-Like The Onion, but shittier!

A Quick Overview of the 2025.01.10 Earth Update

Big Sephiroth

+Fixed bug that made it impossible for spheres to be projected on to flat surfaces

The 3D “sphere” object can now be seamlessly converted into a 2D “rectangle” object, allowing for non-distorted maps. The previously used Mercator option will be phased out in the next few update cycles.

+”emo phase” status effect for players in the middle school class updated to subclass

Originally introduced in update 2000.0.0, the emo status effect floated around A tier in the meta until a series of nerfs following update 2013.3.22. Due to the nostalgia status effect and revival of multiple different NPC events, the temporary status effect has not only been buffed, but changed to a separate subclass of middle schoolers.

+Removed Herobrine

Game specialists theorize this will affect the “11 year old girl who is attracted to creepypastas for some reason” meta

+”Extra day” bug patched

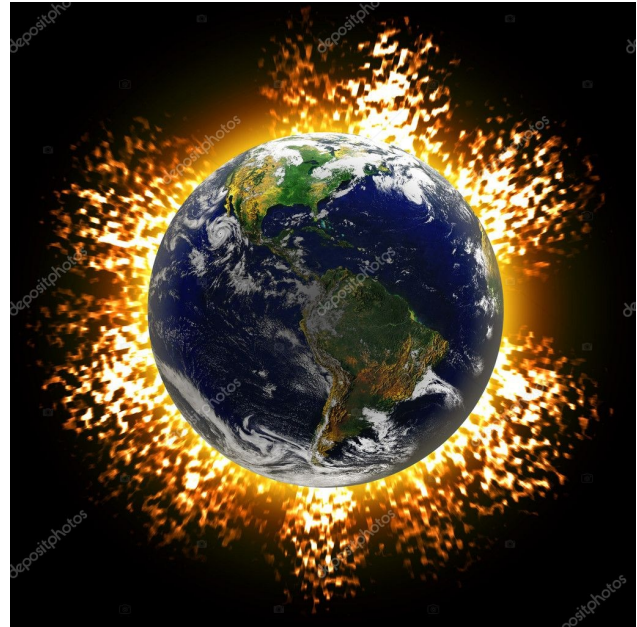

The 2024 update included a bug that added an extra day to the end of February. Commonly confused as an event referred to as “leap year”, this was in fact a bug and should not occur during the 2025 update cycle. Any updates and events planned for February 29th will be moved to March 1st.

+Fixed rendering issue that occasionally caused New Zealand to not appear on player maps

Players living in other factions far away from the New Zealand faction often found that the territory would de-render on some lower quality maps. New Zealand should be visible on all maps, regardless of render distance. This should have no impact on performance.

+Fixed issue causing hair ties to despawn when not equipped

The hair tie item, most popular with player characters wearing the “long hair” cosmetic, was found to randomly disappear when unequipped from the user and away from the field of view. Unequipped hair ties within a certain chunk range of the player will no longer despawn, and the despawn timer for objects outside of the range has been lengthened to 30 minutes. Despawned hair ties will be kept within the cushions of the “couch” object.

+Shadow creatures at the corner of your vision now appear centered

Fixes an off-by-one error which made it so the shadow creature NPC would only appear for a split second in your peripheral vision. Shadow creatures will now appear front and center, approximately 1-6 feet from your face. The NPCs will remain non-interactable until a future update.

+”all-consuming dread” debuff length increased by 300%

Another controversial addition by the Devs, the all-consuming dread debuff will now last up to 3x longer. Formerly capped at 3 months, the status effect can now affect your player character for a maximum of 9 months, given the effect is not stacked.
