What Accent?

By Bill Melcher ~ Daily Bull

Coming from downstate, the difference in speech patterns is quite astonishing. If you're not from down under or are ignorant, allow me to explain. Michigan DOES have an accent, no matter how many times we tell ourselves otherwise.

It's simple: open your mouth as little as possible so most of the sound comes out your nose, and be sure to emphasize then vowels as much and as nasally as possible.

Most people don't even notice. This "Michigan" accent is not musical or attractive; in fact it makes me grimace on occasion. Back home when my boss would end a phone call, without fail she said "kayyy ... THANKS ... mmBAI."

Y'all thought "bai" came from the internet. That shit came from southwestern Michigan. Some say "waynt" instead of

Doe Season

By Olivia Zajac ~ Daily Bull

Another perspective on the infamous "dear season" question... mwahaha!

A wondrous event is taking place on campus; Open Season. No, not the one that requires actual guns, but the "Damn, look at his guns!" kind of guns. It is Doe Season on campus.

What is Doe Season, you ask? Why, look around you! Those wide eyed freshman girls are ripe for the taking, and there aren't enough for everyone. Now, you may have a few questions, such as "How can I tell if a girl is a freshman?" or "Is there a way I can tell if there are any Does left for me?" or "Why the hell is a chick the one writing this article?" Anyhow, I'll provide you with your very own field guide of finding these elusive single girls on campus:

Just look at the size of her rack! Holy hell Batman! Amazing!

1) They dress in something other than jeans, a T-shirt and flip flops/hot-heels. These young Does have yet to adapt to the new environment, and haven't figure out they really don't have to try so hard.

2) Does with travel in packs. Why? Safety in numbers. While most Does actually desire to be picked out of the herd, they're a bit too scared of the number of people who don't shower/use deodorant/change clothes from the night before.

3) Make-up, and lots of it. Adapted Tech girls have realized that anything past some chapstick and possibly mascara is just not needed on a day to day basis.

4) They will carry a backpack AND a ...see Bambi on back

Jim and Clara enjoyed ♡♦○, in fact they loved it so much that they decided to have it on the roof. Jim was very ☘♦■♡□▣ so he asked Clara if he could taste her ♣□□△. She said yes, and Jim enjoyed every lick, slurp, and bite of Clara's juicy ♣□□△.

Clara figured since Jim got some of her ♣□□△, she could get some of his ●☉○♀. Of course he said yes, what man wouldn't say yes to a girl asking him for his ●☉○♀?

After Clara and Jim finished, Clara licked every last drop of ◆♣☉ off of Jim's ●☉○♀ because she loved it so much, and a lot of ◆♣☉ had spilled onto Jim's ●☉○♀.

 purse. This still baffles me. There is no point to carry that much crap with you to classes. Yet, they haven't figured this out, even if they have to trek the McNair Hill.

5) Does will be brave enough to stare down males. And by stare down, I really mean stare at the most buff buffman that walks in front of them, and scowl and turn up their noses at those males who do not meet their standards.

Don't let the name fool you! Tech Does are not always as docile as the "wait". Others yet add syllables to the ends of words. They don't seem to be aware of what is happening, and are oblivious to the butchering the English language is enduring under their command.

For instance: "I know-ah". There aren't any hard vowels in "know", so what did we do? Added one. That's how we roll in the Bible belt. "Stahp it". Nope. Jan-ice from "Friends" sounds like she was born in New York and raised in "lan Ahrberr". If you're from Minnesota, this article is likely lost on you, but perhaps I've opened the ears of some down-staters. Every time I come here, it's a comfort to hear the soft, homely, musical Yooper/Canadian accent. Have a good one, eh? 🌻 cute ones in Disney movies. These Does think they're hot shit because they go to a school where the word "ratio" strikes fear into hearts and groins of anyone with a penis. One was quoted as saying, "Like, there are about 10 guys to every girl walking around on campus. Why wouldn't they want me? I'm even using a Bump-it and they think my hair just does that! I don't even think that guys know what a Bump-it is..." She then continued to blather and about three guys walking by started fighting over "the one with the huge hair".

And on the note of hair, don't assume that long hair equals girl. When you go to a school where people forget to shower, you can be damned sure they'll forget about haircuts. Don't go tackling what you think may be a girl from behind in hopes of dragging her back to your dorm. Both heads may be disappointed when the tackled person turns out to be a skinny dude with long, luxurious hair.

Have fun with Doe Season, as it is short lived. Good luck to those in the hunt, and be aware, we know that's not a calculator in your pocket. 🌻
