tempered old lady. Scientists and statisticians however are looking for a more plausible answer, one that doesn't invoke God. Statisticians are currently baffled as they even is considered to be extremely rare for 1 or even 2 people, but 1000 has never been heard of before.

"Well It's definitely more rare than winning the lottery" said one statistician.

In slightly less exciting news, 2 people have won the 550 million powerball, a lottery estimated to be harder to win than being struck by lightning by a factor of 500 times. Scientists and statisticians are unsure if the two events are related, of if there's no link between the two. ☹ that are so called "homophobes" and are unjustifiably hateful to those that fall under the community's banner. The restriction will be across online for the next few months before moving into the pay-per-view and other rental options. Playboy seems to be eager to back up the movement, though there are some concerns on how the magazines would be kept from those who are restricted from viewing.

Testing for homophobia would be simple with a quick online interview that is kept in a database. Those under 18 are obviously discouraged from trying to access the websites that would require this interview but doing interviews early may help catch signs of homophobic people and help them with any issues they may have.

Homophobes or people who claim to be homophobic are welcome to learn about the community and become more open minded about things. When one thinks they are ready, they are welcome to retake the interview and lose the restriction of the porn. The interview can only be taken every 6 months, though there is a restriction of 3 attempts, so those who try to beat the system are discouraged. If the 3 times are used up, a permanent ban is put on you and only removable with a long and pricy jurisdiction.

The reason behind this? To open people's minds. As Morgan Freeman tweeted this past August: "I hate the word homophobia. It's not a phobia. You are not scared. You are an asshole." And assholes don't deserve good fapping material. ☹
