Our Saviors From Cheesy Socialism

Cheeseless Nicky

Last night at 10 pm as the masses lined up at Douglass Houghton Hall's famous mac and cheese a terrible truth was revealed. The men wept and the women stood in surprised silence as they found out that all the mac and cheese was gone. Someone had gone and eaten all of that. Who could have done such a thing?

The answer, my dear reader, is none other than our savior Ivan Borisovich Semonov.

You see, Ivan's intention was not to ruin mac and cheese night but to save everyone from the evils of socialism. By giving away free food to the masses, the RAs of Douglass Houghton Hall were complicit in spreading this evil. There could only be one solution: to eat all of the mac and cheese. This is no simple feat for the mac is plenty and the stomach is but so limited. Thankfully Ivan had friends who could help him in his herculean task.

As the clock struck closer and closer to 10 o'clock, the mac bandits rolled out. Eventually, they made it to DHH and appeared before the RAs. Our angels of red, white, and blue tried explaining to the RAs what they were doing but it was no use. The RAs were too blinded by socialism to listen to reason, however. Unfortunately, our heroes had to "take them out". After the deed was finished, they could now commence their vital task. One by one each member of the group began to gorge themselves on the mac and cheese. No price is too great to save our fellow countrymen from the perils of shared food. After what seemed like days, our defenders of freedom finally finished all the mac. All that was left now were dirty pots and the smell of American pride in the air. That was when the denizens of DHH walked in. They were furious but our guardians soon soothed their woes. Ivan stood up and gave a speech to rival all speeches that came before and any that will come after. As he spoke, people wept, crickets quieted, and a bald eagle flew overhead. When he finished, there was nothing but stunned silence. Then someone started clapping. It soon became obvious who was clapping as none other than President of the United States Dark Brandon approached Ivan. Ivan did not care. Even though Brandon was offering compensation for his accomplishment, Ivan knew that saving MTU from collapsing due to the evils of socialism was payment enough.

And such ends our tale. But remember this, dear reader: when free food is being handed out, it is your duty to stop it. While it may seem inconsequential, the corruption of socialism is slow and insidious and if you do not stop it, then it will consume all that you love and care for.

Prospective Student Interviews: What Brought You to Tech?

Big Sephiroth

With this year's open-house starting up in full swing since we stopped caring about the ongoing pandemic, ~~potential victims~~ high school seniors from all over the state are arriving to view the campus they may someday call their ~~prison~~ home. These bright-eyed and ~~naive~~ youngsters will be sure to fit right in with our Husky family here at Michigan Technological University, so let us all wish them a warm and kind ~~warming~~ welcome! The Daily Bull staff, as journalists of the highest integrity, have spent the past days ~~interrogating~~ interviewing these prospective students to see what exactly it is that drew them to our beautiful campus!

"Oh, man, jeez there's so many awesome things about this school! Oh where to start, well, I just got back from the dining hall, and let me say that food was amazing! So many choices, I was kind of overwhelmed! Plus, there was a whole other dining hall also open! Campus is just so temperate too! The weather is perfect, not too cold but not too hot either! And I visited some of the lecture halls- since the student body is so small, I'm sure they'll never be too crowded or overwhelmingly smelly either! Surely nobody took any extra measures to make sure things on campus are nicer than they usually are in order to appeal to people like me. Man, I love taking things for granted!"

"I don't know. I don't know how I got here. I- I- just woke up on Walker Lawn and there's like... this force field that prevents me from leaving? Every time I get past a certain point, like Dunkin Doughnuts or half a mile past McNair hall, I just wake back up on Walker Lawn. I don't have cell reception - well, not like that would matter since my phone died days ago and- what day even is it?? It was October 3rd last time I checked and it's been so long since and I haven't seen the sun set once... It's been a little past noon for as long as I can remember. God, look at the sun up there, in its fixed position, taunting me. I want to go home. I want to go home. The sun is so bright. I want to go home. Please, I want to go home."
- Marie Kaufman

"In all honesty I just wanted to see the emergency phone from the "Please do not have an emergency in this location" meme I keep seeing on Reddit. Yep. It was there. Certainly was an emergency phone. Did not have an emergency in the location. 9/10." - Avery Sutton
