The Daily Bull is probably not suitable for those under age 18 and should not be taken seriously... like having 3 classes on K-Day!

McLAIN ST. PARK, TODAY, RIGHT NOW - Keweenaw Day, a celebration of all things Keweenaw, will be occurring at McLain State Park. Keweenaw Day (K-Day for short) is a long-standing tradition here at Michigan Technological University with the first known written history of it going back to the early 1700's. Sparse records of its inception have been preserved, fortunately.

"It has been a long and arduous journey to the festivities, one involving much death and a great deal of finances. On the third day my closest friend Francois died. I don't think I will make it." This historical account given to us by The Other John Adams (October 30, 1735 - July 4, 1826). He goes on to say: "It's the sixth day and we are finally here! Oh-- it's so beautiful! Hack Paralyzes Local Golf Course

By Cameron Long ~ Daily Bull

Houghton, MI - Police are investigating an incident which happened on Labor Day at the Portage Lake Golf Course. According to eyewitness reports, a Michigan Tech student was seen to be hacking away, spraying golf balls all over the front nine. Golfers ran for their lives as clouds of cheap Top-Flites filled the air.

"We ran for our lives," said one golfer. "Even his partner had to cheese it."

His partner, only identified as Luke, was unavailable for comment. One officer said that he had been felled by a particularly errant shot from a 7 iron. Jorge Georges, resident golf pro, said that the fairways were so littered with balls that golf carts were unable to drive on the ground and, consequently, had to drive in reverse to travel forward. Most golfers gave up on using carts and decided to walk, prompting this statement from Georges:

Balls. EVERYWHERE THERE WERE BALLS.

"They abandoned the carts on the course. For simplicity, we classified them all as lateral hazards."

What with the carts and balls everywhere, and having to walk, the average time to complete a round rose dramatically, from approximately four hours, to a staggering 12 hours and 15 minutes. This incredible statistic led some of the less-hearty players to set out for the clubhouse. Unfortunately, many got lost, leading to a flood of 911 calls; one frantic caller, trying to identify his surroundings, couldn't be any more specific than,

"Trees. I see frakking trees, ok? Oh, and lots of bent grass."

The other golfers, being naturally stubborn, wouldn't even entertain the idea of quitting. Unfortunately, the gratuitous

Well hello there folks! My name is Bullhead.gif and I'm the smiling bull you see on the front of most every Daily Bull you'll ever read! As you can imagine, having graced so much of MTU with my awesome countenance, I have seen and heard many, many things in my time. Yes, even that. When you left me in your room and were... well, I won't go into details, but you should be terribly ashamed of yourself. Seriously.

But! I have seen much and heard much, and so I am going to release my normally kept-to-myself wisdom out into the world! Thus, here's how it works: you ask me, Bullhead.gif, any questions you just absolutely need the answer to. I, in my infinite wisdom, will answer your question decisively and with perfect, unyielding accuracy. Of course, the bean-counters tell me to note that I, and the rest of the Daily Bull staff, are not responsible for any idiotic actions you take as a result of my answers. But of course, who listens to bean-counters? NOT BULLHEAD.GIF! So without further ado, here we go!

What does it mean when my period's late? - Concerned MTU Memegirl

Well, Ms. Concernicus, a good answer to this question will require a detailed explanation of Advanced English Mechanics that is on par with most quantum physics classes. But, to simplify for your non-college-adjusted brain, we'll try this explanation: if your period is late, it means you probably have a run-on sentence. You're probably covering too many topics in one various student organizations recruit- ing and even a beach!"

Luckily, the jour- ney has since changed (read as: improved), but the fun re- mains the same. Whether you drive, take the bus, hitchhiker, waterski, llama ride, or bum a ride from a friend, getting to and from McLain State Park has never been easier! This year expect to see The Daily Bull, WMTU, CRU, Volleyball Club and many more student organi- zations getting out there and inform- ing you why they are worth your time.

Much fun can be had at K-day. Drinking aside.

In some cases, there will even be free shit.

I heard tell that the Lode gives out solid gold bars each year, so be sure to get violently angry at them if they claim that's false. "The Lode most definitely does not give away gold," insisted staff member Luke Gublo. The Daily Bull suspects this is a cover-up, and urges everyone to spark a revolution against them if there is no treasure being given away.

There are a lot of student organiza- tions vying for your time, so I suggest doing what I do and making a K-Day schedule. The concept is demon- strated below in my very-much-unof- ficial-official K-Day schedule.

8 a.m. - 12 a.m.: Normal class sched- ule. Nothing to see here. Move along.

12 a.m. - 4 p.m.: K-DAY!! So much free shit, SO MUCH FUN!!! Make sure you get a free meal out of it. Also make sure you find out what the coolest freebie is and hunt it down like the wolf you are. You must not leave until you have one (or many) in your possession.

4 p.m. - 5 p.m.: Eat dinner. Get full.

5 p.m. - 7 p.m.: Binge drink

Approximately 7 p.m.: Blackout

11 p.m.: Regain bearings followed by more binge drinking

2 a.m.: Blackout once again (Blackout 2: Revenge of the Blackout)

As you can see, K-Day is a very fulfill- ing day for incoming MTU freshmen and seniors alike with lots of activities, both sponsored and unsponsored and quantum-sponsored. There might even be Spencered events, depending on who your friends are. SEE YOU THERE.👉

round time led to them missing meals.

This intrepid reporter was forced to flee when a roving band of hunger- crazed, club-wielding players spotted a power bar which was sticking out of my pocket. As I was running for my life, I noticed the drink and snack cart overturned near the 5th green, completely stripped of comestibles. The golfer responsible for this mess only agreed to speak under the condition of anonymity, though I can report that he has an interest in trombones and a penchant for whole grain baking.

"Ok, I really screwed up, alright? I had a bad day on the links. But I didn't really do anything wrong, you know?"

Police agreed with him and are declin- ing to charge him with anything, despite Portage Golf's objections. He is, how- ever, banned from the course for life.

"No, I don't think I deserved it. But it won't stop me from pursuing the game. I'll find another course to call home."

Police throughout the northern Mid- west have been alerted.👉

sentence and thus nobody will figure out what it is you're talking about and everyone will laugh at you for not fol- lowing proper grammatical structure where you should have been paying attention in high school English class and not texting on your phone with little phrases like "LOLOMG" and "WUT U DOIN AFTER CLSS!"

That, my darling fans, was one example of how horribly things can go wrong when your periods are late.

Or, it could just be that your post-orien- tation fling was a retard and 'forgot' to wrap his tool. Congratulations, you now have the worst STD of all: pregnancy! Have fun with that!

What's the EERC Tree? - Ignorant Fuck

...Many many millennia ago, in a galaxy pretty, pretty close to us, the EERC Tree simply began to exist. And life was good. The tree was a wise tree; it was not fooled by the grail-shaped bea- con, and it knew the airspeed velocity of an unladen swallow (African AND European). It also knew that someday, it would need to help provide the

at-the-time nonexistent Michigan Tech with much-needed amounts of PURE AWESOME. Thus, in its infinite wisdom (quite parallel to my own, but perhaps even surpassing my knowledge), it created the Huskies Pep Band, and of course, The Daily Bull. The tree was only recently cut down in its prime; however, the ghost of the EERC Tree still watches over us, serving as the president of everything ever. Worship the EERC tree, for when it was struck down, it became more powerful than you could possibly imagine.

Now then, I'm sure you have awe- some questions you want answered too. And I want to answer them! How do you ask them? Simple. E-mail your question to my press agent, at bloucks (at) mtu.edu , and he'll forward them on to me so that I can share my wisdom to all. Seriously, do it. I'll answer any- thing. I'm shameless. It's hard to have shame after having to see what YOU were doing in your dorm room a few days ago. Alone. In the dark. Would it hurt to just... put me somewhere where I don't have to see that? Have some courtesy man...👉
