Unquestionably, there is progress. The average American now pays out twice as much in taxes as he formerly got in wages.

4 Reasons Why Blackboards Are More Relevant Than Blackboard

by Ryan Grainger
~ Daily Bull ~

We've all been there. You're sitting in class, perfectly content (with the exception of that hangover. No? Just me? Moving on...) and then the teacher nonchalantly mentions some project. That you haven't done. Which is due tomorrow.

Awwwww fuck... at this point it's safe to say that the only thing you can do is to look at the syllabus and hope you can BS the whole thing in one night. Now the only question remaining is "Where the dicks is my syllabus?" Not to worry, you'll just email the professor for a copy. Hours later, still no reply. But wait! You have Blackboard! All you have to do is to scour the web for the link, log on, sacrifice a virgin (don't ... see 000000 board on back

My 9-9-9 Plan

Good day my fellow American,

My name is Herman Cain and as you probably already know, I am running for president. It is obvious that there is something wrong with America when people are struggling to purchase hot, delicious, juicy pizza made to order. What a sad day it is in America when a pizza shop closes but as we are seeing now, this is happening.

It fist started Not to mention, You can get 9 breadsticks, for just .99 cents more! cheese with a Pizza Hut down in Loredo, Texas. Then we saw the likes of a pizzeria in New York City fall. We know that these are not isolated events; more shops are closing by the tens.

My friends, you must understand that I cried the day the first delicious pizza shop closed but you must also understand that from my tears grew the strength and courage I now have to become President of these here United States of America.

When elected president, I will sign into law my 9-9-9 plan for American Growth. That's right! You get a 9 inch pizza and 9 inches of cheezy bread for 9 bucks. Isn't that a deal!?

Tell me, where else can I get so much satisfaction for so little? You get the 9 inch pizza featuring a piping-hot cardboard crust, thick and gooey American slices and pasteurized, processed meat food. It's so delicious I usually have one between courses at the Country Club! Don't forget! With this plan, you also get 9 whole inches of cheezy bread deliciousness.

Think about it-- how often do you find yourself wishing there was some greasy, lukewarm, cheese covered stale bread around to hit the spot? Well with my 9-9-9

So if you have twins named Simon and Peter, does that mean they are the same person? And is Peter better?

Chances are if you've ever used blackboard you know that it's a vile, archaic, untouched wasteland where your hopes and dreams go to die.

I'd even say that blackboards are more useful than blackboard. How, you ask? Well...

Blackboards are more likely to have what you need on them.

When was the last time you actually found information relevant to your class on Blackboard? Really? Never? I thought so. When was the last time you found information relevant to your class on a blackboard? At least once. Blackboards: 1, Blackboard: 0

Blackboards are easier to use.

Do you have to log onto a blackboard? No. In order to get what you want out of a blackboard all you have to do is look at it. Logging onto blackboard though? Find a friend with a physics degree because that shit is rocket science. And let's face it, even though we're a technical school we don't have an infinite supply of virgins. Seriously, even people in the CS department get some from somewhere. Blackboards: 2, Blackboard: 0

It's possible to have fun with a blackboard.

Fact: It is impossible to have fun with blackboard. Seriously, go ahead. Try it... See? Trying to use blackboard is like slamming your wang in a car door. It's never going to be a pleasant experience. On the other hand, you can always play games like hangman on a blackboard. Or you could just draw wings. Whatever, I'm not going to judge. Blackboards don't raise tuition prices.

Quick question: What do you think you're paying more for? Blackboards the school has been using for decades or blackboard (that the university has to pay for every so

American Corporations Begin Outsourcing Politicians

by Ian Smith ~ Daily Bull

A frenzy has begun in Washington DC as "Big Business" lobbyists such as AT&T and GE start to pull their support in lieu of the recent Occupy Wall Street protests.

"As you can imagine, we have to act quickly in order to maintain our power inside Congress. So we chose the only logical option. We shipped our monetary support overseas, to cheaper representatives that will work longer hours," stated a lobbyist from Exxon Mobil. "Just imagine if these dirty hippies got this 'equality' they want. Where would that leave me and my company? We would have to make money using our own intuition. These protesters treat us like peasants. It's just despicable."

Luckily, The Bull was able to get the inside scoop on GE's plans for their proposed foreign representatives. Our source asked to remain nameless. "Well we at GE opened up the application exclusively in Asian countries such as Taiwan, Malaysia, China, and Japan. We managed to bag a guy perfect for the job.

Also, we have established sweat-uh. I mean... VOTE shops where we are able to pay illegal immigrants to do all the heavy deliberating and the final voting, without having to spend extra money on luxuries such as functioning ventilation, safe and clean work environments, respectable salaries, and lunch breaks. We then pass off those decisions to the front man. GE's chosen representative being Li Kang. He came from a small farming village in southern Taiwan, and he will hold a seat in D.C. representing Wisconsin's 5th congressional district."

Political analysts have estimated the final representative count will resemble the following: Asia - 257 reps, Middle East - 123 reps, Central and South America - 54, and Ron Paul - 1.

deal, it's yours! I love eating cheezy bread, whether it be in the shower or on the ski slope or while crying and masturbating. That shit's delicious!

I often start by just licking the bread. I mean sure not to miss a spot. Then when I think it can't take it anymore I put just the first inch or so in my mouth and tease it a little.

No need to rush. Finally, when I think I can't take it anymore, I just go for it! Making sure not to use my teeth I relax my esophagus and slide it deep into my throat. I'm not done just quite yet, no sirree. I then push and pull the cheezy bread in and out of my throat until it eventually becomes limp allowing me to swallow the whole load. Cheezy...

Nine. Nine. Nine dollar nine inch! Cheezy! I'm Herman CAIN.

Let me remind you, we are taking about 9 inches of Made-in-America cheezy bread goodness. No centimeter bullshit here. Just the good stuff.

Hopefully when my plan is put into action, every American can enjoy my 9-9-9 plan as much, and as frequently, as I plan to.

Thanks, Herman Cane
