The Daily -ish Bull

-like The Onion, but shittier!

Meet the Internet Arguer Who's Never Won

u/Twit@Myspace

Holden McCox is a reserved man in his mid thirties, who lives in a small, tidy house in a quiet community in Realplace, Indiana. By day, he works as a snail farmer, earning a modest living to support his family. However, he also has what he likes to think of as a "secret alter ego" online.

"I do my most valuable work here" He says, gesturing towards his computer on his desk in his small office, adjacent his bedroom. The desk has a few books on the ground next to it, mostly relating to World War II, Lord of the Rings, and Star Wars, and several notebooks rest on top filled with notes and citations. These, he says, are just some of his references. Most of the information he gets are from his bookmarks on the internet, mostly Wikipedia.

McCox is a prolific internet debater, or as he prefers to call himself "a warrior for truth". He says he often frequents sites like Instagram, Twitter, Reddit, TikTok, Facebook, Quora, looking for people who are wrong about things or who disagree with him. Citing the availability of information on the internet these days, he notes that "To me, there really is no excuse for being wrong about anything ever." Thus, he has made it his mission to educate everyone on the internet who say something false by telling them, repeatedly, that they're stupid and wrong.

McCox has documents containing thousands of links and references archived with proper MLA citations, and usually cites those in his response. "In just 10 minutes of Googling, you can be an expert on most topics." Holden insists. "I can learn about exact tax code, legal precedent, court decision implications and United States governmental procedures all in under an hour with the power of Google on my side."

Despite his fervor and his ceaseless devotion to always reply and never let his opponent get the last word, McCox lamented that he's never "won" a debate. "Usually people end up just not replying without ever admitting they're wrong and I'm right." However, he also says he's been having some debates for years and are still ongoing. The longest has been 5 years now, in a reddit thread so deep that McCox says he hit the reply limit and they had to move it to DMs.

"The other guy keeps cycling back to the same few bullshit things" he says in frustration. According to McCox, the replies start to sound repetitive, as though they were being generated by a computer. Nevertheless, he'll never stop "Until the last wrongsayer knows I'm right."
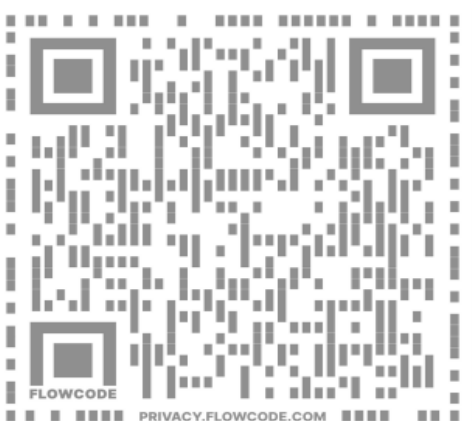

Final Project for MTU Majors

- Wildlife: Bear due at 11:59 PM
- Culinary: McNair spaghet sauceless
- Forestry : turn in an entire 100 foot oak tree
- CS: Shower or Code Yourself Some Friends in MIPS or Draw 25
- Software Engineerings: make the next ChatGPT
- CpE: RGB keyboard
- Electrical Eng: Turn in a Lightbulb
- Psych Majors: Be Happy
- English: Best Interpretations of the Term "Goblin Mode"
- Business Majors: Steal Someone Else's Projects and Submit
- Mechanical Eng: LEGO set
- Physics: Hadron collider
- Business Majors v2: Coloring Book
- Math Majors: Cancel Fall Break
- Material Science: Create a New Element
- Sustainable Bioproducts: Make an earth friendly plastic alternative and then mysteriously disappear
- CyberSec: Hack one of the following: Pentagon, NSA, Google
- History: Bring Back the Queen

- Finance: Do the Daily Bull's Finances
- PolSci: Argue
- Music: Sing Happy Birthday / Dance for me Peasant
- Humanities: Take an Engineering Course
- Bio: Do a Human Autopsy
- General Education: Get Your Shit Figured Out
- Philosophy Majors: Use 3+ Braincells
- Human Factors: Create the Matrix; Tell CS Majors How to Communicate
- Mining Engineers: Pick TwO: Mine Diamonds; Test Positive for Black Lung; Go to the Nether
- Chem Eng: Breaking Bad (See Greggy for Assistance)
- Chem: Baking Soda Volcano
- Sound: 🔊
- Sounding: Don't Google It
- Robotics Engineering: Violate all three laws of Robotics
- Computer Engineering: Run Doom on Everything
- Aerospace: Paper Airplane -- Say it's Better than Everyone Else's
- Geospatial: Prove Flat Earth

- Civil: Rebuild the MEEM as Doofenshmirtz Evil Inc.
- Law: Frame Roger Rabbit
- Accounting: Open Microsoft Excel
- Biomedical: Apply a bandaid
- Sports Medicine: Become a gym bro
- Nursing: Colonize Finlandia
- Anthropology: Figure Out What Anthropology is
- French: Va te faire foutre
- Italian: Beat every Mario Game in Chronological Order
- Spanish: Fuck the Line (r/NoContext)
- Medieval Literature: Go to the Dark Ages (Magic Tree House Provided)
- Archaeology: Recreate Jurassic Park Or Velocipastor
- Photography: Open Disney+
- Field Trip: Cruise down on Main Street
- Human Biology: Create a Penis Enlargement Pill
- Marketing: Sell Penis Enlargement Pills
- Baking: Make special brownies
- Constitutional Law: Make America Great again

Hi, my name is Big Al, and I approve this message