

DAILY BULL

The Daily Bull is probably not suitable for those under age 18 and should not be taken seriously... like the birthday girl!

Monday, September 20, 2010

"I have the heart of a child. I keep it in a jar on my shelf."
-Robert Bloch

Student Dies in Freak 22-story Beer Bong Accident

By Liz Fujita ~ Daily Bull

ATLANTA – A Georgia college student passed away earlier this week following a freak accident at a party late Sunday night. Mark Delacruz was attempting to set a school height record by drinking an ice cold Bud Light through a 22-story beer bong, not considering the repercussions of physics, gravity, and the fortitude of his digestive sphincters.

Delacruz, a third-year art history major, had purchased a length of rubber tubing from the engineering department at his local college. He dropped it from the window of a large banking building, attached a funnel, then ran down all 22 floors to attempt the feat.

His friend Nicholas Bering manned the funnel, ice cold brewski in hand for deployment.

On a count of "one, two,
...see holy beer-shit on back

New Jersey Powers Entire East Coast

By Matt "Undercover Minority" Villa ~ Daily Bull

In a shocking recent development, the inhabitants of New Jersey have actually contributed something positive to the rest of the country. About a month ago, Biological Sciences students from Michigan Technological University made a discovery that will quite possibly put their school at the forefront of anatomical sciences. They have discovered a chemical that the body releases into the blood during specific emotional states.

"Basically, whenever a person acts like a tool, a douche bag, or just plain rude or idiotic, the body begins to release this chemical that we dubbed JB-1, or Jaeger Bomb-1." explains MTU grad student Rex Steel whilst taking his unneeded glasses off, "The reason for this is due to the strange effect that this chemical has on the body. In addition to decreasing intelligence a few points, it makes the subject crave alcohol and caffeine, specifically in the form of the notorious J-bomb."

What makes the discovery so important is how this new chemical can be used.

JB-1 has enough stored energy within its chemical bonds that when burned it releases the energy in the same way coal or oil does. This knowledge coupled with the fact that the chemical is flushed out of the body via urination, and easily extracted and processed, means that there is a possibility for a sustainable renewable energy source.

"When we discovered the possibilities
...see tool-kit on back

The current major source of power on the eastern seaboard. We salute you almighty tools!

Egyptian paper uses photoshop.
They have photoshop?

Monday MAD LIBS

The Daily Bull presents: MONDAY MAD LIBS! Each Monday, we'll feature Mad Libs for you to fill out an enjoy. Plus, if you fill it out and think yours is the best and most hilarious, submit it to us at bull@mtu.edu - we might just feature it in one of our issues!

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS: FILL IN THESE BLANKS. THEN FLIP THE BULL OVER TO SEE A PARAGRAPH WITH MISSING WORDS - ADD YOURS! TA DA!

MAD LIB 1: Vote for Slowpoke

Adjective: _____

Plural Noun: _____

Letter of alphabet: _____

Liquid: _____

Food: _____

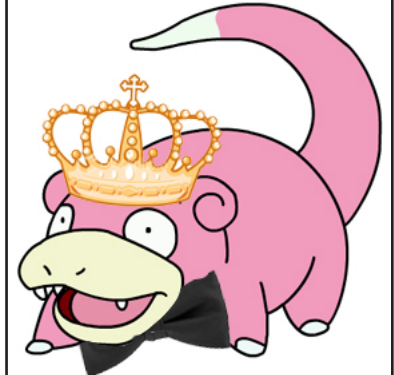

Building: _____

Adverb: _____

Noun: _____

Article of Clothing: _____

VOTE SLOWPOKE FOR HOMECOMING KING

SPONSORED BY THE DAILY
BULL. VOTE VOTE VOTE
OH MY GOSH VOTE!

Check Out Our Daily Specials On Our Facebook Page! Or Enjoy a 10% Student Discount On All Other Pizza Orders! If You Have Great Taste, The Studio Pizza is the Only Pizza that Tastes Great!!

STUDIO PIZZA

have you had a piece lately?

STUDIO PIZZA 482-5100

2010 HOMECOMING ALUMNI BROOMBALL TOURNAMENT

Do you like Broomball? Do you like to fill out brackets for the NCAA Basketball Tournament? Do you like to help those in need? If you answered yes to any of these: we have an answer for that, the Homecoming Bracket Challenge brought to you by the Michigan Tech Alumni Association and IRHC Broomball. All you have to do is visit www.broomball.mtu.edu and print off a bracket and bring it to the Broomball office in Wads 624 with a $1.00 registration fee. All the proceeds go to charity. Also, there will be door prizes. Just make sure you have your brackets turned in before Wednesday, September 29.

THIS MAN CLEARLY WON THE BEARDS CONTEST BACK IN THE EIGHTEEN-NINETEEN-FOURTEENS. YE OLDE CARNIVALE!

... tool-kit from front

for the use of JB-1 as fuel, we set up collection and processing centers in and around bars at the source of all douche-baggery, the Jersey Shore.” continues Mr. Steel, “The experiment was so successful that we opened up a distribution center that has so far been capable of powering the entire East Coast with just the JB-1 collected from the New Jersey area. We’ve even been sponsored by Snookie.”

JB-1 has been so successful a power source that many new production centers have been created in cities like New York, Philadelphia, and Los Angeles. New international sites have started to pop up as well, on countries like Italy, France, and Football arenas throughout the European Union. Tests are currently being run to figure out how environmentally friendly JB-1 is, but so far nothing has come back to say that it has any adverse effects. So to the smart students at MTU, and to all those who will fuel our way into the future with their drunken idiocy, we salute you. 🍻

Daily Bull

EDITOR IN CHIEF
Liz Fujita

ROCKET GRUNT/COMP EDITOR
Jon "Big O" Mahan

BREAD WINNER
Simon Mused

FACULTY ADVISOR
David Ray-gun Olson

MONOPOLY GUY
Alec Hamer

SCRIBE
Stephen Whittaker

Liz Fujita, Jeremy "Mr. Sunshine" Loucks, Simon Mused, Jon "Big-O" Mahan, Alec Hamer, John Pastore, Matt Villa, Mary Kennedy, Ruben Garcia, Kiri Kennedy, Benjamin Loucks, Lauren Allen, Stephen Whittaker, Sam Schall, Sandra Custer, Frank McGuire, Mike Caradwell, Bryne Judy, Jeremy Moore, Bill Melcher, Jeremy Moore, Kyle Roe, Cameron Long, Olivia Zajac, and Puckman.

©2010 by the Daily Bull, a non-profit organization. All rights reserved. Articles may be freely distributed electronically or on late night talk shows provided credit is given, and that this notice is included. The Daily Bull reserves the right to refuse any advertisements or guest articles without reason. All opinionated letters sent to the editor (on paper or to bull@mtu.edu) will be treated as material to be published unless expressly stated otherwise by the sender. Original works printed in the Daily Bull remain the property of the creator, however the Daily Bull reserves the right to reprint any submissions in future issues unless specifically asked not to do so by the creator. If you keep reading this small text, you'll exit stage left.

The Daily Bull would like to thank the Daily Bull for buying our own damn printer that this publication is printed on. We would also like to thank the Student Activity Fee for helping to pay for our paper and toner costs.

Advertising inquiries, questions & comments should be directed to bull@mtu.edu

Vote for Slowpoke! Brought to you by Liz Fujita

Slowpoke is a really _____ (adjective) guy. He's involved with at least three _____ (plural noun) on campus, and gets _____'s (letter of the alphabet) in all of his classes. He has never gotten drunk on _____ (liquid), but to be honest he has a bit of a _____ (food) problem. He even had to go to the _____ (building) for a serious _____ (plant) overdose. With all that behind him, Slowpoke now feels he can represent us _____ (ad-verb). So put in your _____ (noun) for Slowpoke! He promises to wear a _____ (article of clothing) during the parade!

... holy beer-shit from front

th-threeeee,” the already inebriated duo launched the beer. It trickled down the sides at first, then slowly gained momentum until it was pouring toward the elated Delacruz.

“By the time the beer got down all the floors to Mark’s mouth, he was facing a giant pulse of liquid all at once,” noted Michigan Tech physics major Perry Nerem. “It’s like looking up when you stand on a waterfall, or those dumb turkeys that look up during a rainstorm.”

The beer, after sliding its way down the whole length of tubing, entered Delacruz’s mouth at warp speed. His epiglottis, having no time to react, welcomed part of the Bud into his lungs while the rest smashed through his stomach and intestines. “The velocity carried it all the way through the guts and out the other end,” Nerem added. His stomach, not prepared for icy delicious assault, actually exploded with joy.

The spewing force of beer exiting Delacruz’s posterior end was sufficient to propel him 7.25 inches off the ground, an experience he described as “HOLY SHIT” shortly before he crumpled to the ground in multiple, soaking pieces.

His accomplice, Bering, declared the feat as “Frrrrrcking swееееет man,” before fainting into an alcohol-induced sleep.

Police are still investigating why the engineering department never questioned Delacruz’s intentions when he purchased nearly 300 feet of rubber tubes. The department head merely suggested Delacruz could have been working on a design project, though he made little comment on the student’s previous legal misfortunes.

“Mark was on disciplinary probation his first year for rigging all the drinking fountains on campus with Ever-clear,” explained his father. “Later he successfully spray painted eyeballs on every door in his dormitory, and filled the fire sprinklers with heavy whipping cream.” The Whipped Cream Storm of 2008 earned Delacruz a two-day prison sentence.

Before authorities could collect, investigate, and destroy the evidence, a group of Alpha Sigma Sigma brothers swiped the beer bong away to be put in the frat’s trophy cabinet.

Nicholas Bering is currently under charge of involuntary manslaughter, though lawyers hope to get him off easy with claim of insanity. “Even if they don’t buy that alcohol constituted insanity, I think we have a strong case that anyone would be insane to think 22 stories of beer was a good idea,” legal reps told the Bull.

Bering declined comment, but did mutter something about using the rocket propulsion of his friend as a senior design in another life. 🍻

ADVANCED METALWORKS ENTERPRISE

Imagination is the one weapon in the war against reality.

Join us Mondays @
6PM in M&M 610
All Majors Welcome!

Did you know that you can sign up for the Daily Bull’s email list? Every day, you’ll get a shiny new Bull in your inbox! Sometimes, we may even tell you a funny story or include a cool picture - JUST FOR YOU!

Shout to bull@mtu.edu!
C’mon! Everybody’s doing it. EVERYBODY!