

DAILY BULL

The Daily Bull is probably not suitable for those under age 18 and probably should not be taken seriously... like trolling the law!

Monday, October 17, 2011

You can go a long way with a smile. You can go a lot farther with a smile and a gun.
Al Capone

MDOT REPORTS INCREASED BADGER ROADKILL IN UPPER MICHIGAN

by Liz Fujita ~ Daily Bull

LANSING, MI – The Michigan Department of Transportation offices in Lansing are reporting that an unprecedented number of drivers are reporting badger-related collisions, especially in the Upper Peninsula. Most major insurance companies (including AAA) have auto insurance packages that cover deer and moose and such things, but the state is beginning to recommend that northern drivers add badger insurance to their standard coverage.

“Hundreds of people called in this weekend to say that dead badgers have been littering roads like US-41, M-26, and local logging roads,” noted Kirk Steudle, Director of MDOT. “We estimate that at least 20 badgers were splattered against car windshields. It’s simply outrageous.”

... see 20 Seconds on back

News in Briefs: HuskyLead Seminars a.k.a. FOLLOW ME EVERYONE!

by Ruben "21" Garcia ~ Daily Bull

Readers, I don't know if you have been living under a rock like I've been, but apparently there is a series of seminars that teach you how to be a leader. I have compiled this brief summary with the topics of each seminar.

Foundations of Leadership – Tuesday, October 11 – Oops, my bad. I guess this has passed already. I have been living under a rock lately. [Its large, hard and oppressive....I named it 'senior year']. But this portion doesn't seem too important, right? I mean, the Tower of Pisa had a good foundation and look where it's at. Amirite?

Robert's Rules of Order and How to Run a Meeting – Tuesday October 18 – So apparently this dictator Robert made a guideline on how to have a group discussion. While I like the Daily Bull's more alternative 'throw-chalk-as-fast-and-as-hard-as-you-can-at-the-heathen' technique, I guess one could learn a few more methods. Oh. My bad. Not dictator. Brigadier General. BRIGADIER GENERAL! O, captain my captain!

Teamwork – Tuesday October

25 – Apparently people will be able to utilize group dynamics. I don't know if this is some hidden power source or something like that mythical 'synergy' that business majors like to throw around, but hey, teamwork is always helpful. It takes a lot of people to cover a murder. I mean, what?

... see These are my people on back

Now this is my kind of leadership event. Me-ow... I mean woof!

Apparently, the only thing newsworthy is HVZ... Except not! HUSKIES > BADGERS

Just another manic Memeday

EERC TREE?

IT'S SO SMALL, WHAT'S THE BIG DEAL?

STUDIO PIZZA

PIZZAS PIZZA LOVERS LOVE!
Daily Specials at www.thestudiopizza.com
10% Discount for All Students
Downtown Hancock, across from Finlandia

Don't Settle For Crappy Pizza!
Get A Large Studio Pepperoni
Pizza For As Little As $8 !!

www.thestudiopizza.com
482-5100

Forums: Impending Epidemics

By: TheHobosapienChief ~ Guest Writer

Forums, one of the internet's greatest assets, are often times essential to the lost soul solving one of life's many challenges. From the amateur psychologist to tequila connoisseurs, many people can find answers to their questions and exchange thoughts/ideas. However, every tool can be a double-edged sword. Forums have the power to misdirect and propagate all sorts of crazy ideas. Take Yahoo! Answers for example - it is a breeding ground for trolls and inadequately equipped noggins. Its potential to culture mental ineptitudes is an impending epidemic. One such instance is especially common in personal-life-related subjects: Like a young doe wandering into a lions' den seeking shelter, a fourteen year old gal logs onto Answers wondering how to know if that senior guy digs her stuff based on his gait and neckline. The trolls sees his chance and pounces for the kill, advising that if the senior guy has a thick neck, she is most likely S.O.L., but if he has a thick neck and a jock stylized strut, then he most likely digs the frick outta little Rozes4Life.

Fortunately for Rozes, another wizened fourteen year old dives into the cave to her aid, knowing that senior guys only show interest in little girls by winking multiple times during biology and making elaborate mac 'n' cheese jewelry, which is then left in homeroom for her to find. More lions and deer join the fray until finally, once all of the wise and well grammared suggestions/thoughts are in, it becomes a game of likes and dislikes fought between those with virtually no life experience, the trolls, and the occasional do-gooder for the prize: little Rozes' acceptance. Some may like comments for their ridiculousness. Others may like comments because they don't know any better, thus generating the age old "blind leading the blind" scenario. Let us all hope for the sake of maintaining forums as a useful tool that the lions are vegetarian and the deer can see in the dark.

*Editor's Note: sniff sniff Something smells like venison... I don't think Rozes made it out alive.*

... 20 Seconds from front Drivers seem particularly irate about all the accidents of late. "I mean, shit, if you hit a deer and you don't wreck the thing, you could claim it and have venison!" noted one anonymous student at Michigan Technological University. "If you hit a moose, you can say you hit a freakin' moose and lived to tell the tale. But a badger? They're not good for anything."

He paused to think for a moment, then added, "Yeah, nope. Nothing at all."

Stuedle, tired of his office being badgered about badgers, has decided not only to encourage AAA to provide badger-collision insurance to northern drivers, but also to work on reducing the number of those animals in the UP. "It's a huge financial drain for us to pay for a recovery team to clean dead badgers off the roads, especially during the winter when the roads are bad. I mean, they're doing a great public service by sweeping badgers off the ice, but my department and Adopt-a-Highway can't fund that forever."

The solution, he says, is to box up all the badgers that enter the UP and ship them off somewhere else. "I hear Wisconsin is nice this time of year," Stuedle mused.

DAILY BULL

EDITOR IN CHIEF
COMP EDITOR
MONOPOLY GUY
BREAD WINNER
SCRIBE
WEBMASTER
ADVISOR

Liz 'Riz' Fujita
Jon 'Big O' Mahan
Alec Hamer
Steve Whittaker
Benjamin Loucks
Kyle Roe
David Middle Name Olson

Writers of Awesome: Olivia Zajac, Simon Mused, Cameron Long, Nathan 'Invincible' Miller, Alex Dinsmoor, Sam Schall, Kayla Herrera, Jeanine Chmielewski, Ian Smith, Veronica Tabor, Kay McMahon, Ryan Gainger, John Pastore, Mike Freisen, Bill Melcher, the street by the wall.

©2011 by the Daily Bull, a non-profit organization. All rights reserved. Articles may be freely distributed electronically or on late night talk shows provided credit is given, and that this notice is included. The Daily Bull reserves the right to refuse any advertisements or guest articles without reason. All opinionated letters sent to the editor (on paper or to bull@mtu.edu) will be treated as material to be published unless expressly stated otherwise by the sender. Original works printed in the Daily Bull remain the property of the creator, however the Daily Bull reserves the right to reprint any submissions in future issues unless specifically asked not to do so by the creator. If you keep reading this small text, you will gag on a caterpillar.

The Daily Bull would like to thank the Daily Bull for buying our own damn printer that this publication is printed on. We would also like to thank the Student Activity Fee for helping to pay for our paper and toner costs. And our vuvuzelas.

Advertising inquiries, questions & comments should be directed to bull@mtu.edu

... These are my people from front

Who said that...

Event Planning/Logistics – Tuesday November 1 – "What are we going to do tonight Brain?" "The same thing we do every night Pinky, try to take over the world." With special speakers Wile E. Coyote and Tom the Cat.

Utilizing Advisers – Tuesday November 8 – Learn how to make those advisers work for you! Wal-mart run? No problem. Sell themselves for money for your student org's side bank account? Perfect! Cocaine smuggling? Every day! Pole Dancers? Maybe... [Speaking of which, I have the money David...]

Time Management – Tuesday November 15 – Introductory course on Google Calendar and Google Tasks. 'Nuff said.

After all these sessions, dear reader, you can lead anybody to do anything! I fully suggest going to these brain-washing...I mean, seminars in the MUB Ballroom A1 at 6. Those who are late will be flogged. Blue LEADER out.

Seriously guys, Who let the dogs out? We can't be doing this. Sheesh. Get the treats please?

NOT ANYMORE LOL