Four Loko? More like F!ck Loko

From Alec Hamer ~ Daily Bull

Ever hear of Four Loko? Yes, the Four Loko that gets you "really fucked up." You know, the one in the brightly colored can that advertises "12.0 percent by alcohol by volume" right on the can?

If not, Four Loko is an alcoholic beverage/energy drink that has just come under ever increasing scrutiny for reported consequences upon consumption of the malt beverage. Four Loko is 12.0% ABV, comes in a 23.5 ounce can and costs around $2.50. But stop! Before you run out the door to buy some, make sure you understand something first. Within one can is the caffeine of around two cups of coffee and the alcohol content of six light beers.

On top of that, one can contains more calories than a Big Mac. That's a lot of shit to

A Long Time Ago in a Band Room Far, Far Away

By Cameron Long ~ Daily Bull

Once upon a time, the Bones were invented. This happened shortly after there were none at all. People marveled at its elegant simplicity, its tone that was in turns strikingly beautiful and piercingly kickass, it's sheer badassitude, and the fact that generations of brass players could now yell, "Look at the size of my Bone!" to distract opposing free-throw shooters. The Bones enjoyed many years of prosperity, playing the best music anyone had ever heard.

One day, however, a faction of Bones decided they would be jerks and that the trombone did not represent the pinnacle of musical engineering. These heathens accosted a poor trombone and subjected it to all manner of tortures (unexpected, not unlike the Spanish Inquisition): they cut it in half, crudely welded valves into the middle and its slide shut, and proceeded to bend the bastard instrument into a rather small and ugly shape.

It was dubbed the "trumpet" and then quickly shortened to "rumpet" because removing one letter makes things cool. These few original trumpet players inexplicably became popular and multiplied, turning untold numbers of prospective brass players to the Dark Side, telling them, "Resistance is futile." Yes, that was a Star Wars reference and a Star Trek reference in the same sentence. The trumpets spread their

The 21st Century "Jack"

By Bill Melcher ~ Daily Bull

She gave me the stare
 She said "baby come here"
 She was wheelin' and dealin'
 Just doin' her thing
 I was eyein' her pair
 and I had to try
 Her dance was wild
 and my ass was high
 But how was I to know
 That she'd been around before
 Said she'd never used a condom
 But I should have known
 From the tattoo on her left leg
 It was of a big ruler
 With marks and names up and down it
 Of guests from the past

She's got the Clap (x8)
 She's got the Clap, Clap, Clap, Clap,
 Clap, Clap, Clap
 She's got the Clap

Poker face was her song
 Poke in bed was her nature
 Playin' straight was her game and she knew she could get you
 She play'd 'em fast

And she play'd 'em hard
 She could close her eyes
 And know you were hard
 But how was I to know
 That she'd been ruffled before
 Said she'd never had a disease test
 But I should have known

That we both were comin'
 all up in the sack
 And if I'd known what she was dealin' out
 I'd have pulled it back

She's got the Clap (x2)
 She's got the Clap, And who knows what else?
 She's got the Clap, yeah, yeah

She's got the Clap, Clap, Clap, Clap,
 Clap, Clap, Clap
 She's got the Clap, Ooh, was a bad idea, Clap
 She gave me the Clap, hey
 She's got the Clap, She's got the Clap,
 She's got the Clap
 Ooh, can't ya smell?
 She's got the Clap, Clap, Clap, Clap,
 Clap, Clap, Clap
 Doctor's office, prescription of pills
 She's got the Clap, She's got the Clap
 She's got the Clap, and it burns!
 She's got the Clap, Clap, Clap, Clap,
 Clap, Clap, Clap
 She's got the Clap

 founding principles throughout the earth: egotism, erotic asphyxiation, and the idea that higher = better under all circumstances. Thousands of composers agreed, feeling that their scores had a distinct lack of beehive noise. Trumpets were then written into most pieces of music. Puke.

Even while riding this wave of new-found acceptance, they realized that they had some serious catching up to do in the coolness department. To this end, the trumpet players put their heads together (no really, it took all of them) and decided that it would be really cool if they set their instruments on fire! Fortunately, many of them died after trying to get all the way through Bohemian Rhapsody with blazing instruments stuck to their faces. Realizing that a Bone can do anything a rumpet can, only better, the legendary flame bone was formed out of a trombone and total awesomeness by a man named Lee. Some say that if you go watch the greatest pep band in the world, you can see the flaming Bones and rumpets battling to this very day. GO HUSKIES! 🐻 opinion. I mean, you have the caffeine, sugar, and alcohol all in one spot. I say put a filter on it and smoke it! It's the American way. It really is though. Think of America, a place where if it's good it can only be better in ever-increasing quantities. That's why, not only the creation of such a beverage but the over consumption of it doesn't seem to shock me too much.

Ever since college was invented drinking and overdrinking have always been an issue. Fortunately beer is usually the drink of choice. Sure it will get you drunk, but death is pretty easily avoided. There's no caffeine, and alcohol levels are kept at reasonpuke during chemistry? Slam a Four Loko. Need to get out of jury duty? Slam one! Who knew excuses came so cheap at $2.50 a can?

Unfortunately, so do consequences. Lost or stolen property? A night in jail? Unwanted pregnancy? All yours and more, thanks to Four Loko. 🐻
