

The Daily Bull is probably not suitable for those under the age of 18 and should not be taken seriously...

-Like The Onion, but shittier!

IT'S BEEN
0
DAYS SINCE OUR LAST EXAM

Exam Written While Students Taking It

DJ Benjamin

Midterm season has gripped MTU campus once again. Amidst the moaning and wailing and copious amounts of yawning, students in CS 2331 Intro to Showering were just barely awake enough to be taken aback by a very strange occurrence in their midterm exam. They were told it would be a paper exam with five questions, and they would have two hours to complete it. When the professor and TA started handing out the exams, however, students noted that there was only one question on it, with parts "a" through "s", all of which were True/False or handwritten programming questions. The professor told them that he would be distributing the rest of the questions throughout the exam, and to get started.

A flurry of pencils and pens ensued, as students busied away on their single exam sheet. But the students weren't the only ones writing quickly; the professor, too, was seen writing very rapidly on some blank sheets of paper, and periodically giving them to his TA, who left the room and returned with the stack of exam sheets containing the next question for the students. Students report that these questions appeared to be handwritten and then copied, and contained misspellings or incomplete sentences, as if written in a rush, but they set about doing them anyways.

By the third time the professor sent the TA out of the room, students began to get suspicious. One student went up to ask the professor for clarification and reports seeing "a half-written Question 5 on the paper in front of him". Upon asking their question, the professor told the student "we covered that in the first lecture, you should know the answer", unhelpfully sending them away.

An hour and twenty minutes into the exam, the professor announced "ten minutes left" - causing students to panic and rush to fill in the answers for the remaining questions, as the TA finally handed out the fifth question, wherein parts "k" through "l" were blank. When the 90-minute mark was reached, the professor paused for a moment, before announcing "Oh wait, we do have two hours. You have 30 minutes left". The sigh of relief could be heard from Hancock, but it was short-lived as students settled back in to rush and finish.

Grades are not in yet, but the professor is not expected curve the exam. This exam is worth 124% of the class grade, so students who performed poorly on it may have to retake both CS 2331 and its prerequisite course, CS 1331 Concepts of Rubber Duck Debugging.

The Steaming Pile

Straight from you-know-where!

Morally and Ethically Bankrupt Movie Sequels

- Shawshank Damnation
- Minecraft II
- Half-Life 3 (there is not first or second)
- The Truman Show 2: Truman Runs the Show
- Harry Potter
- Moby Dick as an action movie. Ahab fights using Marvel superpowers.
- Disney Live Action Shrek, starring Chris Pratt as everyone
- The Straight Gatsby
- Employee Baby
- American Psycho but Patrick Bateman goes to therapy
- Brokeback mountain but straight for audience appeal
- The Princess Husband
- 12 Angry Men but it's a podcast
- A Christmas Carol but it's AI Stephen Hawking just reading the book
- All Loud on the Eastern Front (just an absolute rager thrown by the Russians).
- Fight Club but there's a fight club
- The Matrix, with the Metaverse
- Ferris Bueller's Paid Time Off
- Les Misérables but Jean Valjean goes to therapy and it's not gay
- Robin Hood: Men in Tights but the police pulled themselves up by their bootstraps.
- American Psycho but gender flipped
- Bridge on the River Thames
- Yandere Simulator: The Movie
- Dr. Who but Matt Walsh in the 16th Doctor
- Star Trek but Spock makes liberal use of his Vulcan space inhaler
- Spirited Away but AI interpolated to 120 fps
- Who Resurrected Captain Alex? - Chris Pratt plays Captain Alex
- Spider-Man: Across the Spider Verse in Live Action
- Star Trek: Colonialism Edition (aka Starship Troopers)
- Star Trek: TNG but Data gets human feelings (Oh wait that's canon already)
- The Chris Pratt Movie — Staring Jack Black
- Jim Henson's Dark Crystal but only with AI
- Grave of Fireflies but everyone lives happily ever after
- Hacksaw Ridge 2 but Andrew Garfield is Spiderman
- Joker Folie a Deaux
- The Nightmare before Thanksgiving
- Hallmark movie in the Harry Potter universe
- Another Flew over The Cuckoo's Nest
- Hamilton 2: Hamilton Lives
- West by Westwest
- Deadpool but straight
- "Taft" - Reagan-style drama about William H. Taft
- A Clockwork Apple: He apologizes for the Ultra-violence.

Boo!

Did I spook ya?

If not, maybe you can help...

Submit your funniest/spookiest/Halloweeniest story to our annual Spookathon for a chance for it to be read LIVE on the air on 91.9 FM WMTU from 10-12pm Sunday, Oct. 27th!
(Share your stories to bull@mtu.edu)

Submission Rules

- Stories must be ~500 words, or ~1000 in two parts, original, and radio-friendly (SFW)
- Final Drafts needed by 11:59 PM on October 20
- We won't edit your story except fixing typos

The Daily Bull

Sophia Abraham Editor-in-chief
Hailey Engel Vice President
Rose Siebigteroth Secretary
Ben Wittrup Treasurer
Shane Oberloier Advisor

Staff writers: halfdim, DJ Benjamin, Hazel Sprotitsy, Cambionical, Wendel J. Starkiller, Pizza Lover

Copyright © 2024 The Daily Bull, a non-profit organization. All rights reserved. Articles may be freely distributed electronically or on late night talk shows provided credit is given, and that this notice is included. The Daily Bull reserves the right to refuse any ads or guest articles without reason. All opinionated letters sent to the editor will be treated as material to be published unless expressly stated otherwise. Original works published remain property of the creator, however, The Daily Bull reserves the right to reprint any submission in future issues unless expressly stated otherwise.

Advertising inquiries, question and comments should be directed to BULL@MTU.EDU. Guest submissions are welcomed and encouraged. Guest contributors may write under a pen name to remain anonymous.

DISCLAIMER: The Daily Bull is a satirical publication for entertainment purposes only. All stories in The Daily Bull are works of fiction and any resemblance to real events or people are coincidental.

Hi, my name is Big Al, and I approve this message