

The Daily Bull is probably not suitable for those under the age of 18 and should not be taken seriously...

The Daily-ish Bull

-Like The Onion, but shittier!

IT'S BEEN 1620 C.E.
DAYS SINCE OUR LAST SHITSTORM!

Thanksgiving Survival Guide

Sergeant Standish, First Class

Greenies like you lot are preparing to face down a day of feasting, football, and family you haven't seen in a long time- for good reason. I bet you're dreading that one uncle who's going to make everything political and then everyone will get their tailfeathers in a wad. But at the end of the day, I hope you're stuffed- it makes it easier to avoid all you come Christmas season.

Every year, us birds of a feather can't flock together- we've got to make ourselves scarce, blend in with the ruffage, and lay low until after the holidays. A seasoned (with time, not thyme) veteran like me knows his way around surviving this time of year. Because I woke up on the right side of the foxhole this morning, I'll give you new recruits some of my survival tips and tricks to get you through the holidays.

First: a good turkey knows the most important thing hunters look for is size. For turkeys, being too plump makes you an easy and attractive target, but if you're too small, winter will hit you like a Humvee on a hot tin roof. It's the same way with family dinner: if you look too skinny your grandma will insist you eat more, but if you look too fat you'll get laughed at by the rest of your extended family. Being the right size is key, but even if it's too late to actually change that, you can still conceal it: Baggy clothing helps both ways. In fatigues a strong bird like me looks small, if the enemy can even see me with my impeckable camo.

This brings me to my next tip: don't get seen. Hide in other rooms, especially if you have a fireplace or nice couches there. Avoid contact as much as possible, and when you have to get in and out as quickly as you can. Hit and run missions have never failed me: I have nabbed many bait seeds just by grabbing one or two at a time and then rushing back to cover. Same thing with Thanksgiving appetizers: grab a deviled egg or a carrot stick or chip and dip, then split before anyone's the wiser. If you do get caught under fire, with somebody asking you how school is going or have you found a job or internship or a S.O., give them a short answer and exit at the next opportunity. It is also important to remember there is strength in numbers: one turkey is a sitting duck, but with fifty turkeys the hunter's gonna think "damn that's a lot of turkeys". You're a lot more likely to make it in and out without engaging the enemy if you travel in a group, and you're also much less likely to be singled out and grilled- with questions, not in a barbeque.

Finally, the best holiday survival trick I'm gonna share (I can't go giving away all my best intel now, can I?): avoid Black Friday shopping like the plague. Take it from a trustworthy fowl like myself: the traffic? The lines? They ain't worth it. It's like a jungle every year, and for what? You bird-brains really think you're getting a deal when all that's happening is they're slapping a "SALE" sticker with a higher price on everything in the stores. A smart turkey knows to lie low and binge Netflix on a day like Black Friday. Then go out the next day and get yourself a nice ham for Christmas- that way, we don't gotta tussle. Sergeant Standish, Over and Out.

Most Visually Tolerable U.S. Politicians

Across

- 1) yaG & , "etum ro, kcis, daed eb retteB"
- 2) Grandson of 5 Across
- 3) Broke Osama's ankles in B-Ball
- 4) Said Kellyanne Conway kneeling "looked kind of familiar there"
- 5) "Mindblowing" ;) Good Looks
- 6) Staff assistant for the House Administration Committee
- 7) YNRF Chief of Staff w/ a Monopoly Man name
- 8) Only VP targeted for assassination

Hints

Down

- 1 UP) Goodest Boy From Minnesota
- 2) M.A. Major, Representative
- 3) 1st Millennial U.S. Senator (proceeds to get blamed for everything)
- 4) He likes rough riding ;)
- 5) "One of the worst and least memorable U.S. Presidents" (with that popped collar too daaaaamn)

This weekend, in Fisher 135:

11/05: 5:30 8:30 11:30

11/06: 5:30 8:30 11:30

Tickets are $3, concessions are $1 each for soda, popcorn, and candy.

The Daily Bull
 Ben Wittrop Editor-in-chief
 Kevin Li Vice President
 Christian Treasurer
 Clemmons Secretary
 Andrea Hernandez
 Carl Blair Advisor

staffwriters: Nuns on Ripple, Christian Naval, Buggy, Asian Daddy, Jane Scott

Copyright © 2021 The Daily Bull, a non-profit organization. All rights reserved. Articles may be freely distributed electronically or on file night talk shows provided credit is given, and that the notice is included. The Daily Bull reserves the right to refuse any ads or guest articles without reason. All opinionated letters sent to the editor will be treated as material to be published unless expressly stated otherwise. Original works published remain property of the creator, however The Daily Bull reserves the right to reprint any submission in future issues unless expressly stated other wise.

Advertising inquiries, question and comments should be directed to BULL@MTU.EDU. Guest submissions are welcomed and encouraged. Guest contributors may write under a pen name to remain anonymous.

DISCLAIMER: The Daily Bull is a satirical publication for entertainment purposes only. All stories in The Daily Bull are works of fiction and any resemblance to real events or people are coincidental.

How's MY Writing?
 Think you can do better?
 I'D LIKE TO SEE
YOU TRY
 Send feedback and challenges to
BULL@MTU.EDU

Questions, comments, concerns, advertising inquiries and hate mail also accepted.

Please

Hi, my name is Big Al, and I approve this message