Staying Awake in Class Before Exams

By Sam Schall ~ Daily Bull

Staying Awake in Class before Exams

As the semester comes to a slow, painfully painfully slow, end, we see around us people starting to doze off, either from staying up late last night to finish that term paper due this morning, getting in some good times with the other because they'll be too busy studying exam week, or from just pure exhaustion of the end of semester. In the end, though, is the same result of everyone falling asleep during exam reviews and failing the exam so bad that it has to be curved, no matter what your professor wants. If you want to be one of those who do manage to not catch some Z's in class and be at the top of the curve, here are a few ideas how to stay awake:

No Finals Please!

By Olivia Zajac ~ Daily Bull

Everyone's favorite time of the semester is here; the end! However, with this come these awful and unavoidable things called finals. If you feel like taking the risk, here are a few suggestions for trying to get out of your exams:

Fake a seizure. Make it very convincing, and bite a chunk of your tongue off for that authentic feel.

Puke on the scantron. And not just a little discolored spit. There needs to be enough substance that the professor or proctor can tell you've been living off vending machine food.

Black out, but not from alcohol. Pretty sure if the smell booze on your breath/clothing you're just SOL.

I feel like this every night with Digi Logic HW...

your always-late professor decides to show up (cough cough CORNILSEN cough cough)

Suck up, hardcore. It's never too late to be a kiss-ass, although the professor will most likely be suspicious. Try baking a cake. Totally got me out of my zoology final senior year with Mr. Raymond (Woo Carlson High School reference!)

Oh YEAH. Last day of classes. Some lucky bastards are already done. SHUN THEM

What is happening?!

STUDIO PIZZA

The trouble with eating a Studio Pizza is that five or six days later you're hungry again.

... Zzzzz... from front

Get 2 doggies shock collars and give one to someone you trust not to push the button just to amuse themselves. This way, if one of you starts dozing off, the other will just press the button and jolt the dozer awake. Just hope your partner isn't sadistic and turns it up all the way just to see you hit the ceiling and swear like a sailor. If they do, though, feel free to do the same and hope there's no damage to either of your nerves from the zap war soon to ensue.

Stay awake all weekend and you'll be sure to have to fall asleep on Sunday night to get a good night's sleep for Monday classes. Although this does come with the possibility that you do this already and know that it doesn't help and just causes you to be more sleepy and make's you hit your head on the desk or back of chair that much faster.

Coffee, Monsters and Red Bull are all full of energy and caffeine. These all already seem to help so well now, keeping the CSLC all awake for the all night gaming sessions they seem to have. It may even give you just enough energy to get to your 3 pm World Cultures class before you need another $3 half liter of the stuff to get you through till just after dinner when you realize you need one more to get till 1 am to finish your homework... see the nice cycle of spending $9 a day just to stay awake? Just what we need to spend what little money we have.

Don't fight the urge and just fall asleep, because we all know the classes that you are having the hardest time in are curved are going to be curved because everyone's going to fail that all important final with you. And the classes that don't have curves are usually easy enough that you get it without having to pay attention to the reviews. Those who have been falling asleep all year probably already know which classes they're failing and already planned to retake those ones, so as long as you get the grade you need, youre fine. 🍀

... Finally! from front

Slash your professor's tires. If they can't make it to campus...

Make up a realistic but terrible emergency. At the very least it should push your exam back.

Have your roommate kill themselves. The grief you're suffering from gets you automatic passes in all classes, right?

If you're a girl with a male professor; bitch endlessly and in great detail about how horrible your period is and that you have cysts on your ovaries which cause sight-blurring and barf-worthy cramps. Then cry. Uncontrollably. Until they just tell you to go home.

I can't guarantee that any of these will work or that any are even worth trying. Use at your own academic risk. 🍀

FINALS GOT YOU FEELING LIKE A SLUG IN A SALT MAZE?

EVERYWHERE YOU TURN, THE COLD BEADY EYES OF DEATH GLARE AT YOU.

YOU ARE ALL ALONE.

EXCEPT WITH THE BULL. WE'LL NEVER LEAVE YOU TO THE COLD, HARSH WORLD.

Games and funny pictures to give you a mental break. On distro racks live next week!

Scientists Find Diamond Planet

Almost on cue as the holiday season approaches, researchers have found a planet in our galaxy that could very well be comprised completely of diamonds. The planet they see is rich in carbon, the component of diamonds. The entire planet has landmasses, mountains of diamonds all over the planet. This has sent diamond speculative prices for the next 500 years into a steep decline, though today's, and the near future's stock prices of diamonds remain regulated and fixed by the ruling companies of the diamond industry.

Still, despite the impossibility of being anything realistic, many orange county wives have already begun the gabbing they're so good at.

"Oh my Janet, wouldn't a planet just look so good on my little finger here?"
"Oh wouldn't it Betty! I bet it would look darling on your finger. I'm sure your husband would love to buy you your own diamond planet!"

"He better be after how much I put out for him. I mean, I just did last night! That's like, the third time in our 7 year marriage! That's alot right?"
"Oh honey, Jim and I haven't even gotten to our 2nd time and we're only a year behind you!"
"Yeah but who needs husbands when you need poolboys!"
"Mmmhmm... You said it Betty!"

With many women in the California region wanting their own planets on their fingers, many husbands are flabbergasted at the possibility and the cost. Afterall, how to lessen the fall of their heart after NOT getting a planet for Christmas made out of diamonds?

And in other news, divorce attorneys are putting their ads out for the holiday season in record droves! Nobody is quite sure why.... More on this story in our segment at 8! 🍀
